Reinforce Bridgehead For Expected Counterattack By Nazis; Yank Coup Hailed

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press War Editor

An unending stream of men and supplies poured across the Rhine today under sporadic artillery and mortar fire, a field dispatch reported, "to meet the great counterattack which the Nazis must make," and fanned out on a now secure bridgehead which the Germans say had been driven as far as Linz, three miles beyond the river.

Supreme headquarters maintained a news blackout on the location of the brilliant thrust which may shorten the war by months by driving to the heart of Germany. The Berlin radio placed the crossing opposite Remagen, between Bonn and Coblenz, and said the Americans seized a bridge intact.

Moscow "Blacks Out" on News

Moscow, likewise was maintaining a blackout on the reported Soviet offensive across the Oder. Berlin said the Russians had stormed again into fortress Kuestrin, 39 miles east of Berlin. To the north the Red Army threatened an outflanking maneuver against Stettin, and Soviet bombers loosed a torrent of explosives on Nazi troops falling back in the sector.

Veteran American First Army troops were driving through Bonn, ancient university city on the Rhine 12 miles north of Remagen, and its fall was imminent. To the south Third Army troops have overrun two-thirds of the Coblenz plain and seized a village 15 miles south of Remagen.

In the bridgehead area the Germans have thrown in several small counterattacks, but the American grip apparently was deepened to five miles and widened to more than five, and the Nazis were unable thus far to muster great strength for a fighting stand there.

Massing More Power

"Every road leading to the bridgehead is bringing weapons to extend into the eastern Rhineland the massive power punch the First Army began 14 days ago at the Roer river," a field dispatch said.

German broadcasts placed the site of the crossing at Remagen, 12 miles south of Bonn and 277 miles southwest of Berlin.

As other First Army divisions and Third Army troops drew tight the noose on perhaps 50,000 Germans in the Elbel trap, Canadian troops in the north captured Xanten, Rhine ferry point guarding the German escape route there, and hammered the west-bank Wesel pocket to a triangle of 20 square miles.

Reds Move on Flanks

The Germans said Adolf Hitler visited the Oder river front today, where the Nazis have reported the opening of the Soviet grand offensive. The Soviet command continued a new blackout on that front, but the Germans said the Russians were 25 miles from Berlin and 10 west of the Oder. Moscow indicated powerful blows were being prepared on both flanks of the frontal assault over the "Rhine of the East."

Moscow field dispatches said the Russians assembled landing craft at the banks of the Dammescher See and may have begun crossings to the west shore in an outflanking maneuver against Stettin. Berlin's great Baltic port. This may portend an eventual assault on the German capital from the north.

Mighty Air Assault

A fleet of 1,000 American heavy bombers swept over the Reich in the 25th consecutive day of the mightiest air assault of the war, attacking industrial targets in Kassel a few hours after a powerful RAF armada hit the same area. The RAF also hit Hamburg submarine yards and other targets. Italy-based U. S. heavies attacked Nazi communications in Hungary yesterday, including the town of Komarom, within 20 miles of the Russian lines and 40 miles northwest of Budapest.

Some reports speculated that the surprise American thrust over the Rhine may have captured the double-track Ludendorff rail bridge intact.

Field dispatches said the crossing was so swift that the Germans were caught without a prepared defense, although if fully defended the crossing area could have been virtually impregnable. If the German high command now concentrates its forces against this threat, other Rhine defenses may be weakened, dispatches pointed out, opening the way for new crossings.

Yank Junction Near

Disorganized but still resisting Germans, thrown into confusion by the Third Army's dash toward Coblenz and to the Rhine, were being mapped up along the west bank by both the First and Third Armies, and the Third's artillery was shelling Coblenz and German ferries north of it. There was little return fire and it seemed likely that Coblenz would soon be enveloped. A full junction of the First and Third north of Coblenz was imminent, sealing off perhaps six German divisions in the Elbel pocket.

Moscow dispatches indicated the Russians might be employing their highly successful encirclement tactics against Berlin. The First White Russian Army's northern wing was pushing steadily on Stettin, and there was little reason to doubt that in the south troops had crossed the Oder, by-passing Kuestrin and Frankfurt.

To the northeast Soviet troops by last night had rolled within 12 miles of Danzig in the Polish corridor drive. The Germans reported a new thrust, a crossing of the Nogat river boundary from East Prussia, reaching a point 19 miles southeast of Danzig. Other Soviet troops last night were seven miles from Stettin.

A report broadcast from the front said a new American Army, the U. S. 15th, had joined the First and Third in Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army Group. This report said the Army already was in action under Lieutenant Gen. Leonard P. Gerow. This would bring the total of Allied armies in the west to eight, nine, including the Airborne. No indication of the new army's location was given. Bradley's other troops are rampaging on across the Rhine from Cologne to Coblenz.

It was anybody's guess whether tanks and big guns had crossed the Rhine to the new American bridgehead, but the buildup evidently was swift under the protective cover of fighter bombers.

INVESTIGATION IS CONTINUED IN BOY'S DEATH

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, and state police from the local substation were continuing their investigation today into the shooting of Eugene Hertz, 16-year-old pupil in the eighth grade who committed suicide Thursday at the Lincoln school building.

Doctor Crist Thursday signed a death certificate listing the case as a suicide. State police said today that a fuller investigation of the events preceding the shooting showed that the lad lit a cigarette while he was sitting at his desk on the second-floor schoolroom in which Miss Dorothy Boyer instructs.

Young Hertz got up from his desk after lighting the cigarette with a mechanical lighter and walked to the front of the room where he tossed the lighter on the desk of a pupil. He walked out into the hallway where he took out the revolver, a small .22-calibre weapon, and put it to the right side of his head and pulled the trigger.

Wounded

Sgt. Carl H. Fair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Fair, formerly of New Chester, was recently awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received on the western front. He went overseas last September. Sgt. Fair is a radio technician.

MINUTEMEN TO MARK SECOND ANNIVERSARY

Adams county's company of Minutemen announced plans Thursday evening at their weekly meeting and drill for observance of the second anniversary of the company' organization at special ceremonies next Thursday evening at the state armory.

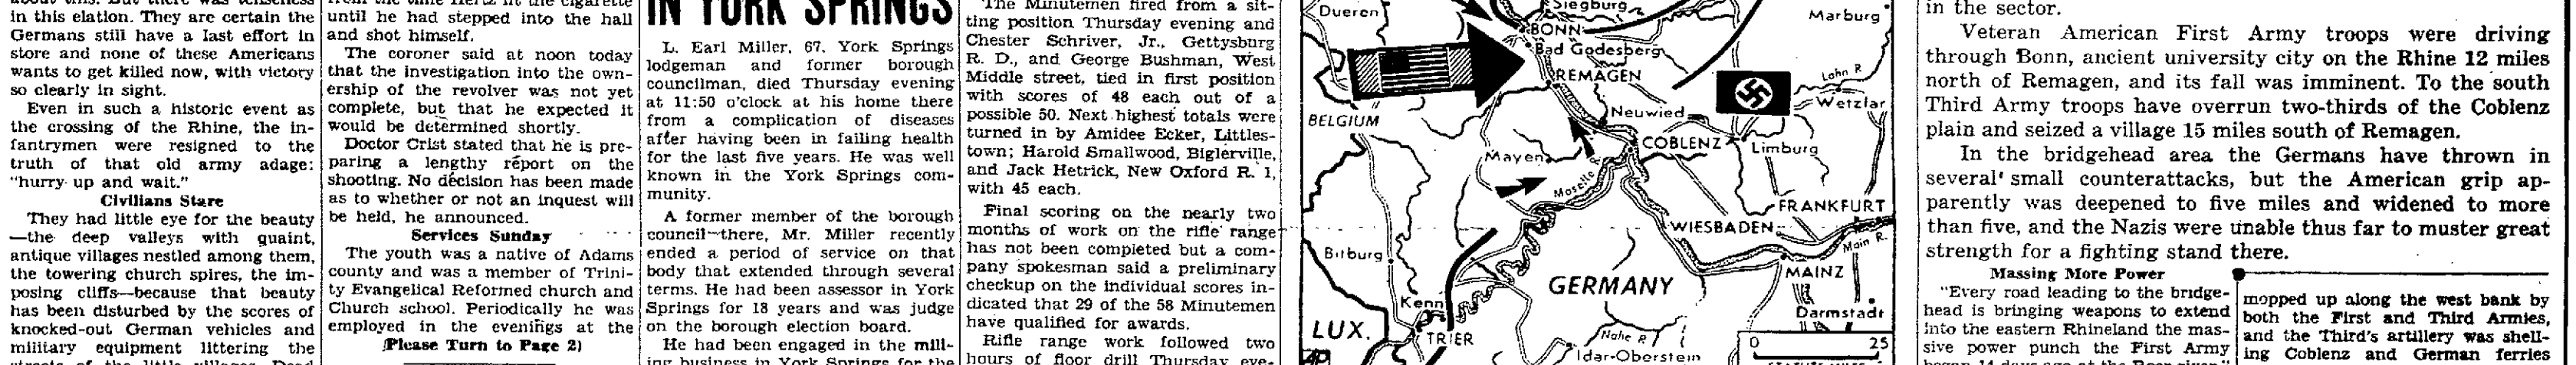

There will be a company inspection and review of the unit by Col. John Shade, Harrisburg, aide to Governor Martin and an officer in the State Guard. Other prominent guests also will attend.

The inspection will be preceded by a dinner at 7:30 o'clock at the armory for the Minutemen and guests.

Later in the evening awards will be presented to the members of the company who have qualified as expert riflemen, sharpshooters and riflemen on the rifle range during the target practice which was concluded Thursday evening at the armory. Fifty-eight Minutemen participated in the finals, each firing from five positions, a sixth was optional.

Yanks Cross Rhine

American troops have crossed the Rhine river south of Cologne (arrow with flag) and may be in a position to sweep north (open arrow) and cut off the German Ruhr industrial area. Small arrows indicate Allied drives southwest of Mayen, northward along the Rhine toward Remagen, into Bonn and Bad Godesberg and toward Xanten.

L. EARL MILLER DIES THURSDAY IN YORK SPRINGS

L. Earl Miller, 67, York Springs lodgekeeper and former borough councilman, died Thursday evening at 11:50 o'clock at his home there from a complication of diseases after having been in failing health for the last five years. He was well known in the York Springs community.

A former member of the borough council—there, Mr. Miller recently ended a period of service on that body that extended through several terms. He had been assessor in York Springs for 18 years and was judge on the borough election board.

He had been engaged in the milling business in York Springs for the last 20 years. Prior to that he was a farmer and star route mail carrier covering the routes from York Springs to Dillsburg and York Springs to Gardners.

Eight Children Survive

He was a member of the York Springs Lutheran church, the community fire company, the York Springs lodge No. 211 of the IOOF for the last 44 years; the Past Grand's association of the county IOOF; the Latimore council of the Order of Independent Americans; the Red Men of East Berlin and Commandery No. 66 of the POS of A of Hanover. He had held offices at various times in all of these organizations.

The deceased was a son of the late Benjamin S. and Emma (Trimmer) Miller.

ISSUES LIST OF SECURITIES FOR 7TH BOND DRIVE

A complete explanation of the types of securities to be offered to all types of purchasers during the forthcoming Seventh War Loan drive was given today by Edmund W. Thomas, county War Finance committee chairman, on the basis of a statement just received from Secretary Morgenthau of the Treasury department.

His statement follows:

"The goal for the Seventh War Loan has been set at $14,000,000,000, of which $7,000,000,000 is to come from sales to individuals and $7,000,000,000, from other non-bank investors. Again the major emphasis throughout the entire drive will be placed on the quota for individuals, which is the highest established in any of the War Loan Drives. Of that quota, $4,000,000,000 has been established as the goal for Series E war savings bonds, which is also the highest quota established in any drive for that security.

Securities Offered

"The secretary stated that there is every evidence that federal expenditures are going to remain at a high level for some time to come, and that the Seventh War Loan program was designed to obtain from non-bank investors maximum funds necessary to prosecute the war.

Nazi Blunder Gives Yanks Chance For Great Coup

By HAL BOYLE
With the U. S. First Army Across the Rhine, March 9 (AP)—Long columns of Americans were ploughing across the Rhine today—across to stay because the Germans blundered and gave up one of the least costly but yet one of the most important bridgeheads in military history.

The Yanks grimly jogged into the bridgehead, despite the sporadic, menacing German artillery fire. All through the night masses of men and supplies moved over the crossing under the scattered German fire to meet the great counterattacks which the Germans are certain to make unless they are ready to concede that the war is lost.

The Germans fumbled. They were caught by surprise—caught flatfooted by this great gamble which has turned into a brilliant coup.

There is rugged beauty at the site of this crossing—sheer bluffs and rolling green hills above the silver river. But that very ruggedness could have made this crossing site all but impregnable, had the Germans been ready. The best they could muster was the intermittent artillery fire and this has been ineffective in halting Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' power plunge.

Joked At Danger
The narrow and winding roads to the crossing were jammed with military traffic. Patient infantrymen in jeeps traveled at snail's pace in drizzling rain. Military police sweat-soaked, shouted and swore at the traffic jams on every crossroad, but the doughboys paid little attention.

These were tired and muddy men in mud-spattered vehicles. They joked because all American soldiers joke in the shadow of danger. They knew they were going to cross the Rhine, and everyone wanted to be among the first, and they joked about this. But there was tenseness in this elation. They are certain the Germans still have a last effort in store and none of these Americans wants to get killed now, with victory so clearly in sight.

Even in such a historic event as the crossing of the Rhine, the infantrymen were resigned to the truth of that old army adage: "hurry up and wait."

Civilians Stare
They had little eye for the beauty—the deep valleys with quaint, antique villages nestled among them, the towering church spires, the imposing cliffs—because that beauty has been disturbed by the scores of knocked-out German vehicles and military equipment littering the streets of the little villages. Dead Germans lie in their own freshly shed blood—they were too late in getting back across the Rhine.

The German civilians stare in consternation at the parade of American might, but they show little sympathy for their dead soldiery. These people are too sick of war and bloodshed to care much now who gets killed. They only hope dully that the war will be over soon.

The crossing grew more dangerous by the hour. The German big gun fire, sporadic though it may be, took its toll.

The Yanks streaming toward the crossing site can see a procession of American ambulances going in the opposite direction—the victims of the fighting on the east bank.

INVESTIGATION IS CONTINUED IN BOY'S DEATH

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, and state police from the local substation were continuing their investigation today into the shooting of Eugene Hertz, 16-year-old pupil in the eighth grade who committed suicide Thursday at the Lincoln school building.

Doctor Crist Thursday signed a death certificate listing the case as a suicide. State police said today that a fuller investigation of the events preceding the shooting showed that the lad lit a cigarette while he was sitting at his desk on the second-floor schoolroom in which Miss Dorothy Boyer instructs.

Young Hertz got up from his desk after lighting the cigarette with a mechanical lighter and walked to the front of the room where he tossed the lighter on the desk of a pupil. He walked out into the hallway where he took out the revolver, a small .22-calibre weapon, and put it to the right side of his head and pulled the trigger.

Gun Ownership Probed
There were conflicting reports as to whether or not anything was said in the classroom. One report was that Miss Boyer spoke to the youth before he left the room, and that he then pulled out the revolver. School officials said today, however, that nothing had been said in the room from the time Hertz lit the cigarette until he had stepped into the hall and shot himself.

The coroner said at noon today that the investigation into the ownership of the revolver was not yet complete, but that he expected it would be determined shortly.

Doctor Crist stated that he is preparing a lengthy report on the shooting. No decision has been made as to whether or not an inquest will be held, he announced.

Services Sunday
The youth was a native of Adams county and was a member of Trinity Evangelical Reformed church and Church school. Periodically he was employed in the evenings at the

MINUTEMEN TO MARK SECOND ANNIVERSARY

Adams county's company of Minutemen announced plans Thursday evening at their weekly meeting and drill for observance of the second anniversary of the company' organization at special ceremonies next Thursday evening at the state armory.

There will be a company inspection and review of the unit by Col. John Shade, Harrisburg, aide to Governor Martin and an officer in the State Guard. Other prominent guests also will attend.

The inspection will be preceded by a dinner at 7:30 o'clock at the armory for the Minutemen and guests.

Later in the evening awards will be presented to the members of the company who have qualified as expert riflemen, sharpshooters and riflemen on the rifle range during the target practice which was concluded Thursday evening at the armory. Fifty-eight Minutemen participated in the finals, each firing from five positions, a sixth was optional.

Brame Tops Company
Capt. C. Arthur Brame, company commander, topped all of the Minutemen on the indoor rifle range with a score of 289 out of a possible score of 300.

The Minutemen fired from a sitting position Thursday evening and Chester Schriver, Jr., Gettysburg R. D., and George Bushman, West Middle street, tied in first position with scores of 48 each out of a possible 50. Next highest totals were turned in by Amidee Ecker, Littlestown; Harold Smallwood, Biglerville, and Jack Hetrick, New Oxford R. 1, with 45 each.

Final scoring on the nearly two months of work on the rifle range has not been completed but a company spokesman said a preliminary checkup on the individual scores indicated that 29 of the 58 Minutemen have qualified for awards.

Rifle range work followed two hours of floor drill Thursday evening.

A complete explanation of the types of securities to be offered to all types of purchasers during the forthcoming Seventh War Loan drive was given today by Edmund W. Thomas, county War Finance committee chairman, on the basis of a statement just received from Secretary Morgenthau of the Treasury department.

His statement follows: "The goal for the Seventh War Loan has been set at $14,000,000,000, of which $7,000,000,000 is to come from sales to individuals and $7,000,000,000 from other non-bank investors. Again the major emphasis throughout the entire drive will be placed on the quota for individuals, which is the highest established in any of the War Loan Drives. Of that quota, $4,000,000,000 has been established as the goal for Series E war savings bonds, which is also the highest quota established in any drive for that security."

Securities Offered
"The secretary stated that there is every evidence that federal expenditures are going to remain at a high level for some time to come, and that the Seventh War Loan program was designed to obtain from non-bank investors maximum funds necessary to prosecute the war."

Reinforce Bridgehead For Expected Counterattack By Nazis; Yank Coup Hailed

Yanks Cross Rhine

American troops have crossed the Rhine river south of Cologne (arrow with flag) and may be in a position to sweep north (open arrow) and cut off the German Ruhr industrial area. Small arrows indicate Allied drives southwest of Mayen, northward along the Rhine toward Remagen, into Bonn and Bad Godesberg and toward Xanten.

SPORTSMEN TO MEET

An important meeting of the Adams County Fish and Game association will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First National bank building. All members are requested to be present.

VESPER SERVICE

The Senior High School Girl Reserves will sponsor the vesper service at the YWCA building Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. H. D. Hoover will be the speaker. All young people are invited to attend.

MINDANAO NEW INVASION SCENE IS JAP REPORT

Manila, March 9 (AP)—Americans have landed on Mindanao, second largest of the Philippines, said an unconfirmed Tokyo radio broadcast heard in London today. An earlier report by Tokyo said U. S. warships were shelling Zamboanga, on the southwestern tip of Mindanao, but "no landings had been made up to Thursday night."

American forces on Luzon were closing in on Baguio, summer capital of the commonwealth, and widening their holdings on the south coast.

The severe wounding of Maj. Gen. Verne D. Mudge, commander of the First Cavalry Division, was made known today. He was wounded on the battlefield northeast of Manila February 28 by a grenade thrown by a Japanese soldier who had been left for dead.

Advance on Luzon

Fragments hit the veteran cavalryman in the abdomen, but the medical staff said his recovery was certain.

Tokyo radio said warships had been bombarding Zamboanga, on the southwest tip of Mindanao, since early Thursday in what "is believed to be a prelude to a landing attempt." Zamboanga has good air bases.

MacArthur reported that 33rd Division Yanks on Luzon advanced 12 miles up the west coast to capture Aringay, due west of Baguio. This gave the Americans control of a line reaching within 10 miles of the summer capital.

An American force was last reported within five miles of Baguio on the south, moving north from Camp Four.

An unending stream of men and supplies poured across the Rhine today under sporadic artillery and mortar fire, a field dispatch reported, "to meet the great counterattack which the Nazis must make," and fanned out on a now secure bridgehead which the Germans say had been driven as far as Linz, three miles beyond the river.

Supreme headquarters maintained a news blackout on the location of the brilliant thrust which may shorten the war by months by driving to the heart of Germany. The Berlin radio placed the crossing opposite Remagen, between Bonn and Coblenz, and said the Americans seized a bridge intact.

Moscow "Blacks Out" on News

Moscow, likewise was maintaining a blackout on the reported Soviet offensive across the Oder. Berlin said the Russians had stormed again into fortress Kuestrin, 39 miles east of Berlin. To the north the Red Army threatened an outflanking maneuver against Stettin, and Soviet bombers loosed a torrent of explosives on Nazi troops falling back in the sector.

Veteran American First Army troops were driving through Bonn, ancient university city on the Rhine 12 miles north of Remagen, and its fall was imminent. To the south Third Army troops have overrun two-thirds of the Coblenz plain and seized a village 15 miles south of Remagen.

In the bridgehead area the Germans have thrown in several small counterattacks, but the American grip apparently was deepened to five miles and widened to more than five, and the Nazis were unable thus far to muster great strength for a fighting stand there.

Massing More Power

"Every road leading to the bridgehead is bringing weapons to extend into the eastern Rhineland the massive power punch the First Army began 14 days ago at the Roer river," a field dispatch said.

German broadcasts placed the site of the crossing at Remagen, 12 miles south of Bonn and 277 miles southwest of Berlin.

As other First Army divisions and Third Army troops drew tight the noose on perhaps 50,000 Germans in the Elbe trap, Canadian troops in the north captured Xanten, Rhine ferry point guarding the German escape route there, and hammered the west-bank Wesel pocket to a triangle of 20 square miles.

Reds Move on Flanks

The Germans said Adolf Hitler visited the Oder river front today, where the Nazis have reported the opening of the Soviet grand offensive. The Soviet command continued a new breakout on that front, but the Germans said the Russians were 25 miles from Berlin and 10 west of the Oder. Moscow indicated powerful blows were being prepared on both flanks of the frontal assault over the "Rhine of the East."

Moscow field dispatches said the Russians assembled landing craft at the banks of the Dammescher See and may have begun crossings to the west shore in an outflanking maneuver against Stettin, Berlin's great Baltic port. This may portend an eventual assault on the German capital from the north.

Mighty Air Assault

A fleet of 1,000 American heavy bombers swept over the Reich in the 25th consecutive day of the mightiest air assault of the war, attacking industrial targets in Kassel a few hours after a powerful RAF armada hit the same area. The RAF also hit Hamburg submarine yards and other targets. Italy-based U. S. heavies attacked Nazi communications in Hungary yesterday, including the town of Komarom, within 20 miles of the Russian lines and 40 miles northwest of Budapest.

Some reports speculated that the surprise American thrust over the Rhine may have captured the double-track Ludendorff rail bridge intact.

Field dispatches said the crossing was so swift that the Germans were caught without a prepared defense, although if fully defended the crossing area could have been virtually impregnable. If the German high command now concentrates its forces against this threat, other Rhine defenses may be weakened, dispatches pointed out, opening the way for new crossings.

New Oxford Man Injured In Crash

Robert Staub, Orange street, New Oxford, ran into a coal car standing on the Western Maryland railroad tracks at the Bittering stone quarry between New Oxford and Hanover early Thursday morning, state police from the local substation reported today.

A passenger in the automobile, Richard Billman, High street, New Oxford, was injured about the head when he went partially through the right side of the windshield. Billman was treated at the office of Dr. Wilbur H. Miller, New Oxford, and sent to his home.

Damage to the Staub car was estimated at about $100 and there was no damage reported to the coal car which was part of a train load from the quarry. Police are continuing their investigation of the accident, they reported.

CAREER CONFAB FOR COUNTY HS HERE NEXT WEEK

Gettysburg college will be the scene of the first annual career conference for junior and senior students of Adams county high schools to be held Friday afternoon, March 16, under the sponsorship of the Adams County Council of School Administrators.

Prof. Charles R. Wolfe, college registrar and dean of admissions, chairman of the committee in charge of the program, announced the conference today. Approximately 700 boys and girls from the eleventh and twelfth grades are expected for the conference.

The program will open with a meeting of the entire group of students in Brue Chapel at 1:30 o'clock, when the college choir will present a short concert.

A committee of 12 college students, under the direction of Dr. Thomas L. Cline, will assist the high school visitors to locate the conferences which they desire to attend. Twenty-two men in vocations and professions have been secured by the college as speakers to explain during the discussions the possibilities of securing training and positions in their various fields of work.

Committee in Charge

The first of the conferences will be held from 2 to 3 o'clock and the second series will be held from 3:15 to 4:15 o'clock. Both will be held in Glatfelter hall. The visitors will leave at 4:30 o'clock.

The subcommittee in charge of the event is composed of Prof. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of Gettysburg public schools; Prof. Clarence P. Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; Dr. Frank H. Kramer and Dean Dorothy G. Lee, of the college faculty.

Occupations to be represented by the guest speakers include advertising, business administration, secretarial work, aeronautics, engineering, nursing, radio, industrial and research science, military service for both men and women, commercial art and designing, beauty culture, music, agriculture, home economics and the trades, civil service work, journalism, law, physical education, pre-professional science and social science.

$500 In Individual Gifts

Nearly $500 in individual subscriptions were received at the county Red Cross office Thursday. The sum includes only a few of the districts of the county, principally the smaller ones. Over the week-end district solicitors and chairmen are expected to make their first reports.

National Urges Speed

Of interest to the county campaign was the advice from national Red Cross headquarters that more than 60 tons of clothing and emergency supplies have already arrived at Luzon, comprising the first shipment of nearly 1,000,000 garments being sent to the Philippines by the American Red Cross. The supplies were immediately distributed to civilian and military casualties in and near Manila.

The serious flood conditions in the Ohio valley has compelled the assignment of all experienced Red Cross field personnel to that area for disaster service.

The national Red Cross is urging greater speed in completing war fund campaigns in view of the emergencies on the home front and in the European and Pacific theatres of war.

ALTAR GUILD PICKS OFFICERS

Mrs. Harry Lower was elected new president of the Altar Guild of the Trinity Reformed church at a meeting of that group held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Paul Myers, West Middle street.

Other new officers picked included Mrs. Donald Fissel, vice president; Mrs. Charles Odgen, secretary, and Mrs. Robert P. Snyder, treasurer.

Mrs. John Teeter, the retiring president, presided at the meeting. During business session a communication from Homewood home for aged folks at Hagerstown was read. The letter thanked the members of the local guild for a number of Christmas gifts which had been sent to the home.

Mrs. Lower and Mrs. Odgen were named as a committee to mark the altar paraments and another committee was named to purchase flowers for Easter. Those chosen for that group were Mrs. Howard S. Fox, Mrs. Teeter, Mrs. Preston Hill, Mrs. Fissel, Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. C. T. Ziegler. Plans were made also for a covered dish supper to be held in June. The husbands of guild members will be invited to the supper, it was decided.

Hostesses for the evening included Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Sara Bollinger and Mrs. J. D. Kendeilart.

Countians Members Of Honored Outfit

A meritorious service unit plaque has been awarded the 728th Ordnance company of the 28th Infantry division "for outstanding devotion to duty in the performance of exceptionally difficult tasks during the period July 24, 1944, to September 22, 1944," by Major General Norman D. Cota.

The award states further that "during this period, a high standard of discipline was maintained, based on superior military courtesy, appearance of personal installations and equipment, in spite of the fast moving situations and difficult operational conditions. Their efficient and enthusiastic execution of orders was also a contributing factor to their outstanding accomplishments."

Among Adams countians who are members of the company are Sgt. Fred Wright, S. Sgt. Frank Linn, T. Sgt. Harold Sharpe, Sgt. "Buzz" Shealer, Sgt. Richard Kuhn and Dale Kime. The outfit is somewhere on the western front.

News Briefs

Indiantown Gap, Pa., March 9 (AP)—A German prisoner of war escaped from a tobacco warehouse at Lancaster today, the Indiantown Gap military post public relations office reported.

The escaped German, one of 93 assigned for work at the warehouse, was identified as Harry Kessler, 19, blue eyes, fair complexion and blond; height five feet, eight inches and weight 154 pounds.

Washington, March 9 (AP)—The Solid Fuels Administration formally announced today that householders in the "eastern" coal area will be cut to 80 per cent of their "normal" needs for all types of coal next season.

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Two United States motor torpedo boats have been sunk in the Philippines by another United States vessel as a result of mistaken identity, the Navy announced today.

With the First Army Across the Rhine, March 8 (Delayed) (AP)—

Covering the crossing of the Rhine was the hardest journalistic marathon of the war—a marathon won by Howard Cowan of the Associated Press who was the first field reporter to cross the stream with U. S. troops.

Cowan not only was the first correspondent to get across—but was also the first to get back with the story.

Ohio Flood Crests But Walls Holding

Portsmouth, O., March 9 (AP)—The flooding Ohio river crested here today, with the city still dry behind its flood walls and sandbag dikes. The muddy waters touched a peak of 64.94 feet, 14.94 above flood, and were expected to remain stationary several hours before receding.

Police Chief Ray Brown warned citizens not to return to the low areas of this industrial community of 40,000 inhabitants.

Lt. Col. Walter H. French, executive officer of the Second Infantry of the Guard, asserted "this is the time of our greatest danger," explaining the pressure of the Ohio and Scioto rivers against the flood defenses was heaviest at this moment.

LT. ROCHE DIES

Harrisburg, March 9 (AP)—Lt. Paul J. Roche, 49, a veteran member of the Pennsylvania state police and a native of Bangor, died of a heart attack here yesterday. Roche joined the force in 1922, serving at Lancaster and Greensburg before coming to Harrisburg for duty with the bureau of identification.

RATIONED WEEK-ENDS

Chambersburg, Pa., March 9 (AP)—Wilson college students adopted "travel rationing" to help the war effort. They voted to limit themselves to two off-campus week-ends between now and commencement, May 28.

Arendtsville

George Kadel, of New Brunswick, N. J., is spending some time at his parents' home in Bridgeport.

William S. Whiteley is visiting at his home in Selinsgrove over the week-end.

The Rev. Nevil R. Frantz will preach at the fourth service in the series of Lenten services which will be held in the Trinity Lutheran church on Sunday evening.

C. G. Taylor, who has been ill, is reported to be improved.

B. W. Kadel, who is seriously ill, is reported to be slightly improved.

Routine business was transacted at a meeting of the school board which was held Wednesday evening.

James O. Hoffman, who had been confined to his bed on account of illness, is now able to be about.

EMMITSBURG GIRL IS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Matthews, 302 West Main street, Emmitsburg, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Eugenia, to Lt. Earl A. Rice, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Rice, Mercersburg.

The double-ring ceremony was performed Saturday afternoon, February 24, at 5 o'clock in St. Paul's M. E. church, San Bernardino, Cal. The bride graduated from St. Joseph's college, Emmitsburg, in June, 1944, and until her marriage was home economics instructor at Thurmont high school.

Lt. Rice graduated from Mercersburg high school in 1941 and attended Mercersburg academy. Before enlisting in the Air Corps he was employed as a draftsman by the J. P. Miller company, Hagerstown. He received his basic training in North Carolina and then attended Syracuse university before being transferred to the west coast. He received his bombardier wings and commission at Victorville Air Field last December. At present he is attending Radar School at Victorville. The couple is residing at 2457 Serano road, San Bernardino, Cal.

Mr. Matthews, who accompanied his daughter to the coast, has returned home.

FORMER CADET HERE MISSING

Word has been received here that Second Lieutenant Theodore T. Odell, 21, a former air cadet at Gettysburg college who was decorated with the Air Medal for bombing missions over Germany in January, has been missing in action since January 21. His parents were notified February 9 by the War Department.

Odell was co-pilot on a Flying Fortress and was awarded the decoration "for meritorious achievement while participating in heavy bombardment missions in the 8th Air Force offensive over Europe."

The young man came to Gettysburg college in April, 1943, as a member of the second class of air cadets trained here. He received his wings at Moody Field, Georgia, in March, 1944. Overseas he served with the 486th Bomb Group of the Third Air Division which was cited by President Roosevelt for the historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany.

His father, Prof. Theodore Odell, is a department head on the faculty of Hobart college, Geneva, New York.

Special Services Will Start Sunday

A series of evangelistic services, beginning Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock and continuing through the week each evening at 7:30 o'clock except Saturday, will be held at the Memorial United Brethren church. Services each Sunday evening will be at 7 o'clock.

The Rev. and Mrs. Brian King will conduct the services. The Rev. Mr. King was formerly associated with a radio station at Calgary, Canada. He is a pianist. Mrs. King, contralto soloist, is a graduate of the Florida Bible Institute where she was a member of the ladies' trio. The public is invited to attend the services.

FORMER STUDENT KILLED

Pvt. Joseph A. Borelli, a member of the class of 1946 at Gettysburg college, was killed in action February 3 at Ponte Dueto, Italy, it has been learned here. Borelli entered the service in February, 1943. He was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity.

Leaves From Diary Of War Correspondent

By HAL BOYLE
Cologne (AP)—Gaulleiter Josef
 Grohe has taken it on the lam.
 He had never had it so good before and unless the world goes batty twice in his lifetime he will never have it so cushiony again.
 But while it lasted Nazism really paid dividends for Herr Grohe, who collected party dues for der Fuehrer for Cologne-Aachen district. He also attended to such unpleasanties as putting the finger on people who might make trouble. Once he turned his fat emphatic thumb down on them they were persona non grata —which is a genteel Latin way of saying that they were given the old Teutonic toboggan.

Now brother Grohe is on the road himself because his lodge's business is falling off rapidly as its Rhineland real estate investments hit a skidding market.

It was too bad that Herr Grohe couldn't take his concrete house along when he hitchhiked across the Rhine to pass on personally to boss
 Adolf the bad news that the American Army had cut him out of considerable revenue by its drive to the Rhine—and might well cost him his national socialist divinity.

Others To Follow
 However, the Gaulleiter, setting a pattern which other Nazi leaders will have ample opportunity to emulate, undoubtedly did get away with his share of worldly baggage. After all, he had made his marks in the world and knew what to do.

He kept prodding the populace to resist the attacking Americans until March 3 when the last issue of his daily newspaper "Kölnischer Nachrichten" appeared with the heading:
 "Cologne must live—Cologne will live."

Before Herr Grohe became a fugitive he had big powers, but when the American payoff squeeze began he didn't hang around to help his distressed people. He was strictly a percentage leader.

He lived in a spreading concrete home in the Lindenthal section where most of Cologne's 21 millionaires were reported to have set up their own Nazi Shangri-La.

Allied bombs did much to shake Herr Grohe's confidence in his cause. They ripped away the two top floors of his home, and drove him underground. Like most of Cologne's population he became a basement dweller, but on a luxurious scale. His underground retreat had rich furniture, a special folding bar well stocked with German liquors and a fine piano over which hung in force. There still may be hard fighting in further crossings, but the First Army coup has broken the back of the job.

Useless Souvenirs
 Photographs show Herr Grohe as a man of medium height, middle-aged, with close cropped hair and a small mustache. They show him gladhanding visiting Nazis.

Behind him he left several fancy
 Nazi armbands and ceremonial silk hats—which the battle had turned into useless souvenirs.

In the Gaulleiter's library was a German propaganda newspaper, first directed toward America in 1934 and 1935, called the "American Illustrated News."

One of the early issues featured an article by Dr. Goebbels on "National Socialist Germany and its duties in relation to world peace."

One of the most ironic documents of the war, it concludes:
 "May all men of good will unite in the nobler purpose of alleviating the cares of the nations and serving the general weal. As for Germany she is ready from the bottom of her heart to cooperate in securing the peace of Europe."

CHILD BURNS
Clementon, N. J., March 9 (AP)— Mrs. Matthew S. Keel went out to visit a neighbor yesterday, leaving her two children alone at home. Ten minutes later fire roared through the house. Elizabeth Keel, 2, was burned to death. Matthew Keel, Jr., 4, was rescued by a motorist, who saw him standing at a second-story window.

Dismissal Denied In Wagner Case

Washington, March 9 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission has denied Pennsylvania State Treasurer
 G. Harold Wagner's motion for dismissal of Hatch Act charges against him.
 The commission held that he was subject to the Act, which bans political activity by certain government officials. A commission announcement, however, said the findings "shall not be deemed final at this time."
 A hearing on the charges will be held in Harrisburg March 16.

BOB HOPE reports on the Red Cross in action

Bob Hope should know. He saw. For two years he has devoted most of his spare time to entertaining G.I.'s on the "Foxhole Circuit" of USO-Camp Shows. Hope has made 'em laugh in Panama, Alaska, British Isles, North Africa, Sicily, and most recently through the captured islands of the South Pacific. His audiences were men relaxing just behind the front lines. He knows how they appreciate a friendly service from home.

I SAW Red Cross blood plasma bring a man back to life! I watched a miracle. A miracle that could not have happened without you! I saw your Red Cross. In 1944 the Red Cross was asked to provide 5,000,000 pints of blood for the armed forces in addition to the 5,600,000 pints previously obtained. This project requiring 100,000 pints a week was carried on through fixed centers located in 35 major cities and by 60 mobile units attached to the centers which visited nearby towns.

I SAW the Red Cross bring news from home to a worried son! Not all the worries are at home. A soldier in a distant Pacific Station was worrying why a letter to his mother had been returned to him marked "unknown." Was she sick? Alive?
 What has happened? Through his Red Cross Field Director and National Headquarters came a request to investigate and report. The mother was found to be all right and her address correct. But just after she had moved to her new location about 6 months previously, the mail man "thought he had returned a letter." A small matter perhaps, but terribly important to a dear one so far away.

I SAW the Red Cross playing mother to homesick, war-weary fighters! There are more than 700 Red Cross Clubs overseas. Some of them are like big hotels. They're headquarters for meals, snacks, tours, dances, games, books, home newspapers.

I SAW the Red Cross handing out kits to the wounded in a hospital! When a man has lost everything but his dirty, blood-stained uniform—these comfort kits are worth their weight in gold.
 They contain toilet articles, cigarettes, candy.

I SAW the Red Cross greet fliers just back from a mission! I saw a Fort come in—with dazed, haggard men crawling out of her. A Red Cross clubmobile pulled up beside the plane.
 And the fliers' strained nerves relaxed over American doughnuts, American coffee, American girls' smiles.

I SAW a Red Cross ship taking food to our men in prison camps! Thousands of our men in enemy hands would be near starvation were it not for the food, clothing and medical supplies sent by and through

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The surprise crossing of the Rhine by American First Army units south of Cologne is one of the most brilliant coups of the entire war—and one which may shorten the conflict greatly, especially since it synchronizes so perfectly with the new Russian offensive across the Oder against Berlin.

No wonder General Eisenhower is "delighted," since this is the sort of thing a commander dreams of but hardly dares hope for. Details are lacking but apparently a hardy and quick-thinking officer flung his men across the river onto a terrain which was so rugged that the Hitlerites never thought an attempt would be made there. As a result they weren't prepared to defend the position.

Since the first spearhead of Yankee adventurers went over the river about dusk Wednesday, a steady stream of comrades has been pouring after them. Our bridgehead is said to be firmly established, and our troops are fanning out.

Inside Barriers

This means that at long last both the western Allies and the Russians are inside the final great natural barriers of Hitler's vaunted inner fortress. Thus the further defense of the Reich now depends largely on the German fighting man and his equipment. In short it's a battle with bare hands. The Allied objective is the annihilation of the Wehrmacht which soon will be caught between two advancing fronts, unless it flees to southern Germany.

The fact that the point where the Americans crossed was virtually undefended is significant of Nazi Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's shortage in manpower. No matter how unlikely an enemy attack was at this place, the German commander would have guarded it if he could.

However, we shan't have a full gauge of his weakness until we see what he does about staging a powerful counter-attack to smash our beachhead. That's his next logical move, and if he can't carry it out in force, then we shall know that he is indeed pretty well shot to pieces. We can discount the three weak and unsuccessful counter-attacks the Germans essayed at the outset, because they were caught off balance.

Rundstedt's difficulty will be that if he withdraws troops from other points along the Rhine to the north, he will invite further Allied crossings at the weakened places. So he's in a nasty position, for his entire Rhine line is jeopardized.

Sees More Crossings

I think we may expect other Allied crossings of the Rhine to follow, and the northern flank where the Canadian First Army is fighting seems a likely sector for one. Rundstedt's recognition of this possibility is clearly shown in his fierce defense of his bridgehead near Xanten. If the Canadians and British force a crossing of the Rhine there, it will compel the Germans to withdraw their troops from Holland.

As a matter of fact, the advent of the American forces on the east bank of the Rhine below Cologne is likely to compel the Nazis to evacuate Holland in any event, not only to avoid being cut off but because Rundstedt will need all the troops he can scrape together from all points. Evacuation of Holland will be a Godsend to England, for the rocket bombs which have been causing death and destruction in Britain are launched from bases on Dutch territory.

The Allies obviously save much time by the surprise crossing of the Rhine. The cracking of this great barrier normally would be one of the most difficult and dangerous amphibious operations of the whole war, and couldn't be undertaken without much preparation if the enemy was defending the east bank

By HAL BOYLE

Cologne (AP)—Gaulleir Josef Grohe has taken it on the lam. He had never had it so good before and unless the world goes batty twice in his lifetime he will never have it so cushiony again.

But while it lasted Nazism really paid dividends for Herr Grohe, who collected party dues for der Fuehrer for Cologne-Aachen district. He also attended to such unpleasanties as putting the finger on people who might make trouble. Once he turned his fat emphatic thumb down on them they were persona non grata—which is a genteel Latin way of saying that they were given the old Teutonic toboggan.

Now brother Grohe is on the road himself because his lodge's business is falling off rapidly as its Rhine-land real estate investments hit a skidding market.

It was too bad that Herr Grohe couldn't take his concrete house along when he hitchhiked across the Rhine to pass on personally to boss Adolf the bad news that the American Army had cut him out of considerable revenue by its drive to the Rhine—and might well cost him his national socialist divinity.

Others To Follow

However, the Gaulleir, setting a pattern which other Nazi leaders will have ample opportunity to emulate, undoubtedly did get away with his share of worldly baggage. After all, he had made his marks in the world and knew what to do.

He kept prodding the populace to resist the attacking Americans until March 3 when the last issue of his daily newspaper "Kölnischer Nachrichten" appeared with the heading: "Cologne must live—Cologne will live."

Before Herr Grohe became a fugitive he had big powers, but when the American payoff squeeze began he didn't hang around to help his distressed people. He was strictly a percentage leader.

He lived in a spreading concrete home in the Lindenthal section where most of Cologne's 21 millionaires were reported to have set up their own Nazi Shansri-La.

Allied bombs did much to shake Herr Grohe's confidence in his cause. They ripped away the two top floors of his home and drove him underground. Like most of Cologne's population he became a basement dweller, but on a luxurious scale. His underground retreat had rich furniture, a special folding bar well stocked with German liquors and a fine piano over which hung in force. There still may be hard fighting in further crossings, but the First Army coup has broken the back of the job.

Bonneauville

Bonneauville—The National Council of Catholic Women held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in St. Joseph's hall. Miss Rita Sneeringer presided. Routine reports were given and all officers were re-elected for the coming year. After adjournment bingo was played. Thirty-nine members attended.

A. J. Golden, of Baltimore, Sgt. Richard Nichols, of Texas, and Miss Kathleen Golden, of Boston, were recent visitors of the Misses Mary Theresa and Anna Golden.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Groft, of York, visited the former's mother, Mrs. Mary Groft, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Weaver and family visited relatives in Baltimore, Sunday.

St. Joseph's parochial school has been closed until Monday, March 12, to allow a thorough fumigation of the building.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

First Visit Here in 25 Years: Paul Weiser, of Santa Paula, California, is spending several days with his brother, Samuel Weiser, East Lincoln avenue. Mr. Weiser is a native of Gettysburg. It is his first visit here in 25 years.

Local Girl Is Valedictorian of 1930 Class: Miss Helen Kathryn Stallsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Francis Stallsmith, Carlisle street, has been named valedictorian of the 1930 graduating class at Gettysburg college, according to an announcement made by Dr. Henry W. A. Hansen.

Charles Calvin Sellers, of York, will be salutatorian of the class.

Miss Stallsmith, who was also valedictorian of her class in high school, has won numerous honors, including membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

The valedictorian, who majored in Latin, plans to teach upon graduation.

Fifteen Children in Kindergarten: Mrs. J. Kendrick Lynch, Lincoln way west, has opened a kindergarten in the Red Cross building, East High street. Fifteen children attended the opening classes.

Those enrolled are Margaret Saby, Barbara Flynn, Ruth Franklin, Dorothy Morris, Herbert and Harvey Smith, Fred Faber, Jr., Billie Craighead, Fritz von Schwerdtner, Howard Sheffer, Bertram Larkin, Paul Shealer, Jack Glenn, James Bernheisel and Donald Wickerham.

New Pastor Is Given Reception: The congregation of Zion Lutheran church, Fairfield, tendered a reception to its new pastor, the Rev. C. M. Coffelt, and his family, at the church Tuesday evening. The program was in charge of the Rev. Dr. Harvey D. Hoover.

Short addresses were given by the Rev. R. W. Lambert, the Rev. A. W. Geigley, the Rev. C. H. Sider, the Rev. George B. Ely and Prof. Royal Hentz. A reading was given by Miss Gladys Walter.

Dentist Goes to Shippensburg: Dr. W. C. Basehor, a practicing dentist here for several years, on Thursday moved to Shippensburg, where he has opened an office.

County Couple Wedded Tuesday: Miss Rebecca Alice Longsdorff, daughter of Charles L. Longsdorff, and Harry S. Raffensperger, Ardenville, were married Tuesday evening at the parsonage of the Ardenville Reformed church, the Rev. E. W. Brindle officiating. Mr. Raffensperger carries mail between Ardenville and Biglerville.

TO USE WASTE

CHEER UP VETS

Washington, March 9 (AP)—A plan to use funds from wastepaper sales to comfort sick and wounded veterans returning at a rate of more than 30,000 a month was set in motion today.

Sponsored by the American Newspaper Publishers association, the plan is part of a "Double V" paper salvage drive announced last night by Edwin S. Friendly, chairman of the newspaper committee. It was endorsed at campaign-opening ceremonies by spokesmen for the Army, Navy, WPB, Red Cross, Boy Scouts and Women's groups.

Churches, clubs and other cooperating groups will devote part of the salvage proceeds to providing radio headsets, movie equipment, books, games and telephone calls home to patients in veterans' hospital in each community.

Lagging Collections

"More than 1,000 soldiers are being brought back to our hospitals every day from the combat zones," said the Army's Deputy Surgeon General, Maj. Gen. George Lull, in emphasizing the lift such "extra comforts" can bring.

"Not until next June do we expect the rate of discharges from our hospitals to equal the number of sick and wounded pouring in," he added.

The serious threat to war production presented by the lag in paper collections of the last three months was emphasized by H. L. G. Batcheller, WPB's chief of operations. Saying the bulk of this salvage goes into munitions containers, he added:

Wastepaper Stocks Low

"If we don't get the needed increase we are simply going to have to bring strong men back from the fighting forces and send them into the forests to cut pulpwood. There is no other choice."

Friendly estimated this year's demand will exceed last year's 7,000,000-ton salvage record but said collections are running 8,000 tons weekly under those of 1944 because of a slump in interest, rail embargoes and bad weather.

The Double-V program—"A V to speed victory and a V to aid veterans"—may prevent the shutdown of paper-based mills which now are running dangerously low on wastepaper stocks, Friendly said.

Ask Federal Help

On Reclamation

Washington, March 9 (AP)—A story of ruined farm lands and scarred landscapes as a result of strip mining operations in 15 states was heard today by a House committee with a request for $50,000 to study reclamation possibilities.

Reps. Thom, (D.-Ohio), and Lewis, (R.-Ohio), backing the request before an agricultural appropriations subcommittee, said the problem is acute in Ohio.

Other states affected, the subcommittee was told, are Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, West Virginia, Tennessee, Maryland, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Kentucky, Alabama, and Oklahoma.

Presenting the proposal, Alan N. Jordan, executive secretary of the Ohio valley conservation and flood control congress, urged an immediate study by the forest service. He estimated the cost at $50,000.

This farm has a frontage along the State Highway of about 1750 feet. The land is in a good state of cultivation and the farm has two pastures with creek flowing through them, and several acres of woodland.

The improvements are a COLONIAL BRICK HOUSE, equipped with electricity, telephone, bath and electric hotwater system; frame bank barn (with electricity) and other buildings, all in good repair.

At the same time we will sell McCormick-Deering mower, practically new; clover seed sower; two-wheel trailer; hay fork and 150 feet new hay rope.

Terms will be made known at the time of sale.

Facts About Growing Cabbage

Success in growing cabbage is largely a matter of preventing several common diseases and overcoming attacks of at least three widely destructive insect enemies. The attainment of these goals leaves no room for guesswork or negligence. It is a task for careful planning and intelligent practices. Cabbage are heir to several soil-borne and seed-borne ills which demand strict prevention measures beginning before seed is sown and continuing until after the heads are harvested.

When but a few plants are needed and they are purchased from commercial sources, gardeners should seek and require reliable assurances against the inheritance of black rot and black-leg, two troublesome seed-borne diseases. Where plants are grown at home, these and other dangers should be avoided by disinfecting seed, sowing it in sterilized bed soil and then growing the crop to maturity in disease-free soil.

To prevent black rot and black-leg, soak the seed in hot water for 25 minutes, with the temperature held exactly at 122 degrees F. This can be accomplished by using a large container of water and adding hotter water at intervals as needed while testing continually with a thermometer. Dry the seed before sowing.

Sterilize Soil

Window box and coldframe soil in which plants are started should be carefully sterilized with boiling water or use of one of the reliable commercial dusts prepared for this purpose.

As soon as true leaves develop, shift the tiny plants to individual pots or plant bands and keep them growing naturally in a sunny coldframe until time to transplant them to their growing site. It is important that crowding be avoided in order to prevent tall, spindly development. Transplanting can be done quite early, as cabbage plants are not injured by light frosts.

Yellows is a destructive disease carried over indefinitely in the growing soil. It can be controlled by no known method except to move cabbage to clean soils each year or grow one of the several resistant varieties. Cabbage is closely related to kale, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, turnips and radishes and should not follow any of these vegetables in the crop rotation.

When green plant lice infest the plants, combat them at once with nicotine sulphate in soapy water or a nicotine dust. Repeat either remedy as often as necessary to keep lice killed off.

The green cabbage worm, although it is one of the most destructive pests of the garden, can be completely exterminated. As soon as the first worms appear, dust infested plants with derris (rotenone), mixing the powder as directed on the manufacturer's container. If this insecticide cannot be obtained, dust the plants with a mixture of one pound of arsenate of lead and five pounds of hydrated lime. Do not apply this last described remedy after cabbage heads begin to form.

Where root maggots attack young cabbage plants soon after transplanting, write the editor in advance of anticipated needs for directions to combat this enemy.

Gather and burn at once any cabbage refuse left in the garden over winter. And do not hesitate to write the editor about any other problems likely to be encountered in planting and starting this important vegetable.

The Fellowship Of Prayer

The Ascent of Goodness: "For except your righteousness shall exceed—'Excel' (Moffatt), Matthew 5:20. Read Matthew 5:17-20.

Forget the Scribes and Pharisees, all that is old straw; remember instead that goodness is always a living, growing force or else it has little power. Goodness always needs to be set free from its old forms and re-related to new occasions and duties.

Of course, a lie is always a lie and theft is always theft, but there are always new ways of lying and stealing and every moral law must be recast again and again to meet always changing conditions. The best illustration, if there were room for it here, would be the recasting of old judicial decisions to meet new social and economic conditions; that is the only way any law ever gets fulfilled. Otherwise it becomes a dead letter or even a prison in which justice herself is imprisoned.

Goodness is kept alive by extending its frontiers, renewing it from its unfailing sources and making it regnant in every situation. Except a living goodness escape a dead past God's kingdom is a dream.

Prayer: Almighty God Who, in a world of change, has planted eternity in our hearts, grant unto us so to grow in grace and the knowledge of the mind of Jesus Christ that our goodness may be always reaching toward that perfection which, though we cannot reach it, we must be always seeking. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

GRANDMA GOES

TO WASHINGTON

ABOUT THE OPA

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Mrs. Paula Chapin, a "farming grandmother," came to Washington to find out for her Bucks County, Pa., neighbors what Congress is going to do about OPA. She got it straight from Senator Tobey (R-NH).

"We're going to vote to extend it, Republicans and Democrats alike." In return the members of the Senate Banking Committee got an invitation to come up to her 150-acre farm at New Hope, Pa., and eat a country dinner.

A trim little figure in a green tweed suit, Mrs. Chapin asked to speak her mind at committee hearings yesterday on extending OPA, now due to expire June 30.

She is all for continuing price control and rationing—and she said her neighbors are too—but she found some flaws in the way the administration is running things.

"Now take farm machinery—you certainly ought to get after that. When there's a sale and a hayloader goes up, 14 or 15 of us will bid on it because you can save a lot of time with a hayloader. The price can't go above the OPA ceiling and so we have to draw lots."

Today's Talk

MANIA FOR OWNERSHIP

It is natural that each of us desires to own something—something that he can feel contributes to his security in some manner or other. No matter how temporary this ownership may be, still it remains as an anchor, keeping the ship of Self secure against many a bitter life storm.

Nothing is more destructive to the moral fibre of a man, however, than to have a mania for mere ownership. Accumulation becomes a valuable asset to a man when he has in mind its useful and wise distribution. Then the public at large becomes the beneficiary. In many of the larger countries of the world, and especially in America, we have seen examples of huge ownerships, unwieldy and massive, left unbroken to incompetent hands, scattering their tread of evil and waste from generation to generation.

But this mania for ownership is not confined to great fortunes. It can work its ruin with us all, unless we become ruled by a useful purpose in whatever ownership may be ours.

No matter what we may choose to accumulate, I do not believe that we should cling to it too long. There comes the temptation to be boastful, too unwisely talkative as to what we have gained as our very own. I can testify to the fact that there is quite as big a thrill in giving away as in getting and owning.

The late elder George P. Baker was a very wealthy man, a New York banker of great ability and vision. He presented to Dartmouth college its beautiful Baker library as a memorial to a dear one. On one of my visits to this college I was told that after Mr. Baker had called to see the finished building, it made him so happy that he went back home and made out a check for a million dollars to add to the endowment of this magnificent gift. And Dartmouth college was only one of his many fine benefactions.

It is most worthy to gather—if in the end you scatter!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Paces Errors Make"

As soon as true leaves develop, shift the tiny plants to individual pots or plant bands and keep them growing naturally in a sunny coldframe until time to transplant them to their growing site. It is important that crowding be avoided in order to prevent tall, spindly development. Transplanting can be done quite early, as cabbage plants are not injured by light frosts.

Yellows is a destructive disease carried over indefinitely in the growing soil. It can be controlled by no known method except to move cabbage to clean soils each year or grow one of the several resistant varieties. Cabbage is closely related to kale, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, broccoli, turnips and radishes and should not follow any of these vegetables in the crop rotation.

When green plant lice infest the plants, combat them at once with nicotine sulphate in soapy water or a nicotine dust. Repeat either remedy as often as necessary to keep lice killed off.

The green cabbage worm, although it is one of the most destructive pests of the garden, can be completely exterminated. As soon as the

The Fellowship Of Prayer

The Ascent of Goodness: "For except your righteousness shall exceed —" (Excell) (Moffatt). Matthew 5:20. Read Matthew 5:17-20.

Forget the Scribes and Pharisees, all that is old straw; remember instead that goodness is always a living, growing force or else it has little power. Goodness always needs to be set free from its old forms and re-related to new occasions and duties.

Of course, a lie is always a lie and theft is always theft, but there are always new ways of lying and stealing and every moral law must be recast again and again to meet always changing conditions. The best illustration, if there were room for it here, would be the recasting of old judicial decisions to meet new social and economic conditions; that is the only way any law ever gets fulfilled. Otherwise it becomes a dead letter or even a prison in which justice herself is imprisoned.

Goodness is kept alive by extending its frontiers, renewing it from its unfailing sources and making it regnant in every situation. Except a living goodness escape a dead past God's kingdom is a dream.

Prayer: Almighty God Who, in a world of change, has planted eternity in our hearts, grant unto us to grow in grace and the knowledge of the mind of Jesus Christ that our goodness may be always reaching toward that perfection which, though we cannot reach it, we must be always seeking. Through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

GRANDMA GOES TO WASHINGTON ABOUT THE OPA

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Mrs. Paula Chapin, a "farming grandmother," came to Washington to find out for her Bucks County, Pa., neighbors what Congress is going to do about OPA. She got it straight from Senator Tobey (R-NH).

"We're going to vote to extend it, Republicans and Democrats alike."

In return the members of the Senate Banking Committee got an invitation to come up to her 150-acre farm at New Hope, Pa., and eat a country dinner.

A trim little figure in a green tweed suit, Mrs. Chapin asked to speak her mind at committee hearings yesterday on extending OPA, now due to expire June 30.

She is all for continuing price control and rationing—and she said her neighbors are too—but she found some flaws in the way the administration is running things.

"Now take farm machinery—you certainly ought to get after that. When there's a sale and a hayloader goes up, 14 or 15 of us will bid on it because you can save a lot of time with a hayloader. The price can't go above the OPA ceiling and so we have to draw lots."

And the small slaughterer Mrs.

Control Dams Aided In Pittsburgh Area

Pittsburgh, March 9 (AP)—Pittsburgh's rivers receded below flood stage today and were falling steadily.

Weatherman W. S. Brotzman said the 334 foot crest on the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers would have been at least 36.4 without the aid of the six up-river flood control dams.

He based his estimate on computations that the dams held back two

EFFICIENCY OF ALLIED RAIDS IS BEING DISCLOSED

By WES GALLAGHER
Cologne, March 9 (AP)—The German dash to the Rhine has disclosed the effects of Allied air raids, "mitting ground observers to assess for the first time the full extent of the damage inflicted."

A check of Cologne, Rhine industrial capital; Krefeld, textile and center; Muenchen-Gladbach, one of the smaller Rhine industrial cities, and the Rhine river port of us, opposite Duesseldorf, shows:

1. That American and British strategic air force claims gleaned from photographs—such as the estimate that Cologne was 60 to 80 per cent destroyed—are conservative.
2. That big incendiary raids use considerably more vital damage than high explosives.
3. That bombing of railroad yards not yielded the results expected, "because of the extremely efficient German repair system."
4. That bombing of roads has been virtually useless in trying to stop traffic in a country like Germany where there are hundreds of old roads. Only in rare cases of bottlenecks as the Rhine bridges has the bombing of bridges been productive.
5. That 75,000 to 100,000 persons are still living in Cologne, which had a pre-war population of nearly a million.

Wandering about the city you find where they are living. The inner circle, bounded by the Kaiser Wilhelm ring, is virtually intact. It is difficult to describe the devastation. But if a New Yorker should wake up some morning to find every building in Manhattan just a shell and the streets filled with rubble—with no water, lights, no gas and not a pane of glass in the whole island—the situation would be comparable to that in Cologne.

From the center of the city and around the port the devastation spreads out in the suburbs, where there are some buildings with just a shell or two in them.

Germans in the city estimate that 100,000 have killed or injured 70,000 persons—30,000 of them last summer and fall.

The damage suffered by Cologne is far greater than Stalingrad, where survivors saw both have said.

MAN IS FOUND NAILED TO CROSS

Chicago, March 9 (AP)—A man, about 40 years old, was found by Madison avenue police today nailed to a 10-foot cross, with 10-penny nails through his hands, his feet bound with rope and a crudely emined mass of thorny bushes on his head.

The police, responding to a report of an automobile accident, found the man unconscious on the heavy cross, made of 2 by 6 timbers, which was fastened to part of an elevated railway pillar on the near north side.

Capt. Patrick O'Connell said the man, identified as Fred Walscher, was not wearing a coat or hat and his clothing was not disarranged.

Regaining consciousness several hours later, Walscher told Capt. O'Connell that he was summoned on his basement apartment by a knock on the window and asked to assist at an automobile accident. He said when he arrived at the scene of the alleged accident a man threatened him with a gun and forced him to lie down on the cross.

Preparing For Big UMW Ballot

Pittsburgh, March 9 (AP)—A strike vote scheduled for March 28 by members of the United Mine Workers of America is expected to be the largest in National Labor Relations Board history, Frank M. Keller, NLRB regional director, said today.

Keller estimated between 100,000 and 150,000 bituminous miners in Pennsylvania and Maryland will cast ballots and said 25 additional NLRB field representatives are being sent there to assist in the vote.

Found Guilty Of Manslaughter Charge

Uniontown, Pa., March 9 (AP)—Fayette county jury last night convicted Andrew Joseph Strilla, 29, of Footedale, of voluntary manslaughter in the shot-gun slaying of his brother-in-law, Andrew Mayerske, last November 20.

Strilla was charged with shooting Mayerske following an argument over a gambling game in Mayerske's home. The state had asked for a verdict of first degree murder with the death penalty.

Tell Of Hitler Visit To Oder Line

London, March 9 (AP)—The German radio said today that Hitler had visited the Oder river front.

The Transocean agency said he had "convinced himself personally of the fighting spirit of the German soldiers on the Oder."

"A number of photos of the visit have been published in the German press," it added.

The broadcast also said that Hitler had assured himself of German defensive measures. It did not specify the date of the visit.

EFFICIENCY OF ALLIED RAIDS IS BEING DISCLOSED

By WES GALLAGHER
Cologne, March 9 (AP)—The American dash to the Rhine has lifted the lid of German secrecy on the effects of Allied air raids, permitting ground observers to assess for the first time the full extent of the damage inflicted.

A check of Cologne, Rhine industrial capital; Krefeld, textile and silk center; Muenchen-Gladbach, one of the smaller Rhine industrial cities, and the Rhine river port of Neuss, opposite Duesseldorf, shows:

1. That American and British strategic air force claims gleaned from photographs—such as the estimate that Cologne was 60 to 80 per cent destroyed—are conservative.

Incendiary Raids Best

2. That bombing of cities will not break German civilian morale but will disrupt life in a city and discourage workers that factories cannot operate with even a fraction of efficiency.

3. That big incendiary raids cause considerably more vital damage than high explosives.

4. That bombing of railroad yards has not yielded the results expected, largely because of the extremely efficient German repair system.

5. That bombing of roads has been virtually useless in trying to stop traffic in a country like Germany where there are hundreds of good roads. Only in rare cases of such bottlenecks as the Rhine bridges has the bombing of bridges been productive.

Some 75,000 to 100,000 persons are estimated still living in Cologne, which had a pre-war population of nearly a million.

Wandering about the city you wonder where they are living. The inner circle, bounded by the Kaiser Wilhelm ring, is virtually wiped out. It is difficult to describe such devastation. But if a New Yorker should wake up some morning to find every building in Manhattan just a shell and the streets piled with rubble—with no water, no lights, no gas and not a pane of glass in the whole island—the situation would be comparable to that in Cologne.

From the center of the city and around the port the devastation dwindles off in the suburbs, where there are some buildings with just a hole or two in them.

Germans in the city estimate that raids have killed or injured 70,000 persons—30,000 of them last summer and fall.

The damage suffered by Cologne was far greater than Stalingrad, observers who saw both have said.

MAN IS FOUND NAILED TO CROSS

Chicago, March 9 (AP)—A man, about 40 years old, was found by Hudson avenue police today nailed to a 10-foot cross, with 10-penny spikes through his hands, his feet bound with rope and a crudely entwined mass of thorny bushes on his head.

The police, responding to a report of an automobile accident, found the man unconscious on the heavy cross, made of 2 by 6 timbers, which was fastened to part of an elevated railway pillar on the near north side.

Capt. Patrick O'Connell said the man, identified as Fred Walscher, was not wearing a coat or hat and his clothing was not disarranged.

Regaining consciousness several hours later, Walscher told Capt. O'Connell that he was summoned from his basement apartment by a knock on the window and asked to assist at an automobile accident. He said when he arrived at the scene of the alleged accident a man threatened him with a gun and forced him to lie down on the cross.

Preparing For Big UMW Ballot

Pittsburgh, March 9 (AP)—A strike vote scheduled for March 28 by members of the United Mine Workers of America is expected to be the largest in National Labor Relations Board history. Frank M. Kleier, NLRB regional director, said today.

Kleier estimated between 100,000 and 150,000 bituminous miners in Pennsylvania and Maryland will cast ballots and said 25 additional NLRB field representatives are being sent here to assist in the vote.

Found Guilty Of Manslaughter Charge

Uniontown, Pa., March 9 (AP)—A Fayette county jury last night convicted Andrew Joseph Sirilla, 29, of Footedale, of voluntary manslaughter in the shot-gun slaying of his brother-in-law, Andrew Mayerske, last November 20.

Sirilla was charged with shooting Mayerske following an argument over a gambling game in Mayerske's store. The state had asked for a verdict of first degree murder with the death penalty.

Tell Of Hitler Visit To Oder Line

London, March 9 (AP)—The German radio said today that Hitler had visited the Oder river front.

The Transocean agency said he had "convinced himself personally of the fighting spirit of the German soldiers on the Oder."

"A number of photos of the visit have been published in the German press," it added.

The broadcast also said that Hitler had assured himself of German defensive measures. It did not specify the date of the visit.

SEVERAL DAYS OF FIGHTING AHEAD ON IWO

By ELMONT WAITE
U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, March 9 (AP)—The fierce battle for Iwo Jima is assuming the pattern of the final phases of American conquests of other Pacific islands—but it may be several days before correspondents can flash "two secured."

Today's communique disclosed small gains which at one point saw the Third Marine division gaining a cliff top only 300 yards from the northeast coast.

The Japanese, compressed into a rough crescent shaped area measuring 300 to 1,500 yards wide along the north and east coasts, have adopted desperate tactics such as preceded collapse of their organized resistance on Guam and elsewhere. Frontline dispatches tell of small Banzai charges, of suicidal attacks against American tanks by Japanese aimed only with poles to which were attached explosive charges, of enemy troops confined to a great extent in dugouts and caves honeycombing precipitous coastal cliffs, of the discovery of Japanese bodies floating in the surf.

Casualty figures
In Washington, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific told correspondents he expected Japanese resistance on Iwo would continue "until the last Jap is killed, wounded or captured."

Radio Tokyo claimed American casualties on Iwo already were 29,670. Nipponese troops "are carrying on bayonet charges and night attacks and are succeeding in inflicting heavy damages on the enemy," said a Japanese-language broadcast beamed to the United States and recorded by the FCC.

Nimitz last report on American casualties made Feb. 23 for only the first three days of fighting, said there were 644 killed, 560 missing and 4,168 wounded. Navy Secretary James Forrestal said Monday, 2,050 Americans had been killed on Iwo but gave no date or any other figures.

$2,000,000 Fire At Greencastle

Greencastle, Pa., March 9 (AP)—Fire and explosions that swept the A. B. Warner Storage plant last night injured two men and caused losses estimated by Police Chief Oscar Ambrose at more than $2,000,000.

The plant, leased by Warner to the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyards, Baltimore, contained valuable military supplies, which were destroyed.

Philip Stuck, 30, an employee, in attempting to save office records, was trapped under debris when a wall and part of the roof collapsed. He is in Waynesboro hospital in a serious condition.

U. G. Hoffman, a fireman, was burned about the head and face attempting to reach Stuck. He was taken to a Hagerstown Md. hospital.

Series E F and G Savings Bonds Series C Savings Notes
2 1/2 per cent bonds
2 1/2 per cent bonds
1 1/2 per cent bonds
1 1/2 per cent certificates of indebtedness
(The 1 1/2 per cent bonds will not be offered in the drive to corporations.)

The drive for individuals will extend from May 14 to June 30. However, an intensification of activities in the sale of Series D Bonds will begin April 9 when millions of persons on payroll savings plans throughout the country will be asked to enlarge their participation as a part of the Seventh War Loan All Series D F and G Savings Bonds and Series C Savings Notes processed through the Federal Reserve Banks between April 9 and July 7 will be credited to the Drive.

"During the final phase of the drive which will cover the period from June 18 through June 30 subscriptions will be received from all other non-bank investors for the 2 1/2 per cent and the 2 1/2 per cent marketable bonds and the certificates of indebtedness.

To avoid unnecessary transfers of funds from one locality to another, the treasury again urges that all subscriptions by corporations and firms be entered and paid for through the banking institutions where funds are located. The treasury will undertake, as in the Sixth War Loan drive, to see that statistical credit is given to any locality for such subscriptions as the purchases may request.

In order to help in achieving its objective of selling as many securities as possible outside the banking system, the Secretary will request the cooperation of all banking institutions in declining to make speculative loans for the purchase of government securities, and in declining to accept subscriptions from customers which appear to be entered for speculative purposes. The treasury is in favor of the banks making loans to facilitate permanent investment in government securities provided such loans are made in accordance with the joint statement issued by the national and state bank supervisory authorities on November 23, 1942.

Deferred Payments
The treasury requests that all non-bank investors refrain from selling securities heretofore acquired to obtain funds to subscribe for the securities offered in the Seventh War Loan Drive.

Life insurance companies, savings institutions and states municipalities political subdivisions and similar public corporations, and agencies thereof will be permitted to make deferred payment at par and accrued interest, for the 2 1/2 per cent and 2 1/2 per cent marketable bonds allotted to them up to August 31, 1945.

During the period from June 18 through June 30 commercial banks, which are defined for this purpose as banks accepting demand deposits will be afforded an opportunity to subscribe for Series F and Series G Savings Bonds, and for the 1 1/2 per cent bonds and the 1/4 per cent certificates offered in the drive, in aggregate amounts not exceeding $500,000 or 10 per cent of the time deposits (of which not more than $100,000 may be Series F and Series G Savings Bonds) under the same formula as was used during the last Drive. Securities so acquired by the banks will not be included in the Drive nor will they be counted toward any quota.

"Commercial banks will not be permitted to own the 2 1/2 per cent or the 2 1/2 per cent marketable bonds offered in the Drive until ten years of their respective maturity dates."

Guffey Stirs New Political Tempest

Washington, March 9 (AP)—Senator Guffey (D., Pa.) stirred up a new political tempest today with a charge that Pennsylvania Republicans have accumulated a "slush fund" of $875,000 and are "preparing to buy or steal the election of 1946."

The Senator proposed that Congress limit early campaign expenditures to 50 cents per vote.

"The corruption fund was contributed to by the Pews and other only fat-cats of Pennsylvania politics as part of the 1944 campaign."

ESSENTIAL

Detroit, (AP)—Clean diapers are "essential to a child's morale," Circuit Court Commissioner William J. Cody ruled in refusing to evict the parents of an 18-month-old baby from their apartment. The landlord contended the mother was a "nuisance" because she washed twice a week instead of once, as provided in the building rules.

fund that has been held over for future use," he said.

In Philadelphia Joseph Pew, the wealthy oil man declined comment.

Ask G.I. Joe's family what your Red Cross is doing for them...

and you'll be proud of the answers you get!

RIGHT here on the Home Front, the Red Cross is doing a tremendously important job in relieving the pressure of war on civilians. This pressure is especially heavy on servicemen's families. Their fears and worries and griefs deserve and get special attention from the Red Cross.

But in this war, all are affected. And the Red Cross reaches out to aid all—in many and varied ways. Below a few typical scenes show the Red Cross in action on the Home Front!

↑ WHEN LETTERS STOP, G. I. Joe's family turns to the Red Cross for help and advice. And the Red Cross sets in motion its worldwide organization to locate Joe and find out what's up!

↑ WHEN JOE RETURNS—WOUNDED! Red Cross Recreation and Hospital Workers brighten long, dreary hospital hours—relieve the worries that spring up in sick men's minds. And when Joe and his family meet again, both have been prepared by talks with Red Cross workers.

↑ JOE JUNIORS, THE COUNTRY OVER will be a healthier, happier generation because of Home Nursing courses given by the Red Cross. These courses teach basic baby care as well as how to treat simple illnesses in the home.

↑ THE NURSE SHORTAGE is being relieved in civilian hospitals everywhere by Red Cross recruited-and-trained Nurse's Aides. The Red Cross also recruits and trains Dietitian's Aides—a very important part of hospital work.

↑ DOMESTIC DISASTERS INCREASE IN WARTIME! During the past fiscal year, there were 257 disasters in the United States—more than ever recorded for any single year. And the Red Cross was on the scene for all of them! Victims were fed, clothed and sheltered by the Red Cross!

GIVE NOW! GIVE MORE!

Will the Red Cross continue to relieve the worries of servicemen's families? Will the Red Cross continue to help wounded veterans adjust to their handicaps? Will the Red Cross continue to be on hand when disaster strikes?

The answer lies with you—with America! For the Red Cross is your Red Cross. It is supported entirely by your voluntary contributions. You are asked to contribute just once a year. The time for giving to the Red Cross in 1945—is now!

Give now and give more! For in 1945 more and more veterans will be brought home. They and their families will have more and more need for Red Cross. Give—that the Red Cross may continue to give to them!

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS AT THEIR SIDE, TOO!

"The corruption fund was contributed to by the Pews and other oily fat-cats of Pennsylvania politics as part of the 1944 campaign fund that has been held over for future use," he said.

ESSENTIAL

Detroit, (AP)—Clean diapers are "essential to a child's morale," Circuit Court Commissioner William J. Cody ruled in refusing to evict the parents of an 18-month-old baby from their apartment. The landlord contended the mother was a "nuisance" because she washed twice a week instead of once, as provided in the building rules.

Abbottstown

Abbottstown—A large tractor trailer truck upset Monday morning at 6 o'clock when the load shifted in making the curve on the square. The truck was turned over in front of the gasoline pump at the W. W. Hafer garage. The driver was badly shaken up.

Ask G.I. Joe's family what your Red Cross is doing for them...

and you'll be proud of the answers you get!

RIGHT here on the Home Front, the Red Cross is doing a tremendously important job in relieving the pressure of war on civilians. This pressure is especially heavy on servicemen's families. Their fears and worries and griefs deserve and get special attention from the Red Cross.

But in this war, all are affected. And the Red Cross reaches out to aid all—in many and varied ways. Below a few typical scenes show the Red Cross in action on the Home Front!

↑ WHEN LETTERS STOP, G. I. Joe's family turns to the Red Cross for help and advice. And the Red Cross sets in motion its worldwide organization to locate Joe and find out what's up!

↑ GIRL WITH A HUNDRED JOBS! Red Cross Motor Corps girls drive hospital ambulances, military vehicles, blood donor trucks, and their own cars. They are trained to meet all emergencies!

↑ WHEN JOE RETURNS—WOUNDED! Red Cross Recreation and Hospital Workers brighten long, dreary hospital hours—relieve the worries that spring up in sick men's minds. And when Joe and his family meet again, both have been prepared by talks with Red Cross workers.

↑ JOE JUNIORS, THE COUNTRY OVER will be a healthier, happier generation because of Home Nursing courses given by the Red Cross. These courses teach basic baby care as well as how to treat simple illnesses in the home.

↑ THE NURSE SHORTAGE is being relieved in civilian hospitals everywhere by Red Cross recruited-and-trained Nurse's Aides. The Red Cross also recruits and trains Dietitian's Aides—a very important part of hospital work.

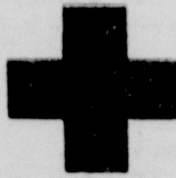

↑ DOMESTIC DISASTERS INCREASE IN WARTIME! During the past fiscal year, there were 257 disasters in the United States—more than ever recorded for any single year. And the Red Cross was on the scene for all of them! Victims were fed, clothed and sheltered by the Red Cross!

GIVE NOW! GIVE MORE!

Will the Red Cross continue to relieve the worries of servicemen's families? Will the Red Cross continue to help wounded veterans adjust to their handicaps? Will the Red Cross continue to be on hand when disaster strikes?

The answer lies with you—with America! For the Red Cross is your Red Cross. It is supported entirely by your voluntary contributions. You are asked to contribute just once a year. The time for giving to the Red Cross in 1945—is now!

Give now and give more! For in 1945 more and more veterans will be brought home. They and their families will have more and more need for Red Cross. Give—that the Red Cross may continue to give to them!

KEEP YOUR RED CROSS AT THEIR SIDE, TOO!

DAVID MARCH, Executor Biglerville, Pennsylvania

Or to: Swope, Brown & Swope, Attorneys for the Estate, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania

Los Angeles, March 9 (AP) — Thursday was one of Red Skelton's busier days. The radio redhead had two important dates, one to marry Miss Maureen Davis, 23-year-old movie actress, the other with a surgeon who was to remove his tonsils.

Cotton Plant, Ark., March 9 (AP) — All of the approximately 25 soldiers and two civilians were rescued early Thursday from the flood-swollen White river after their assault boat capsized while on emergency levee repair work.

Second Marriage

By EVELYN MURRAY CAMPBELL

YESTERDAY: Anne leaves on a short trip to Chicago and that night Carey kisses Cynthia for the first time. They are both shaken by the experience and realize that they are in love. When Anne returns she realizes what has happened and warns Cynthia that summer romances don't last. But this one will, thinks Cynthia, smiling secretly.

Chapter 5

It was morning. It was night and noon. It was Time. Letters came from home but Cynthia felt oddly detached from them.

The children's letters — Vera, — brief and non committal, a blank page would have done as well. Eddis, vague and reproachful and yearning. Peter, an ill spelled scrawl about nothing whatever. Ned giving business a brush over and ending with the ternal plea for forgiveness — Cynthia couldn't think why for a moment. The quarrel, as she remembered it faintly, had largely been her own fault.

They were all so far away, spectral figures that didn't belong to the person she was now. They made no claim. They did not call her back. And gradually the thought insinuated that she had given them enough. Twelve years of her life! She did not know or would not see that this was what her love for Carey was teaching her. It was his book and she had read every page and closed the covers.

They didn't talk about the future or their marriage. It was in Cynthia's mind, formed. An inevitable day that would draw nearer and nearer until it was upon her and became the actual present. Carey astonished her one day with a matter of fact question.

"Where do you want to live when we're married?"

A slow hot flush came over her face as she saw the look in his eyes, bare and unashamed and completely possessive, the superior look of the male who asks a question of the "little woman" which he means to answer himself.

But it was more than that. It was lifting the curtain for a split second upon the scene behind the scene. It was meeting the swift glowing future face to face and glimpsing dizzying possibilities. She would be a wife again — Carey's wife! There would be all the changes, the differences to meet. She would no longer grasp her own problems; he would have his part in them. But it couldn't be as shattering as it seemed. Her life was made, formed, and he would be a part of it as she would be a part of his.

"Live?" She was honestly bewildered. It had never occurred to her that they would be together in new surroundings. Her life was inseparable from her home.

"Foolish!" He took her hand and smoothed the fingers one by one. "People have to live somewhere. You took rather a chance on me, darling. It might have been a trailer camp or a light housekeeping room; that's about what I could afford at the present moment." Her face wore such unbelief that he laughed and kissed her. "But it won't be so bad as that. I haven't got a job at the moment but I'm going to have one any minute."

She knew vaguely that he was an engineer but she wasn't trained in engineers. It was just a profession that sounded rather glamorous and a favorite topic with growing boys. She knew little about Carey's background too. He had given her the briefest details as her own had been brief. Poor, of course. He'd mostly worked his way through college and it had been a very good one. He'd been to some far off places on jobs and had finished them and put them behind him. She knew there wasn't much money in being an engineer and that was about all of it.

But now and then she had wondered why he was idling here by a Wisconsin lake as if his joblessness didn't weigh at all upon his mind. No, she wouldn't think of that. It was unkind, disloyal. There was a reason; he would tell her some day. He told her now.

"There's a plane plant at a place called Burbank in California." He laughed, this time at her astonishment. "That's where my job will be. Aeronautical engineer. A friend of mine — a buddy — is out there now and he pulled for me. It won't be long before the good old grind begins again." He flexed his sinewy brown fingers as if he wanted nothing better. "Is it a surprise for you, Cynthia? You won't have to pull up stakes." That meant going away somewhere to live. Even with Carey she couldn't quite visualize that.

"But — if you job hadn't been there — so close, I mean — We'd have had to think of something else. Another job for you. It could have been managed easily."

It was his turn to be astonished. "What on earth are you talking about, Cynthia? I'm an engineer. I help to build motors. You don't pick your job when you do that. Your job picks you."

She was wise enough to let that pass. "Oh, Carey, we can live at home — at my house. Wait until you see it. It's so lovely." Nostalgia came upon her and in a moment she saw every stone, every flower. "Burbank isn't far away." But her eagerness died to a whisper.

So was his frown; the first time his frown had come between them. "That's what you want, Cynthia? But at first — I thought just at first — Some of the fellows I know well — are living near the plant, sort of camping out in little places while the job gets going. They're mostly married and it's easier to be on the spot —"

He looked uncertain as if he wasn't sure of where they were going with this sort of talk.

She was appalled. She knew what Burbank was like and the "little places" too. She had seen them driving through with Ned to look at the vast air plants. Barracks little houses, horrid, cramped, staring at a blazing sun that never seemed to forget the somber things to come for the moment, and wear silk top hats found in some bombed-out ruins. Veterans stretch out in trucks and catch some badly needed sleep.

As the column crawls through a village near the river you notice for the first time the doughboys standing watchful-eyed in the doorways. You know then that German shells have been bursting nearby.

The road curves slowly down from the last tree-crowned hill and as it turns suddenly you see an open space criss-crossed by empty German trenches. There is one, small, knocked-out German anti-tank gun. Then, around a bend, with shocking suddenness you see the Rhine itself in all its majesty, sweeping in sinuous beauty as far as the eye can reach among the rounded hills and high cliffs.

"There she is," shouts a soldier. Shells bursting at Crossing. Every man in the long column looks out at this magnificent river, whose life-giving beauty and prodigality go down, wilting heat in summer. Rain — rain — rain in winter.

"Oh, Carey, I couldn't! I'm used to the sea. And there is my own business. I couldn't live like that and do what I have to do!"

He said nothing, just looking at her in an inscrutable way before he brushed the conversation, argument, whatever it was aside.

"All that will take care of itself," he said.

ductivity has caused immeasurable grief throughout centuries of war. Beyond its spring-flooded waters lies the way to Berlin and victory and home.

A German shell crashes into the crossing site far below, where hundreds of tiny men and tiny machines work their way across the river. Seconds afterwards the noise of the shellburst echoes up.

As the column winds slowly down the steep hills, hundreds of doughboys spaced 20 feet apart begin trotting in double column toward the crossing point. More shells crack and explode in black towers of debris.

On the other bank infantrymen crunch as they move forward into battle. "It won't be long now," a doughboy calls out.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 9 (AP)—Any application of the midnight amusement curfew to broadcasting other than already in effect is not contemplated, the Office of Stabilization Director Byrnes at Washington has indicated.

Only a few network programs in two categories come under the present request, for which the Byrnes office said it was "getting compliance." These were three post-midnight shows which were repeated before New York audiences for the west coast, and a half-dozen or so dance bands picked up just before or after 12 from local night spots.

Audiences of two great shows, Henry Aldrich on CBS and the Donald Voorhees concert on NBC, have been eliminated. A third, the Hit Parade on CBS, is being eliminated and the west coast stations hooked onto the 9 o'clock broadcast despite the fact it is only 6 o'clock Pacific time.

3 REASONS

Why You Should Sell Your Car If Not Needed, to Me

1st: I will pay as much or more than any other buyer.

2nd: I will give you an early promise in writing for a new Oldsmobile or a Cadillac or a late model certified used car that is traded in.

3rd: Don't store your automobile — an essential worker may need it.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 9 (AP)—Any application of the midnight amusement curfew to broadcasting other than already in effect is not contemplated, the Office of Stabilization Director Byrnes at Washington has indicated.

Only a few network programs in two categories come under the present request, for which the Byrnes office said it was "getting compliance." These were three post-midnight shows which were repeated before New York audiences for the west coast, and a half-dozen or so dance bands picked up just before or after 12 from local night spots.

Audiences of two great shows, Henry Aldrich on CBS and the Donald Voorhees concert on NBC, have been eliminated. A third, the Hit Parade on CBS, is being eliminated and the west coast stations hooked onto the 9 o'clock broadcast despite the fact it is only 6 o'clock Pacific time.

Winners Of 11 Of 16 Cage Games

SIX DISTRICT TITLES TO BE FIXED TONIGHT

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, March 9 (AP)—The unbeaten Plymouth Indians won the First District title in this year's Pennsylvania scholastic basketball competition when they turned back Swoyerville last night in two overtime periods, 40-38.

The Wyoming Valley title-holders, with a record of 23 consecutive victories, now face the winner of tonight's Shamokin-Sayre, District Four final. Scheduled games will settle six additional district championships, one in the east and five in the west.

In District Three, Chambersburg, defending titlist, plays Columbia at Hershey Industrial school; Somerset meets Bedford at Davidsville in District Five; Johnstown tackles undefeated Huntingdon in District Six; Westinghouse and Langley meet at Pitt Stadium for District Eight honors; Bradford and Brookville clash at Dubois in a District Nine final; and Sharpville tests Erie Tech at Erie in District Ten.

Saturday's Card

The other three games in class A will be played tomorrow night at Pottstown and Radnor clash at Villanova college in District One; Beaver Falls meets Donora for the WPIAL crown and District Seven laurels at McKeesport; and Allentown plays Westbury at Allentown in District Eleven.

The class B competition gained speed at Otto Township, McKeesport, won the District Nine title from Sykesville last night, 31-24. Gallitzin defeated Dale, 44-26, and Gregg Township won from Bellwood-Antis, 41-30 in semi-final contests in District Six. The winners meet next week. McAdoo crushed Fell Township, 72-37 in a District Two semi-final in the only other game on last night's card.

Tonight Bridgeport faces Springfield at Norristown in District One; Mansfield plays Montgomery at Williamsport in District Four; and Clarks Summit clashes with Dalton at Tunkhannock in District Twelve.

SPORT SHORTS

Atlanta, March 9 (AP)—Whitlow Wyatt is willing to do a bit of mound work for the Brooklyn Dodgers this year if he can train in the south.

Wyatt's ailing arm for two years now hasn't permitted him even to approach the effectiveness he enjoyed with the Dodgers from 1940 through 1942, and he feels that spring training at Bear Mountain, N. Y., "will hurt my arm again this year."

Philadelphia, March 9 (AP)—Connie Mack's leading pitcher, Russ Christopher, became his leading holdout Thursday. The Athletics' towering righthander doesn't like the money Connie offered and hasn't returned his contract, acting manager Earl Mack said.

Christopher blossomed last year after several seasons of promise. He won 14 and lost 14—practically super by current A's standards.

Connie's terms weren't disclosed, but supposedly he proposed an increase. Hot-stove league gossip has it that the 82-year-old manager is upping his payroll substantially in another bid for a winning team.

Philadelphia, March 9 (AP)—Gunmakers of America, Inc., Clifton Heights, Pa., employs 318 persons and 199 of them are boys and girls under 16, the federal wage-hour division charged in a criminal information filed in federal court. John O. Baker, general manager, accused the division of "misinterpreting the law," saying the children were employed after school and their employment had been approved by the state.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 9 (AP)—Frank Murray, the outspoken University of Virginia football coach, is frankly at odds with folks who have made the restoration of the one-year rule their No. 1 postwar project.

"For 25 years I have been asking, 'Why should a legitimate student in any regular university or college have to wait around a year before being permitted to compete in intercollegiate athletics?'" Frank writes. "Nobody, as yet, has given me a suitable answer, though I have heard all the bromides and phony excuses."

ANSWERING HIMSELF

Murray goes on to air another pet peeve which may help to answer his question. . . . "Another thing which started out with the best of intentions has developed into the most unethical regulation in football. I refer to the rule which stipulates that once a frosh has participated in as much as a single play he is thereby precluded from ever representing any other institution. Originally it was designed to protect the coach of a smaller college who, having discovered some budding star on his roster, was kept from having said star 'stolen' by some name school. At the other extreme is the case of the large institution which selfishly corralled boys who could never hope to be more than third-stringers—thereby preventing them from being regulars at colleges not so football minded."

There's your answer, Frank. Who's going to draw the line between the "selfish" schools and the "regular" ones?

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

If Jimmy Raftery's mile-winning streak is broken in the Columbian mile tomorrow, this corner's tip is to look for Don Burnham to do it, not Gunder Haegg. Tony Janairo, the Youngstown, Ohio, lightweight who is 20 years old according to New York records, goes up for his pre-induction examination tomorrow. The draft board says he's just 18. . . . A basketball game in Greenville county, S. C., recently was called off on account of rain—through a leaky gym roof.

Baksi Beats Barlund; Meets Nova March 30

Miami, Fla., March 9 (AP)—Third ranking duration heavyweight Joe Baksi will keep a Madison Square Garden ring date with Lou Nova March 30 with one more victory to his strong as a result of a technical knockout over Gunnar Barlund, of Finland, here last night.

A crowd of 6,000 saw the 216-pound Kulpmont, Pa., coal miner score the TKO over the battered and bleeding Finn in one minute and 30 seconds of the tenth and final round. Barlund weighed in at 201 and three quarters.

Referee Eddie Coachman waved Baksi to his corner and ended the fight after a barrage of left hooks and straight rights had sent Barlund to the canvas three times.

Although Baksi opened cuts under Barlund's right eye in the second and sent him to his knees twice during the third stanza, the Pennsylvanian was unable to produce the decisive knockout blow.

MARCH SCORES 214 POINTS TO LEAD BULLETS

Bobby March, former Gettysburg high school cage star, rolled up a total of 214 points for an average of 14.4 per game as a freshman on the Gettysburg college quintet to top the individual scorers during the season which just ended.

March collected 75 goals and netted 64 fouls to give him exactly twice as many as the second high man on the team, George Shepherd, center, who accounted for 107 tallies.

In winning seven of 12 games, the Bullets netted 525 points while their opponents looped 473.

Newsom Promises Mack 20 Victories

Philadelphia, March 9 (AP)—Garulous Bobo Newsom of the Athletics won't be shy on confidence this season.

In a few hundred well chosen words telephoned to Acting Manager Earle Mack yesterday, the big pitcher said he would win 20 games, against his 13-15 record for last year.

Mack told him he could practice with the Hartsville, N. C., high team, as he requested, instead of reporting for spring training at Frederick, Md., Monday. He is now due April 1.

RIGHT! THEY GIVE SERVICE AND THAT'S WHAT COUNTS!

LOW COST

HERE'S the sensible way to look at loan cost. You borrow to make a profit. The cost of the loan is meaningless unless you consider how successful the farm operation for which you borrowed turned out. Promptness in getting the money, freedom from red tape, absence of special fees and charges, no stock purchase required, helpful service and cooperation right down the line — those are the factors that make bank credit cheapest in the long run. COUNCIL ADOPTS 13-MILL RATE FOR '45 TAXES

Borough council Monday evening formally adopted a previously approved $43,100 budget for 1945 and passed an ordinance setting the borough tax rate at 13 mills—11 mills for general purposes and two for the special fund used to redeem borough bonds and to pay interest on the bonded debt.

At the same session councilmen heard a renewal of the controversy surrounding a solution to the drainage problem along the north side of the first block of Chambersburg street; received a report of progress being made on the disposition of flood waters on Buford avenue west of the railroad crossing, and transacted a number of routine matters.

One member of council complimented Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer on the intensified parking ordinance enforcement campaign and urged that it be continued and made even more sweeping.

"Passionate Pink" Zone Lines

The burgess said that while red parking lines along some of the streets have faded to a "passionate pink" by the winter weather, thereby complicating the enforcement program, many of the violations are occurring at points where the red lines are very apparent and where "no parking" signs are in place. He mentioned the north side of the first block of West Middle street as one place where violations have persisted and where parkers are constantly being tagged and fined.

Radford Lippy came before council to renew his demand that surface water lying along the street in front of his place of business on Chambersburg street be disposed of. He said the water finds its way into his basement and proves costly to his property.

Council reviewed the whole case, last considered last summer, and found that after $500 had been made available then for the placing of new subdrainage in the section affected, the project had been held up when two property owners involved had refused to sign papers releasing the borough from liability for property damage.

BOARD CLOSES RURAL SCHOOL TO CHECK COLDS

Dr. William E. Flickinger, York Springs physician, announced Monday that the York Springs school, York Springs R. 1, Latimore township, has been closed for one week as a "precautionary health measure."

The action closing the school was taken, Doctor Flickinger said, to prevent a possible spread of severe colds and sore throat among the pupils at the building. The Latimore township school board decided on the closing on advice from Doctor Flickinger.

"There was nothing serious as yet," the York Springs physician said, "but the closing measure was taken in order to prevent any further outbreak of colds and sore throat among the youngsters."

Praised by Crist

There were several children with sore throat attending the school and their continued attendance might have caused infection of all the other pupils, Doctor Flickinger said.

The building will be closed until Monday when classes will be resumed. In the meantime, the room will be fumigated, Dr. Flickinger said.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, Monday praised the action of the Latimore board. "It was positively the right thing to do," he said. "It is good to see a school board that thinks more of its children's health than it does of trying to run on a set calendar."

Wounded Soldier Has Leg Amputated

Mrs. Gertrude P. Reinecker, Stall-smith apartments, Gettysburg, has received the Purple Heart awarded her son, Pvt. John P. Reinecker, 23, who was seriously wounded in action in Belgium on January 4.

In a recent letter Private Reinecker revealed that his wounds necessitated the amputation of his right leg above the knee. He is confined to a hospital overseas.

Private Reinecker was inducted November 23, 1943, and served with an engineering outfit.

Missing

S. 1-c William L. Hertz, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, of Gettysburg, has been reported as missing in action by the Navy Department. He had been stationed on an aircraft carrier. His wife and two children, Charles, five, and Ronald, four, reside on Fairfield R. 1. He is the first Navy casualty reported from this county in weeks.

17 LOCAL MEN ENTER ARMED FORCES TODAY

Seventeen men, including two transfers, were sent to Harrisburg Wednesday morning as the March quota for the armed services from local Selective Service Board No. 2. The group left Gettysburg at 8:30 o'clock for the Harrisburg induction center where they were given examinations and assigned to different branches of the armed services. Theodore DeWitt Hay, Gettysburg R. 1, was the acting leader of the contingent.

The two transfers from other local boards were William Glenn Turner, of Waynesboro, and Cassius Brent, of Washington, D. C. The board made no designations as to fathers or non-fathers, or the ages of the men.

NEW ROBBERY IS UNCOVERED

G-burg police announced Friday that it has definitely been determined that two apartments in the Lippy apartment building, 47 Chambersburg street, were entered Tuesday aweek, at about the same time that three apartments at the Miller building, 22 1/2 Chambersburg street, were entered and robbed.

The loss of a three-stone diamond ring from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Radford L. Lippy has been attributed to the robbery, one accomplished in a manner similar to that of the Miller apartments.

The police reported no new developments in the case. There have been no arrests and no one has been detained for questioning concerning the thefts.

All of the robberies occurred between 1 and 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the apartment occupants were absent from their homes. Apparently skeleton keys or other devices for springing the locks were used for there were no marks of forcible entry on any of the doors, police said.

A second apartment in the Lippy building, one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Maust, was entered but nothing was taken. The loot from the Miller apartments included a total of about $20 in small change and a lapel watch, one item being taken from each of the three apartments.

IN MARIANAS

MM 2-c E. F. Benner, a former member of the Biglerville high school faculty, is now stationed in the Marianas Islands according to word received here by friends.

COUNTY OFFERS FUNDS FOR ROAD, STREET REPAIR

The Adams county commissioners have decided to distribute a two-year accumulation in the war-depleted liquid fuel tax fund to boroughs and townships throughout the county to help the local units with costs of street and road building and repair.

That action taken recently by the county board was disclosed Monday evening when members of the Gettysburg borough council received a letter from the commissioners' office stating that $1,000 is available for Gettysburg from county funds this year.

Tuesday morning at the commissioners' office Chief Clerk Clarence Smith said that while money has been earmarked for each borough and township in the county, the sums will be issued only after formal, written application and will be paid over only after inspection and approval by the state highway department.

$6,200 For Townships

While townships will be offered $10 for each mile of township roadway they have to maintain, the sums marked for the boroughs in the county vary. Gettysburg may receive up to $1,000 while a $500 limit has been placed on sums for Littlestown and McSherrystown. Other boroughs may receive up to $250 each.

The amount available for township work totals $6,200 with a total of 620 miles of road depending upon township maintenance in the county.

The commissioners' office lists the following amounts of roadway for each township with $10 of county money available for repair work on each mile:

Berwick township, 8.7 miles; Butler, 34.23; Conewago, 9.15; Cumberland, 32.03; Franklin, 58.90; Freedom, 13; Germany, 17.4; Hamilton, 22.1; Hamiltonban, 24.6; Highland, 16.2; Huntington, 45.1; Latimore, 41; Liberty, 20.4; Menallen, 39.4; Mt. Joy, 41.6; Mt. Pleasant, 45.55; Oxford, 13.25; Reading, 42.32; Strasburg, 38.1; Tyrone, 36.22, and Union, 20.75 miles.

The money being offered by the county is made up of sums returned to this county by the state and represents state tax on liquid fuel sales in this county. The war-time reduction in auto travel has greatly reduced the size of the fund.

CLOTHING FOR REFUGEES, GI'S SHIPPED BY R.C.

Two shipments containing a total of 327 pieces of knitted and sewed goods for the use both of members of the U. S. armed forces and refugees in Europe was announced Monday morning by Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

The first shipment to be sent to a port for further shipment overseas contained 80 woolen dresses made by local chapter production workers for refugee girls in Europe.

The second shipment, which was made to a Red Cross field center, for distribution to army camps and navy ports, contained knitted goods for the service men.

Among the articles sent were 58 navy watch caps, 21 army sleeveless sweaters, 80 pairs of bedroom slippers, 48 pairs of army gloves, seven army helmets, six army mufflers, six army turtle-neck sweaters, nine navy turtle-neck sweaters, six army v-neck sleeveless sweaters, two navy scarfs and two afghans.

Announcement was made Monday of the home service report for February. The local chapter office handled a total of 206 home service cases, four more than the total for January.

Included were 119 army cases, 34 navy, 32 ex-service men and 21 civilian cases. A different breakdown showed that 75 of the total number handled were new cases. Fifteen of the group were reopened, while 63 were recurrent and 53 others were brought forward into February from the previous month.

The grand total included 126 cases handled as office interviews and 43 taken care of by home visits. The remainder of the group were handled by telegram, telephone or other means.

REPORTED WOUNDED

Pfc. Freeman G. McCans, husband of Mrs. Vesta P. McCans, Gardners R. 2, Cumberland county, near Hunter's Run, has been reported as wounded in action by the War Department.

WAC Widow Buys War Bonds

WAC Sgt. Ida A. Guise of Gettysburg, stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., looks over the $1,350 worth of war bonds she purchased in January. She expects to invest $3,000 more this month—money from accrued wage and policy payments received after the death of her husband, S-Sgt. Harmon E. Guise, reported shot down by enemy aircraft over the Zuider Zee, Holland, in December, 1943.

CANNON OF '63 HOLDS AGAINST MOTORIZED UNIT

Shades of the Battle of Gettysburg were recalled Sunday afternoon when a motorized cavalry attack on a gun emplacement on Culp's Hill failed to take the position and the twentieth century machine lost out to a Civil War cannon.

A car driven by Richard Cullison, Orrtanna R. 2, made the attack on the cannon position when the automobile failed to negotiate an "S" turn near the foot of the hill on Wainwright avenue. The car left the road opposite the equestrian statue of General Slocum, and when it struck the soft sod and a large rock turned completely over, to come to rest on its side with the muzzle of the gun resting in the center of the grease pan of the car's engine.

None of the three occupants of the car, Cullison, Ernest Saum, Orrtanna R. 2, or Franklin Shultz, Orrtanna R. 1, was injured. Damage to the automobile was estimated at about $100.

No Charges Planned

All the damage the cannon suffered in the attack was a broken axle with one wheel knocked completely off. Dr. Walter S. Coleman, park director, said this morning that Cullison had agreed to pay for the damage to the cannon and that no charges will be brought.

A second battlefield accident in which a car was overturned occurred Sunday afternoon on Sedgewick avenue. Doctor Coleman reported. An automobile driven by a Robert Miller, whose address has not been determined, overturned after striking a second car driven by William Sauble, of Taneytown, the director said. The investigation was being continued today, as park guards were trying to locate Miller. The accident was reported to park authorities by Sauble.

MRS. SHEFFER IS CANDIDATE FOR 4-YR. TERM

Mrs. Emma E. Sheffer, who has been clerk of the courts for Adams county since the death last fall of her husband, Howard W. "Dutch" Sheffer, announced her candidacy Monday for Republican nomination for that office in the primary election June 19.

Mrs. Sheffer's husband was elected to the office of clerk of the courts in 1943 and assumed his duties last January 3. He served only for one month before suffering a severe illness which resulted in his death last August 26. Upon his death, Mrs. Sheffer was appointed to the office by Governor Martin.

At that time the quadrennial election of the clerk was set to fall on the regular election day this year, the same time as the election of county treasurer. Previously the treasurer had been the only major officer elected in the "off" years.

Mrs. Sheffer is the first woman to hold the office of clerk of the courts and is the first woman to hold any of the major county positions. Also for the first time in history is one of the county offices completely in charge of women. The deputy clerk of the courts is Mrs. Martha B. McClellan.

Mrs. Sheffer is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Sachs. Mr. Sachs was a former clerk to the county commissioners, chairman of the Adams County Republican committee for a number of years, and later was a assistant postmaster at Gettysburg. Mrs. Sheffer was born and reared in Gettysburg. She is the mother of one son, now serving in the United States Navy, and two daughters.

South Pacific Vet Concludes Furlough

Pfc. John A. Smith formerly of Adams county, and son of Frank J. Smith, Hanover, has concluded a 21-day leave at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hartzell, Orrtanna R. 2, where his brother and sister reside. He left Friday for Asheville, North Carolina.

Pfc. Smith recently returned to the United States after serving overseas in the south Pacific for several years. He was inducted February 6, 1941, and served with the infantry in three major engagements including the battle of Leyte.

The county soldier has fully recovered from a three-day blindness suffered last fall when some Japanese powder he was working with exploded.

Killed

S-Sgt. Winfield Smith, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Smith, 329 York street, who was killed in action in Italy October 25, S-Sgt. Smith was inducted February 9, 1943, and had been in Italy since February, 1944, where he served with the Fifth Army.

WILL SURFACE YORK ST. AND BIGLERVILLE RD.

Two major road resurfacing projects for the county this summer were announced Tuesday at the local office of the state highway department by Superintendent J. William Kendelhart, Jr.

The work for which appropriations already have been made by the highway department, includes the resurfacing of York street with blacktop in Gettysburg from the center square nearly to the Rock Creek bridge, and the refinishing of the Gettysburg-Biglerville road in Butler township.

Approximately three miles of roadway will be covered on the Biglerville road with the present concrete portion to be refinished with the blacktop asphalt covering similar to that put on the Hanover road last summer.

Scheduled for Summer

Superintendent Kendelhart said that no attempt will be made at the present time to refinish the present macadam surface running from Keckler's hill to Gettysburg because that stretch of road will have to be completely rebuilt as soon as possible. Wartime restrictions have held up the rebuilding work, he said.

Work on both the Biglerville road and York street resurfacing will begin during the summer "when labor is available" for the projects, Kendelhart said.

The York street work will be delayed in order to give the utility companies sufficient time to make all the repairs they can before the resurfacing is started. Such a procedure should allow the newly-surfaced road to remain unscarred by holes for a longer period of time than ordinarily would be the case, he said.

WINTER'S SNOW NOW AT 3 FEET

February's wintery exit Wednesday night was in keeping with the weather that was typical of the month in which fog, snow, sleet, and sub-zero temperatures followed the groundhog's dictum. Six inches of snow last month brought to an even three feet the total snowfall for Gettysburg this winter, according to the records of Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather observer.

Last month's average temperature was 32.3 degrees which is 1.2 degrees above February's normal average. The thermometer readings for the 28-day period ranged from a low of one below zero on February 4 to a high of 55 degrees on last Sunday.

Rain and snow for the month totaled 2.16 inches, six tenths of an inch short of February's normal. Last Monday's rain totaled .65 inches and was the heaviest precipitation in any 24-hour period in the month.

Only two days last month saw the temperatures remain continuously below freezing while freezing temperatures were recorded on all but five days of the 28. Rain or snow fell on nine days. Eleven days were clear, eight partly cloudy and nine cloudy.

MRS. HARBACH ILL

Mrs. Harrison P. Harbach, York street, has been admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital after being stricken ill Monday. She was reported as slightly improved Tuesday.

$4,000 - MARK IS TOPPED BY R.C. WAR FUND

Adams county's 1945 American Red Cross War Fund went over the $4,000 mark Wednesday as a new stream of donations, headed by a gift of $250 from an anonymous contributor, was recorded at chapter headquarters in Gettysburg.

War Fund Chairman Henry M. Scharf reported that the second largest donation — $138.50 — was made by the members of the U. S. Forest Service camp stationed at the Lee Meade inn, south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road. Members of the local substation of the state police gave Mr. Scharf $10 for the fund. The new contributions brought the total to $4,031.12.

Three $25 donations were received. They included gifts from Pape's Fruit farms, Mrs. Naomi R. Hett and the John C. Lower company. Mrs. Carrie Pretz, Gettysburg made a gift of $15.

Additional Donors

Included in the list of $10 donors were the following persons: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hummelbaugh, Thomas W. Hummelbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Heiges, Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Bream, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. George Kadwill, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Swinn, the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph R. Gresh, Mrs. Bessie Hennig, Mrs. E. H. Markley, G. R. Thompson and Mrs. Winifred Thompson.

The $5 contributors included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Miller, Robert McQuigan, Mrs. Annie McGuigan, Mr. and Mrs. Benton Gilbert and Mary Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Stoops, Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Ramer, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Capozzi, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Glenn, Miss Elizabeth Scott, Mrs. Marie Zeigler, Mrs. William T. Starr, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Dern, the Rev. and Mrs. Harry S. Ecker, Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Myrl Arentz, S 1/c Wayne Arentz, Mrs. Mary Guise, Mrs. J. B. Bringham, Staub's grocery, Mrs. Bowman's Sunday school class at St. James Lutheran church, Mrs. T. L. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Waybright and Robert McNair.

Friday's Contributors

This first official list of Red Cross War Fund contributors was issued Thursday. $1,000—Gettysburg Furniture factories and M. C. Jones. $300—Mrs. Donald McPherson. $200—Gettysburg and Harrisburg Transportation company. $125—Times and News Publishing company. $100—Thomas H. Bateman, Philadelphia; Gettysburg Aerle No. 1562 F.O.E., and the Victor Products Corporation. $100—H. G. Baugher, Bendersville. $50—Gettysburg Throwing club. (Please Turn to Page 2)

COUNTY SOLDIER IS WOUNDED IN BURMA, FEB. 2

Tech. Sgt. Robert M. Musselman, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Musselman, Fairfield, was seriously wounded in action in Burma, February 2, his parents were advised officially by War Department telegram received over the week-end.

Young Musselman had written February 8, in a letter received last week by his parents, that his "leg had been broken," but included no other details of the injury.

He has been in the China-Burma-India theater of operations for almost two years, having gone overseas in May, 1943. Before taking part in the action in which he was wounded, he was instructing Chinese troops in the use of the varied United States infantry weapons.

Evacuated by Air

The wounded lad wrote that it took two and a half hours by airplane to evacuate him over territory that his unit had taken one month to cover on foot.

The county soldier entered the Army in January, 1943, after working for some time at Camp Ritchie, Md. He graduated from Fairfield high school in 1942. After joining the service, he trained for a while at Fort McClellan, Ala., before going overseas.

An elder brother, Tech. Sgt. Kenneth Musselman, returned to the United States last August after more than four years' service in New Guinea. He is a supply sergeant with an airborne outfit and at present is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Raffensperger, New Chester, have received word their son, Lt. Harold E. Raffensperger, has arrived safely in England. Lt. Raffensperger is a graduate of Gettysburg college.

COUNCIL ADOPTS 13-MILL RATE FOR '45 TAXES

Borough council Monday evening formally adopted a previously approved $43,100 budget for 1945 and passed an ordinance setting the borough tax rate at 13 mills—11 mills for general purposes and two for the special fund used to redeem borough bonds and to pay interest on the bonded debt.

At the same session councilmen heard a renewal of the controversy surrounding a solution to the drainage problem along the north side of the first block of Chambersburg street; received a report of progress being made on the disposition of flood waters on Buford avenue west of the railroad crossing, and transacted a number of routine matters.

One member of council complimented Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer on the intensified parking ordinance enforcement campaign and urged that it be continued and made even more sweeping.

"Passionate Pink" Zone Lines

The burgess said that while red parking lines along some of the streets have been faded to a "passionate pink" by the winter weather, thereby complicating the enforcement program, many of the violations are occurring at points where the red lines are very apparent and where "no parking" signs are in place. He mentioned the north side of the first block of West Middle street as one place where violations have persisted and where parkers are constantly being tagged and fined.

Radford Lippy came before council to renew his demand that surface water lying along the street in front of his place of business on Chambersburg street be disposed of. He said the water finds its way into his basement and proves costly to his property.

Council reviewed the whole case, last considered last summer, and found that after $500 had been made available then for the placing of new subdrainage in the section affected, the project had been held up when two property owners involved had refused to sign papers releasing the borough from liability for property damage.

BOARD CLOSES RURAL SCHOOL TO CHECK COLDS

Dr. William E. Flickinger, York Springs physician, announced Monday that the Thro Churches school, York Springs R. 1, Latimore township, has been closed for one week as a "precautionary health measure."

The action closing the school was taken, Doctor Flickinger said, to prevent a possible spread of severe colds and sore throat among the pupils at the building. The Latimore township school board decided on the closing on advice from Doctor Flickinger.

"There was nothing serious as yet," the York Springs physician said, "but the closing measure was taken in order to prevent any further outbreak of colds and sore throat among the youngsters."

Praised by Crist

There were several children with sore throat attending the school and their continued attendance might have caused infection of all the other pupils, Doctor Flickinger said.

The building will be closed until Monday when classes will be resumed. In the meantime, the room will be fumigated, Dr. Flickinger said.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county medical director, Monday praised the action of the Latimore board. "It was positively the right thing to do," he said. "It is good to see a school board that thinks more of its children's health than it does of trying to run on a set calendar."

Wounded Soldier Has Leg Amputated

Mrs. Gertrude P. Reinecker, Stall-smith apartments, Gettysburg, has received the Purple Heart awarded her son, Pvt. John P. Reinecker, 23, who was seriously wounded in action in Belgium on January 4.

In a recent letter Private Reinecker revealed that his wounds necessitated the amputation of his right leg above the knee. He is confined to a hospital overseas.

Private Reinecker was inducted November 23, 1943, and served with an engineering outfit.

Missing

S. 1-c William L. Hertz, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, of Gettysburg, has been reported as missing in action by the Navy Department. He had been stationed on an aircraft carrier. His wife and two children, Charles, five, and Ronald, four, reside on Fairfield R. 1. He is the first Navy casualty reported from this county in weeks.

17 LOCAL MEN ENTER ARMED FORCES TODAY

Seventeen men, including two transfers, were sent to Harrisburg Wednesday morning as the March quota for the armed services from local Selective Service Board No. 2.

The group left Gettysburg at 8:30 o'clock for the Harrisburg induction center where they were given examinations and assigned to different branches of the armed services. Theodore DeWitt Hay, Gettysburg R. 1, was the acting leader of the contingent.

The two transfers from other local boards were William Glenn Turner, of Waynesboro, and Cassius Brent, of Washington, D. C. The board made no designations as to fathers or non-fathers, or the ages of the men.

NEW ROBBERY IS UNCOVERED

G-burg police announced Friday that it has definitely been determined that two apartments in the Lippy apartment building, 47 Chambersburg street, were entered Tuesday aweek, at about the same time that three apartments at the Miller building, 22 1/2 Chambersburg street, were entered and robbed.

The loss of a three-stone diamond ring from the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Radford H. Lippy has been attributed to the robbery, one accomplished in a manner similar to that of the Miller apartments.

The police reported no new developments in the case. There have been no arrests and no one has been detained for questioning concerning the thefts.

All of the robberies occurred between 1 and 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the apartment occupants were absent from their homes. Apparently skeleton keys or other devices for springing the locks were used for there were no marks of forcible entry on any of the doors, police said.

A second apartment in the Lippy building, one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William A. Maust, was entered but nothing was taken. The loot from the Miller apartments included a total of about $20 in small change and a lapel watch, one item being taken from each of the three apartments.

IN MARIANAS

MM 2-c E. F. Benner, a former member of the Biglerville high school faculty, is now stationed in the Marianas Islands according to word received here by friends.

COUNTY OFFERS FUNDS FOR ROAD, STREET REPAIR

The Adams county commissioners have decided to distribute a two-year accumulation in the war-depleted liquid fuel tax fund to boroughs and townships throughout the county to help the local units with costs of street and road building and repair.

That action taken recently by the county board was disclosed Monday evening when members of the Gettysburg borough council received a letter from the commissioners' office stating that $1,000 is available for Gettysburg from county funds this year.

Tuesday morning at the commissioners' office Chief Clerk Clarence Smith said that while money has been earmarked for each borough and township in the county, the sums will be issued only after formal, written application and will be paid over only after inspection and approval by the state highway department.

$6,200 For Townships

While townships will be offered $10 for each mile of township roadway they have to maintain, the sums marked for the boroughs in the county vary. Gettysburg may receive up to $1,000 while a $500 limit has been placed on sums for Littlestown and McSherrystown. Other boroughs may receive up to $250 each.

The amount available for township work totals $6,200 with a total of 620 miles of road depending upon township maintenance in the county.

The commissioners' office lists the following amounts of roadway for each township with $10 of county money available for repair work on each mile:

Berwick township, 8.7 miles; Butler, 34.23; Conewago, 9.15; Cumberland 32.03; Franklin, 58.90; Freedom, 13; Germany, 17.4; Hamilton, 22.1; Hamiltonban, 24.6; Highland, 16.2; Huntington, 45.1; Latimore, 41; Liberty, 20.4; Menallen, 39.4; Mt. Joy, 41.6; Mt. Pleasant, 45.55; Oxford, 12.25; Reading, 42.32; Straban, 38.1; Tyrone, 36.22, and Union, 20.75 miles.

The money being offered by the county is made up of sums returned to this county by the state and represents state tax on liquid fuel sales in this county. The war-time reduction in auto travel has greatly reduced the size of the fund.

CLOTHING FOR REFUGEES, GI'S SHIPPED BY R.C.

Two shipments containing a total of 327 pieces of knitted and sewed goods for the use both of members of the U. S. armed forces and refugees in Europe was announced Monday morning by Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

The first shipment to be sent to a port for further shipment overseas contained 80 woolen dresses made by local chapter production workers for refugee girls in Europe. The second shipment, which was made to a Red Cross field center, for distribution to army camps and navy ports, contained knitted goods for the service men.

Among the articles sent were: 58 navy watch caps, 21 army sleeveless sweaters, 80 pairs of bedroom slippers, 48 pairs of army gloves, seven army helmets, six army mufflers, six army turtle-neck sweaters, nine navy turtle-neck sweaters, six army v-neck sleeveless sweaters, two navy scarves and two afghans.

Announcement was made Monday of the home service report for February. The local chapter office handled a total of 206 home service cases, four more than the total for January.

Included were 119 army cases, 34 navy, 32 ex-service men and 21 civilian cases. A different breakdown showed that 75 of the total number handled were new cases. Fifteen of the group were reopened, while 63 were recurrent and 53 others were brought forward into February from the previous month.

The grand total included 126 cases handled as office interviews and 43 taken care of by home visits. The remainder of the group were handled by telegram, telephone or other means.

REPORTED WOUNDED

Pfc. Freeman G. McCans, husband of Mrs. Vesta P. McCans, Gardner's R. 2, Cumberland county, near Hunter's Run, has been reported as wounded in action by the War Department.

WAC Widow Buys War Bonds

WAC Sgt. Ida A. Guise of Gettysburg, stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., looks over the $1,250 worth of war bonds she purchased in January. She expects to invest $3,000 more this month—money from accrued wage and policy payments received after the death of her husband, S-Sgt. Harmon E. Guise, reported shot down by enemy aircraft over the Zuider Zee, Holland, in December, 1943.

Two major road resurfacing projects for the county this summer were announced Tuesday at the local office of the state highway department by Superintendent J. William Kendlehart, Jr.

The work, for which appropriations already have been made by the highway department, includes the resurfacing of York street with blacktop in Gettysburg from the center square nearly to the Rock Creek bridge, and the refinishing of the Gettysburg-Biglerville road in Butler township.

Approximately three miles of roadway will be covered on the Biglerville road with the present concrete portion to be refinished with the blacktop asphalt covering similar to that put on the Hanover road last summer.

Scheduled for Summer

Superintendent Kendlehart said that no attempt will be made at the present time to refinish the present macadam surface running from Keckler's hill to Gettysburg because that stretch of road will have to be completely rebuilt as soon as possible. Wartime restrictions have held up the rebuilding work, he said.

Work on both the Biglerville road and York street resurfacing will begin during the summer "when labor is available" for the projects, Kendlehart said.

The York street work will be delayed in order to give the utility companies sufficient time to make all the repairs they can before the resurfacing is started. Such a procedure should allow the newly-surfaced road to remain unscarred by holes for a longer period of time than ordinarily would be the case, he said.

WINTER'S SNOW NOW AT 3 FEET

February's wintry exit Wednesday night was in keeping with the weather that was typical of the month in which fog, snow, sleet, and sub-zero temperatures followed the groundhog's dictum. Six inches of snow last month brought to an even three feet the total snowfall for Gettysburg this winter, according to the records of Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather observer.

Last month's average temperature was 32.3 degrees which is 1.2 degrees above February's normal average. The thermometer readings for the 28-day period ranged from a low of one below zero on February 4 to a high of 55 degrees on last Sunday.

Rain and snow for the month totaled 2.16 inches, six tenths of an inch short of February's normal. Last Monday's rain totaled .65 inches and was the heaviest precipitation in any 24-hour period in the month.

Only two days last month saw the temperatures remain continuously below freezing while freezing temperatures were recorded on all but five days of the 28. Rain or snow fell on nine days. Eleven days were clear, eight partly cloudy and nine cloudy.

MRS. HARBACH ILL

Mrs. Harrison F. Harbach, York street, has been admitted as a patient to the Warner hospital after being stricken ill Monday. She was reported as slightly improved Tuesday.

$4,000 - MARK IS TOPPED BY R.C. WAR FUND

Adams county's 1945 American Red Cross War Fund went over the $4,000 mark Wednesday as a new stream of donations, headed by a gift of $250 from an anonymous contributor, was recorded at chapter headquarters in Gettysburg.

War Fund Chairman Henry M. Scharf reported that the second largest donation — $138.50 — was made by the members of the U. S. Forest Service camp stationed at the Lee Meade inn, south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road. Members of the local substation of the state police gave Mr. Scharf $10 for the fund. The new contributions brought the total to $4,031.12.

Three $25 donations were received. They included gifts from Pape's Fruit farms, Mrs. Naomi R. Hett and the John C. Lower company. Mrs. Carrie Pretz, Gettysburg made a gift of $15.

COUNTY SOLDIER IS WOUNDED IN BURMA, FEB. 2

Tech. Sgt. Robert M. Musselman, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Musselman, Fairfield, was seriously wounded in action in Burma, February 2, his parents were advised officially by War Department telegram received over the week-end.

Young Musselman had written February 8, in a letter received last week by his parents, that his "leg had been broken," but included no other details of the injury.

He has been in the China-Burma-India theater of operations for almost two years, having gone overseas in May, 1943. Before taking part in the action in which he was wounded, he was instructing Chinese troops in the use of the varied United States infantry weapons.

Evacuated by Air

The wounded lad wrote that it took two and a half hours by airplane to evacuate him over territory that his unit had taken one month to cover on foot.

The county soldier entered the Army in January, 1943, after working for some time at Camp Ritchie, Md. He graduated from Fairfield high school in 1942. After joining the service, he trained for a while at Fort McClellan, Ala., before going overseas.

An elder brother, Tech. Sgt. Kenneth Musselman, returned to the United States last August after more than four years' service in New Guinea. He is a supply sergeant with an airborne outfit and at present is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Raffensperger, New Chester, have received word their son, Lt. Harold E. Raffensperger, has arrived safely in England. Lt. Raffensperger is a graduate of Gettysburg college.

TIMES CARRIERS
STAMPS IN DRIVE

Sixteen carrier boys and girls for The Gettysburg Times have sold a total of 31,927 War savings stamps during the first two weeks of their campaign to sell enough to purchase a "water weasel" or swamp-going jeep for the United States Army.

The carriers must sell a total of 48,150 stamps during the 12-week period ending May 12 for the purchase of every water weasel they wish to sponsor. Thus if they sell 24,075 stamps, the carriers would be sponsoring five of the combination vehicles which are much-needed by the army troops in Jap warfare in the Pacific Islands.

The new stamp sales by the carriers brought the grand total sold since the start of the War Stamp savings program by the Government to 3,798,760.

Sales Records

In the present campaign, when the quota is reached, each of the carriers will receive a shoulder patch emblem bearing the picture of a "water weasel" and a transfer stamp bearing the inscription, "From the carriers of The Gettysburg Times," will be placed on each of the jeeps purchased through stamp sales by the newboys and girls.

Sales by the "Water Weasel U. S. Defense Agents" in Gettysburg were as follows:

Robert Fox, 874; Donald Menges, 11,920; Mark Sanders, 752; Ray Breighner, 2,589; Donald Weaver, 850; Robert Sanders, 1,109; and Robert Moser, 1,563.

Other carrier sales were as follows: Harold Kennedy, York Springs, 400; Charles Stitt, New Chester, 900; George Staub, Beechertown, 250; Dale Becker, Heidlersburg, 350; Lloyd K. Vaughn, Haney, 100; James Bucher, Aspers, 8,175; Robert Smyers, Idaville, 100; Dorothy Howe, Bendersville, 650; and Daniel Bushman, Arendtsville, 1,025.

ARMY STUDENTS
END TRAINING AT COLLEGE TODAY

Student training for the 139 members of the Army Air Corps enlisted reserve stationed at Gettysburg college ended officially at noon Saturday as that program came to a halt under orders from the war department.

Each of the enlisted reservists received his certificate for completion of the nine-months course and academic transcripts in special graduation exercises held Friday morning at Brua chapel on the college campus.

Lt. Col. Frank E. Sharpless, commandant of the reserve unit and head of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the college, presided at the graduation and presented the young men with their certificates. In addition to his short talk, remarks were made also by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president. The invocation was given by Prof. G. Saylor Warthen. The program closed with the singing by the detachment of the Air Corps song.

Turn In Equipment

Friday afternoon and Saturday morning were given over to checking of equipment and completion of transportation arrangements. Forty-eight of the class have received orders to report for active duty at the completion of furloughs at their homes. The remainder of the group will return to their homes to await a call to active duty. Colonel Sharpless said that all of the unit will be ordered to report by June.

The entire unit and members of the college faculty attended a farewell dinner Thursday night at Huber hall. Capt. Frank A. Conway, a member of the military staff at the college, acted as toastmaster. Doctor Hanson made the opening remarks and Colonel Sharpless also spoke. Dr. Richard A. Arms, coordinator of the military and civilian programs at the college, was unable to be present, and a letter from him was read to the group.

Following the dinner the reserve students presented a program of stunts, skills, poems and songs. A portion of the program was given over to "lamppooning" the faculty and the features of the training which the students did not like.

Student Program

Pvt. Charles L. Harrington, of Marion, Va., served as master of ceremonies. "The Beaver Song" was presented by Pvt. Rowland D. Euboy, of Allentown; James P. Gahagan, of Baltimore, and Charles E. Halloran, of Washington, D. C.

Other parts of the program included the following: "Little Remembrances to the Faculty," by Private Harrington; "The Last Will of the 333rd SCU, ASTU," by Pvt. William H. Beckner, York; a poem, "The Staff," by Pvt. Nevil R. Hanger, Reading; "The Unfinished Symphony," by Pvt. Ralph G. Davis, DeYoung; and a summary of the ASTU by Pts. Joseph F. DeNardi, Baltimore; Robert E. Kiscaddon, Lebanon; and William H. Standiford, Havre de Grace, Md.

Farewell Dance

The "Voice of Company C" by Pvt. Thomas J. Haag, Philadelphia; "The Voice of Company B," by Pvt. Joseph L. Prater, Marion, Va.; "The Voice of Company A," by Pvt. Larry H. Jackson, and "The Girl of My Dreams," by Pts. Frank R. Chaffin, Midland; Jackson; William H. Martin, Norfolk, Va., and Richard L. Pryor, Salisbury, Md.

The program closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the Air Corps song. Pvt. Richard F. Rossbauer, of Adelphi, played the piano and Pvt. Peter G. Jordanoff, of Steelton, played the drums. Pts. Julian C. Harvey, Lencburg, Va., and Bertrand H. Stephenson, of Palmyra, Va., were in charge of the lights.

Following the dinner and program, a dance was held in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium. Music was furnished by Bill Jones' orchestra.

NEW CAR QUOTA

There will be a grand total of 14 new passenger cars for rationing in this 10-county area during March. OPA also announced. Last month the district's allotment was 12.

The remaining number of new 1942 automobiles available for rationing throughout the nation has dwindled to approximately 10,000.

with a $17 donation. Meade school gave $12 and the Lincoln school gave $10.50.

Five dollar contributions were received from the following: R. C. Spangler, Mrs. Edward Gouker, Mrs. Alma Bowman, William Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Spangler, Norton C. Miller, Miss Carrie E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Oyler, J. Price Oyler, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cromer, Mrs. Rudolph Rosenstengel, Miss MacBelle Hereter, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Shetter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Young, Mrs. J. I. MAROON QUINT
CLOSES SEASON
WITH 11TH WIN

Gettysburg high school's basketball team ended a successful season Thursday evening by crushing the Maryland State school for Deaf at Frederick 35-20.

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Maroons and gave them a record of 11 victories against five setbacks for the campaign.

At no time were Coach Bream's lads in trouble as they took the lead in the first period and maintained a wide lead until the finish.

With Ogden, Heintzelman and Gorman looping goals in the first quarter and Fidler contributing a foul, the Maroons got off to an 8-2 lead in the first period. A goal by Bankart was the only score for the Silents.

Ogden and Gorman set the pace in the second quarter to send Gettysburg out in front 21-7 at half time. The tight Maroon defense permitted but a pair of goals by Bankart and a foul loss by Sahm during the round.

After piling up a 30-9 lead at the end of the third period, the Maroons found themselves outscored in the final period when Coach Bream inserted his reserves. Sahm landed a trio of goals and a foul in the last period for the Marylanders.

Of the 11 players used by Coach Bream in the contest, but two will be back for next season. They are George Gorman and Dick Heintzelman, forwards, both of whom are juniors.

A "Service of Remembrance" for Lt. Willie E. March, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. David March, Gettysburg, Pa., who died February 7 in France from wounds received in action, will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at Trinity-Bender's Evangelical Reformed church, Biglerville, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Nevin R. Frantz. Lt. March was confirmed as a member of the church.

TROJANS RALLY TO DOWN WEST
YORK HI 56-35

Staging a big second half rally after being completely outplayed in the first half, the Chambersburg high Trojans laced West York high 56-35 on the Gettysburg college court Tuesday evening before approximately 1,000 fans in a District 3 PIAA semi-final contest.

Coach Beard's Trojans looked like anything but champions in the first half when the scrappy and small West York outfit played them off their feet, leading midway in the second period 16-6.

Late in the second period Chambersburg began to show the form expected of them and three goals by Joe Howard and two by C. Lesher pared the West York lead to 18-16 at half time.

Chambersburg quickly took over the lead in the third period and was never in danger thereafter. M. Lesher landed a deep shot which was followed by a pair of fouls by Howard and a goal by Palmer. Shelton looped a pair of fouls for the York countians and then the Trojans poured six straight goals through the hoop before Shelton netted two in a row for West York. At the close of the third quarter Chambersburg led 37-24.

The Trojans showed their best form in the last period and scored almost at will.

Chambersburg, heavily favored and apparently confident at the start, was given a rude surprise by the speedy play of the York outfit. After Palmer had placed the Franklin countians in front with a long shot after a minute of play, Zuver netted a short chuck after Leib missed a foul. Brown looped a one-hander and Zuver netted a short toss to send West York ahead 6-2 after three and a half minutes. Chambersburg missed shot after shot under the hoop and were considerably troubled with West York's zone defense and fast breaking offense. The first period ended 14-6.

West York Fades

Shortly after the second period got under way Brown netted a goal and it took four minutes before Howard landed a one-hander for Chambersburg. The Trojans then began to click and were soon on their way to victory.

Columbia high, Lancaster county representative, pulled a big surprise by nosing out Steelton, Central Penn. local titlists, 41-39 Tuesday evening. The Trojans and Columbia will meet here tonight for the district title, now held by Chambersburg.

ROTARIANS HEAR
GEORGE B. COBB

George B. Cobb, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children, spoke of the work of that organization at the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club held Monday evening at the YWCA.

He included in his talk a review of the work the Rotary clubs have done to aid crippled children and also of the work now being done in the public schools under the direction of instructors of special education.

Mr. Cobb showed colored motion pictures which recorded a summer's activities at the camp sponsored each year by the society for crippled children of all races, colors and creeds.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Rasmus S. Saby, club chairman of crippled children's work. Miss Dorothy Warner, supervisor of special education in the county schools was introduced as a special guest by Prof. J. Floyd Shybaugh, county superintendent of schools and a Rotarian.

President Walter T. Africa presided at the session with 40 members and the three guests, including Rotarian Thomas McSherry, Littlestown, in attendance.

G-burg Soldier Sees
Yanks Cross Rhine

Neuss, Germany, March 3—Richard Pendleton, Brookville, a., and Corporal Donald Howe, of Gettysburg, Pa., were in the front line observation post overlooking the "battle of the bridges" at Neuss where the First American troops crossed the Rhine Friday, Hal Boyle Associated Press war correspondent reported.

WINS BRONZE STAR MEDAL

Pfc. Walter E. Alwine, 26, of the Medical Department, United States Army, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for his heroic work in evacuating wounded during the fighting on Leyte, Philippine Islands, in December, according to information received by his father, Edward Alwine, Abbottstown.

The Bronze Star awarded by the commanding general of an infantry division, was accompanied by a citation which explained that the decoration had been given "for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Leyte" on December 9 and 20. Pfc. Alwine's actions throughout the entire campaign reflected the highest standards of the Medical Department, according to the citation.

The acts of valor performed by the Abbottstown hero were undertaken voluntarily and without regard for his own safety. He went forward repeatedly to evacuate casualties, the citation reveals, accomplishing the missions under heavy enemy small arms fire.

The first of the two acts of valor for which Pfc. Alwine has been cited occurred on December 9 as night was falling. Pfc. Alwine with other members of his squad went forward to evacuate a seriously wounded soldier.

Eleven days later, he went forward through swamp, sniper-infested terrain to evacuate a casualty to the collecting station for much needed medical treatment.

Pfc. Alwine, former employee of the Harry E. Landis feed store, Abbottstown, has been in the army for three years, has been overseas for one. He entered the service in February, 1942, and trained at Camp Wheeler, Ga., Camp Edwards, Mass., Camp Pickett, Va., and Fort Dix, N. J.

The Medical Corps man left the United States last March. He went first to Oahu, Hawaii and then to Guam and Leyte.

Council Adopts

grades satisfactorily without involving a step in front of the Grenoble Gift shop, council found. The matter finally was left in the hands of the highway committee headed by Joseph D. Kendeheart to work out a solution.

Council authorized the purchase of new fog nozzles, clamps, lights and other equipment for the fire company up to a cost of $350. An itemized list of the articles needed was submitted by Councilman George D. March.

Council also authorized the purchase of a truckload of tar for street patching purposes; the purchase of steel at the old price from John S. Treter and Sons and the purchase of a carload of sand for use at the sewage disposal plant.

Report on Buford Ave.

Borough Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert was excused "for bonding purposes" from the collection of approximately $3,000 in real estate and occupational levies but the action does not exonerate him of the collection of the taxes or end the taxpayers' liability. Weikert will be required to give a new bond to cover the amounts unpaid.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner reported on measurements and observations he made on the Buford avenue flood control project. A proposal from Councilman Fred A. Hummelbaugh for a temporary means of reducing the flood hazard was referred to the sewer committee for study and action. A state highway department representative is expected to come to Gettysburg this week, council was told, for a conference with Solicitor E. V. Bullen on highway drainage problems involved in the project. It was also indicated that the Reading railroad who may be involved by reason of the elevation on which its tracks cross the avenue, forming a barrier to natural drainage of the area.

D. E. Hess appeared before council to inquire about the improvement of Reservoir street near his residence and beyond, telling council that the street is washing badly and covering the stone surface on Locust street below their intersection. He was told that council expects to grade Reservoir street as soon as we can get to it and indicated that may be "this summer." Ground to be removed from Reservoir street to be used in grading the extension of Hay street, it was explained.

No Report on Police Car

The finance committee was authorized to have the borough treasurer's bond altered so that it covers war bonds kept in the borough box at the bank.

With Chairman L. D. Shender, property committee chairman, absent, there was no report on progress being made on the plans to repair the town police car or buy a new one.

The monthly report of the business showed $2 collected in building permit fees, $12 in fines and $167.34 in "theater licenses."

Reevey State Funds

Treasurer John H. Baschore's monthly report showed the borough closed February business with a balance of $5,624 in the general fund after paying bills totaling $2,419.

He also announced the town has not received $1,475 from the state as a refund on beer and liquor licenses expired locally by the state.

President H. M. Oyler presided at the meeting which got underway about 7:50 o'clock after eating 20

MRS. GIFFORD
NEW HEAD OF
WOMEN'S UNIT

The appointment of Mrs. Roy W. Gifford as the new chairman of the women's division of the Adams County War Finance committee to succeed Mrs. Henry T. Bream, who resigned in January, was announced Wednesday by Edmund W. Thomas, county War Finance chairman.

Mrs. Gifford assumes the new position as leader of the county's women in future war bond drives with the background of her experience as co-chairman of the county community activities committee during the Fifth and Sixth bond drives. She shared the chairmanship of that group with Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville.

Mr. Thomas said Mrs. Gifford's position as co-chairman of the community activities committee is to be filled soon. Other appointments are to be made soon in other divisions of the county war finance committee also. Mr. Thomas announced.

7th Drive Opens May 14

Mrs. Bream, whom Mrs. Gifford succeeded, had been active in bond drive work since the inception of the county organization and had headed the women's division of the war bond campaign organization from the Second drive through the Sixth war bond campaign which ended December 31, 1941. Women's bond sales increased in each successive campaign until the sixth when bond totaling more than $509,000 were sold by members of the women's division of the war bond organization.

Mrs. Bream resigned January 26 and on February 1 took up her duties as a visitor at the county office of the Public Assistance Board.

The Seventh War Loan drive will open May 14 and continue through June 30. The national quota for that drive is $14,000,000,000, the same as the Sixth War Loan campaign although the quota for sales to individuals has been increased. The county quota for the forthcoming drive has not been announced.

Sara Jane Maust was installed as new president of the organization. Other new officers installed were Anne Bracey, vice president; Jean Spangler, secretary; and Mary Bittinger, treasurer.

The club voted a $5 donation to the Youth Center, a $10 donation to the Red Cross War Fund, and raised its pledge to the YWCA to $100. The $25 increase voted at the meeting was specified to be used for the repair of chairs in the "Y." The club also voted to purchase a $25 war bond to be used toward the purchase of new furniture for the "Y," and another $100 war bond for the association's treasury.

LIONS LEADER TO VISIT HERE

District Governor Lewis S. Knepper, of Huntingdon, will pay his official visit to the Gettysburg Lions club next Monday evening, it was announced at the club's weekly dinner meeting Monday. Farmers' Night will be observed with Clarence J. Waybright in charge of the program.

President J. Milton Bender named the club's community betterment committee headed by A. E. Hutchison to direct the club's participation in a community-wide collection of clothing for European war refugees in which all service clubs of the town have been asked to take part.

D. E. Hess was in charge of the program. He spoke of the development of the soil conservation service as a permanent bureau in the U. S. Department of Agriculture and showed a film titled "For Years to Come." The picture depicts modern farming methods for erosion control. The picture has been shown widely in this country and abroad and was made in York county.

President Bender presided with about 40 members and guests in attendance. Guests included Daniel J. Wolff, J. William Kendeheart, Jr., and Sidney Shade, of Gettysburg, and James Brown, of Frederick.

Boy Treated For Accident Injuries

James McClell, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClell, of York, was treated at the Warner hospital Sunday afternoon for nose injuries received when the car in which he was riding overturned along the side of the Lincoln highway about two and a half miles west of New Oxford.

State police from the local substation reported Monday that the car was driven by the lad's father. The car overturned after McClell lost control as the machine struck the soft berm on the south side of the road. He was driving the third of three cars and pulled out to pass the other two about the same time that car number two pulled to the left to pass the first machine.

Damage to McClell's car, which rolled over on its top, was estimated at about $75. No charges were brought.

The local soldier was wounded in action last August 7 and returned to active duty with his outfit in October after undergoing treatment in a hospital in England. He went into France with the invading forces on D-day.

Papers Are Filed In Two Estates

A petition for letters was filed by Paul A. Kinsey, Gettysburg, in the estate of his son, Lt. Harold J. Kinsey, who was killed in an airplane crash at Tondah Field, Fla., January 27.

A petition for letters was filed by 3 children of the late Annie E. McKesell, of Germany township, who left an estate estimated at $19,700. The children are Naomi M. Messinger, Herman E. McKesell and Norman A. McKesell, all with Hanover, R. D. addresses. The personal property in the estate was valued at $17,500 and the real estate, which consists of two lots improved with a two and a half story frame house along the east side of the Littlestown-Westminster road in Germany township, at $2,200.

For Mares Sherman

Mares Sherman, proprietor of Sherman's Clothing store, York street, Monday celebrated his twentieth anniversary in the clothing business.

He opened his first shop on the east side of Baltimore street on March 5, 1925, and continued in that location for about a year when he moved to a shop on the west side of Baltimore street. He has been in his present location on York street for the past 17 years.

Mr. Sherman has been prominent in civic affairs and retired this year as president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce after serving for three consecutive terms.

The petition listed the value of his estate at $100 with no real estate.

File Discharges

Two honorable discharges, one from the United States Navy and the other from the United States Marines, were filed Saturday at office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner.

The Navy discharge was for Jesse Nicholas Sanders, who served as a fireman first class. He was released from the service February 24 at the United States Naval hospital at Portsmouth, Va. He enlisted as an apprentice seaman at Harrisburg January 4, 1944, and served at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, a Philadelphia station, and also was stationed at a Navy base hospital and Navy fleet hospital before being discharged.

The discharged Marine is Willard Clifford Weikert, a veteran of the battle for New Georgia Island in the British Solomon Islands in the South Pacific. Weikert served as a corporal and was released for medical reasons. Weikert enlisted January 2, 1942, at Philadelphia, and was discharged February 22. He served in the southwest Pacific from January 28, 1943, to October 7, 1944, and was in the British Solomons from September 8, 1943, to February 13, 1944. He was promoted to a private first class September 30, 1942, and to corporal June 16, 1943.

TIMES CARRIERS
STAMPS IN DRIVE

Sixteen carrier boys and girls for The Gettysburg Times have sold a total of 31,927 War savings stamps during the first two weeks of their campaign to sell enough to purchase a "water weasel" or swamp-going jeep for the United States Army.

The carriers must sell a total of 48,150 stamps during the 12-week period ending May 12 for the purchase of every water weasel they wish to sponsor. Thus if they sell 240,750 stamps, the carriers would be sponsoring five of the combination vehicles which are much needed by the army troops in Japan and in the Pacific Islands.

The new stamp sales by the carriers brought the grand total sold since the start of the War Stamp savings program by the Government to 3,798,760.

Sales Records
In the present campaign, when the quota is reached, each of the carriers will receive a shoulder patch emblem bearing the picture of a "water weasel" and a transfer stamp bearing the inscription, "From the carriers of The Gettysburg Times," will be placed on each of the jeeps purchased through stamp sales by the newsboys and girls.

Sales by the "Water Weasel U. S. Defense Agents" in Gettysburg were as follows:

Robert Fox, 874; Donald Menges, 11,920; Mark Sanders, 752; Ray Breighner, 2,589; Donald Weaver, 850; Robert Sanders, 1,109; and Robert Moser, 1,383.

Other carrier sales were as follows: Harold Kennedy, York Springs, 400; Charles Sitt, New Chester, 900; George Staub, Beechertown, 250; Dale Ecker, Heidlersburg, 350; Lloyd K. Vaughn, Harney, 100; James Bucher, Aspers, 8,175; Robert Smyers, Idaville, 100; Dorothy Howe, Benderville, 650; and Daniel Bushman, Arendtsville, 1,025.

ARMY STUDENTS
END TRAINING AT COLLEGE TODAY

Student training for the 139 members of the Army Air Corps enlisted reserve stationed at Gettysburg college ended officially at noon Saturday as that program came to a halt under orders from the war department.

Each of the enlisted reservists received his certificate for completion of the nine-months course and academic transcripts in special graduation exercises held Friday morning at Brua chapel on the college campus.

Lt. Col. Frank E. Sharpless, commandant of the reserve unit and head of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the college, presided at the graduation and presented the young men with their certificates. In addition to his short talk, remarks were made also by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president. The invocation was given by Prof. G. Saylor Warthen. The program closed with the singing by the detachment of the Air Corps song.

Turn In Equipment
Friday afternoon and Saturday morning were given over to checking of equipment and completion of transportation arrangements. Forty-eight of the class have received orders to report for active duty at the completion of furloughs at their homes. The remainder of the group will return to their homes to await a call to active duty. Colonel Sharpless said that all of the unit will be ordered to report by June.

The entire unit and members of the college faculty attended a farewell dinner Thursday night at Huber hall. Capt. Frank A. Conway, a member of the military staff at the college, acted as toastmaster. Doctor Hanson made the opening remarks and Colonel Sharpless also spoke. Dr. Richard A. Arms, coordinator of the military and civilian programs at the college, was unable to be present, and a letter from him was read to the group.

Following the dinner the reserve students presented a program of stunts, skits, poems and songs. A portion of the program was given over to "lamppooning" the faculty and the features of the training which the students did not like.

Student Program
Pvt. Charles L. Harrington, of Marion, Va., served as master of ceremonies. "The Beaver Song" was presented by Pts. Rowland D. Duzby, of Allentown; James P. Gahagan, of Baltimore, and Charles E. Halloran, of Washington, D. C.

Other parts of the program included the following: "Little Remembrances to the Faculty," by Private Harrington; "The Last Will of the 333rd SCU, ASTU," by Pvt. William H. Becker, York; a poem, "The Staff," by Pvt. Nevil R. Hansen, Reading; "The Unfinished Symphony," by Pvt. Ralph G. Davis, DeYoung; and a summary of the ASTU by Pts. Joseph F. DeNardi, Baltimore; Robert E. Kiscadden, Lebanon, and William H. Standford, Havre de Grace, Md.

Farewell Dance
The "Voice of Company C," by Pvt. Thomas J. Haag, Philadelphia; "The Voice of Company B," by Pvt. Joseph L. Prater, Marion, Va.; "The Voice of Company A," by Pvt. Larry H. Jackson, and "The Girl of My Dreams," by Pts. Frank R. Chaffin, Midland; Jackson; William H. Martin, Norfolk, Va., and Richard L. Pryor, Salisbury, Md.

The program closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and the Air Corps song. Pvt. Richard F. Rossbauer, of Andulcia, played the piano and Pvt. Peter G. Jordanoff, of Steelton, played the drums. Pts. Julian C. Harvey, Lynchburg, Va., and Bertrand H. Stephenson, of Palmyra, Va., were in charge of the lights.

Following the dinner and program, a dance was held in the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium. Music was furnished by Bill Jones' orchestra.

NEW CAR QUOTA
There will be a grand total of 14 new passenger cars for rationing in this 10-county area during March, OPA also announced. Last month the district's allotment was 12.

The remaining number of new 1942 automobiles available for rationing throughout the nation has dwindled to approximately 10,000.

ROTARIANS HEAR
GEORGE B. COBB

George B. Cobb, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Society for Crippled Children, spoke of the work of that organization at the regular weekly meeting of the Gettysburg Rotary club held Monday evening at the YWCA.

He included in his talk a review of the work the Rotary clubs have done to aid crippled children and also of the work now being done in the public schools under the direction of instructors of special education.

Mr. Cobb showed colored motion pictures which recorded a summer's activities at the camp sponsored each year by the society for crippled children of all races, colors and creeds.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Rasmus S. Baby, club chairman of crippled children's work. Miss Dorothy Warner, supervisor of special education in the county schools was introduced as a special guest by Prof. J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools and a Rotarian.

President Walter T. Africa presided at the session with 40 members and the three guests, including Rotarian Thomas McSherry, Littlestown, in attendance.

MRS. GIFFORD
NEW HEAD OF
WOMEN'S UNIT

The appointment of Mrs. Roy W. Gifford as the new chairman of the women's division of the Adams County War Finance committee to succeed Mrs. Henry T. Bream, who resigned in January, was announced Wednesday by Edmund W. Thomas, county War Finance chairman.

Mrs. Gifford assumes the new position as leader of the county's women in future war bond drives with the background of her experience as co-chairman of the county community activities committee during the Fifth and Sixth bond drives. She shared the chairmanship of that group with Leighton C. Taylor, of Benderville.

Mr. Thomas said Mrs. Gifford's position as co-chairman of the community activities committee is to be filled soon. Other appointments are to be made soon in other divisions of the county war finance committee also. Mr. Thomas announced.

7th Drive Opens May 14
Mrs. Bream, whom Mrs. Gifford succeeds, had been active in bond drive work since the inception of the county organization and had headed the women's division of the war bond campaign organization from the Second drive through the Sixth war bond campaign which ended December 31, 1944. Women's bond sales increased in each successive campaign until the sixth when bonds totaling more than $500,000 were sold by members of the women's division of the war bond organization.

Mrs. Bream resigned January 26 and on February 1 took up her duties as a visitor at the county office of the Public Assistance Board.

The Seventh War Loan drive will open May 14 and continue through June 30. The national quota for that drive is $14,000,000,000, the same as the Sixth War Loan campaign although the quota for sales to individuals has been increased. The county quota for the forthcoming drive has not been announced.

AUTO RECOVERED

State police from the local substation announced Monday that an automobile reported stolen Saturday night from Dr. Ira M. Henderson, of Fairfield, was recovered in Gettysburg Sunday afternoon.

G-burg Soldier Sees
Yanks Cross Rhine

Neuss, Germany, March 3—Richard Pendleton, Brookville, a., and Corporal Donald Howe, of Gettysburg, Pa., were in the frontline observation post overlooking the "Battle of the bridges" at Neuss where the First American troops crossed the Rhine Friday, Hal Boyle Associated Press war correspondent reported.

grades satisfactorily without involving a step in front of the Grenoble Gift shop, council found. The matter finally was left in the hands of the highway committee headed by Joseph D. Kendeheart to work out a solution.

Council authorized the purchase of new for nozzles, clamps, lights and other equipment for the fire company up to a cost of $350. An itemized list of the articles needed was submitted by Councilman George D. March.

Council also authorized the purchase of a truckload of tar for street patching purposes; the purchase of stone at the old price from John S. Teeter and Sons and the procurement of a carload of sand for use at the sewage disposal plant.

Report on Buford Ave.

Borough Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert, was excused "for bonding purposes" from the collection of approximately $3,000 in real estate and occupational levies but the action does not exonerate him of the collection of the taxes or end the taxpayers' liability. Weikert will be required to give a new bond to cover the amounts unpaid.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner reported on measurements and observations he made on the Buford avenue flood control project. A proposal from Councilman Fred A. Hummelbaugh for a temporary means of reducing the flood hazard was referred to the sewer committee for study and action. A state highway department representative is expected to come to Gettysburg this week, council was told, for a conference with Solicitor E. V. Bullett on highway drainage problems involved in the project. It was also indicated that the Reading railroad also may be involved by reason of the elevation on which its tracks cross the avenue, forming a barrier to natural drainage of the area.

D. E. Hess appeared before council to inquire about the improvement of Reservoir street near his residence and beyond, telling council that the street is washing badly and covering the stone surface on Locust street below their intersection. He was told that council expects to grade Reservoir street as soon as we can get to it and indicated that may be "this summer." Ground to be removed from Reservoir street is to be used in grading the extension of Hay street. It was explained.

No Report on Police Car
The finance committee was authorized to have the borough treasurer's bond altered so that it covers war bonds kept in the borough lock box at the bank.

With Chairman L. D. Shearer, property committee chairman, absent, there was no report on progress being made on the plans to repair the town police car or buy a new one.

The monthly report of the burgess showed $2 collected in building permit fees, $12 in fines and $467.34 in theater licenses.

Receive State Funds

Treasurer John H. Basenore's monthly report showed the borough closed February business with a balance of $5,624 in the general fund after paying bills totaling $2,419.

He also announced the town has just received $1,475 from the state as a refund on beer and liquor licenses issued locally by the state.

WINS BRONZE
STAR MEDAL

Pfc. Walter E. Alwine, 26, of the Medical Department, United States Army, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for his heroic work in evacuating wounded during the fighting on Leyte, Philippine Islands, in December, according to information received by his father, Edward Alwine, Abbottstown.

The Bronze Star awarded by the commanding general of an infantry division, was accompanied by a citation which explained that the decoration had been given "for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against the enemy on Leyte" on December 9 and 20. Pfc. Alwine's actions throughout the entire campaign reflected the highest standards of the Medical department, according to the citation.

The acts of valor performed by the Abbottstown hero were undertaken voluntarily and without regard for his own safety. He went forward repeatedly to evacuate casualties, the citation reveals, accomplishing the missions under heavy enemy small arms fire.

The first of the two acts of valor for which Pfc. Alwine has been cited occurred on December 9 as night was falling. Pfc. Alwine with other members of his squad went forward to evacuate a seriously wounded soldier.

Eleven days later, he went forward through swamp, sniper-infested terrain to evacuate a casualty to the collecting station for much needed medical treatment.

Pfc. Alwine, former employee of the Harry E. Landis feed store, Abbottstown, has been in the army for three years, has been overseas for one. He entered the service in February, 1942, and trained at Camp Wheeler, Ga.; Camp Edwards, Mass.; Camp Pickett, Va., and Fort Dix, N. J.

The Medical Corps man left the United States last March. He went first to Oahu, Hawaii and then to Guam and Leyte.

Gregory Redding
Promoted At Front

Gregory M. Redding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Redding, Gettysburg, who is serving in Germany, has been promoted in the field from a private first class to sergeant, his parents learned in a letter from their son.

He also wrote his parents that his battalion had been awarded the presidential citation with two oak leaf clusters. Sergeant Redding is serving with the First Army. He was assigned to that unit after going overseas.

MAROON QUINT
WITH 11TH WIN

Gettysburg high school's basketball team ended a successful season Thursday evening by crushing the Maryland State school for Deaf at Frederick 35-20.

The victory was the sixth in a row for the Maroons and gave them a record of 11 victories against five setbacks for the campaign.

At no time were Coach Bream's lads in trouble as they took the lead in the first period and maintained a wide lead until the finish.

With Ogden, Heintzelman and Gorman looping goals in the first quarter and Fidler contributing a foul, the Maroons got off to an 8-2 lead in the first period. A goal by Bankart was the only score for the Silences.

Ogden and Gorman set the pace in the second quarter to send Gettysburg out in front 21-7 at half time. The tight Maroon defense permitted but a pair of goals by Bankart and a foul toss by Sahn during the round.

After piling up a 30-9 lead at the end of the third period, the Maroons found themselves outscored in the final period when Coach Bream inserted his reserves, Sahn landed a trio of goals and a foul in the last period for the Marylanders.

Of the 11 players used by Coach Bream in the contest, but two will be back for next season. They are George Gorman and Dick Heintzelman, forwards, both of whom are juniors.

LIONS LEADER
TO VISIT HERE

District Governor Lewis S. Knepper, of Huntingdon, will pay his official visit to the Gettysburg Lions club next Monday evening. It was announced at the club's weekly dinner meeting Monday. Farmers' Night will be observed with Clarence J. Waybright in charge of the program.

President J. Milton Bender named the club's community betterment committee headed by A. E. Hutchison to direct the club's participation in a community-wide collection of clothing for European war refugees in which all service clubs of the town have been asked to take part.

D. E. Hess was in charge of the program. He spoke of the development of the soil conservation service as a permanent bureau in the U. S. Department of Agriculture and showed a film titled "For Years to Come." The picture depicts modern farming methods for erosion control. The picture has been shown widely in this country and abroad and was made in York county.

President Bender presided with about 40 members and guests in attendance. Guests included Daniel J. Wolff, J. William Kendeheart, Jr., and Sidney Shade, of Gettysburg, and James Brown, of Frederick.

Boy Treated For
Accident Injuries

James McClellan, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClellan, of York, was treated at the Warner hospital Sunday afternoon for nose injuries received when the car in which he was riding overturned along the side of the Lincoln highway about two and a half miles west of New Oxford.

State police from the local substation reported Monday that the car was driven by the lad's father. The car overturned after McClellan lost control as the machine struck the soft berm on the south side of the road. He was driving the third of three cars and pulled out to pass the other two about the same time that car number two pulled to the left to pass the first machine.

Damage to McClellan's car, which rolled over on its top, was estimated at about $75. No charges were brought.

HOSPITAL REPORT
Edgar Riegle, Arendtsville; Mrs. Guy Cutchall, Biglerville; Charles Sterner, Stevens street, and Mrs. Melvin Cool, Biglerville R. 1, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were George D. Reynolds, Emmitsburg; Joanne Weiner, Gettysburg; R. 1, Mrs. Chetwood Rae, Fairfield, and Mrs. Elizabeth Nelson, York Springs.

20th Anniversary
For Mares Sherman

Mares Sherman, proprietor of Sherman's Clothing store, York street, Monday celebrated his twentieth anniversary in the clothing business.

He opened his first shop on the east side of Baltimore street on March 5, 1925, and continued in that location for about a year when he moved to a shop on the west side of Baltimore street. He has been in his present location on York street for the past 17 years.

Mr. Sherman has been prominent in civic affairs and retired this year as president of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce after serving for three consecutive terms.

TROJANS RALLY
TO DOWN WEST
YORK HI 56-35

Staging a big second half rally after being completely outplayed in the first half, the Chambersburg high Trojans laced West York high 56-35 on the Gettysburg college court Tuesday evening before approximately 1,000 fans in a District 3 PIAA semi-final contest.

Coach Beard's Trojans looked like anything but champions in the first half when the scrappy and small West York outfit played them off their feet, leading midway in the second period 16-6.

Late in the second period Chambersburg began to show the form expected of them and three goals by Joe Howard and two by C. Lesher pared the West York lead to 18-16 at half time.

Chambersburg quickly took over the lead in the third period and was never in danger thereafter. M. Lesher landed a peep shot which was followed by a pair of fouls by Howard and a goal by Palmer. Shelton looped a pair of fouls for the York countians and then the Trojans poured six straight goals through the hoop before Shelton netted two in a row for West York. At the close of the third quarter Chambersburg led 37-24.

The Trojans showed their best form in the last period and scored almost at will.

Chambersburg, heavily favored and apparently confident at the start, was given a rude surprise by the speedy play of the York outfit. After Palmer had placed the Franklin countians in front with a long shot after a minute of play, Zuber netted a short chuck after Leib missed a foul. Brown looped a one-hander and Zuber netted a short toss to send West York ahead 6-2 after three and a half minutes. Chambersburg missed shot after shot under the hoop and were considerably troubled with West York's zone defense and fast breaking offense. The first period ended 14-6.

West York Fades
Shortly after the second period got under way Brown netted a goal and it took four minutes before Howard landed a one-hander for Chambersburg. The Trojans then began to click and were soon on their way to victory.

Columbia high, Lancaster county representative, pulled a big surprise by nosing out Steelton, Central Penn loop tilts, 41-39 Tuesday evening. The Trojans and Columbia will meet here tonight for the district title, now held by Chambersburg.

GENE HERTZ PIRES AFTER HOOTING SELF T SCHOOL HERE

Eugene Hertz, 16-year-old pupil in the eighth grade at the main school building, died yesterday afternoon at 1:05 in Warner hospital from a bullet wound in the head which was self-inflicted.

Investigation showed the boy shot himself at 11:15 Thursday morning in the second floor hall at Lincoln school.

The boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, Baltimore, Md., did not regain consciousness after the shooting. He was a dying condition when he reached the hospital where physicians said there was no chance he could survive the wound.

The youth used a small .22 caliber revolver to inflict a wound above his right ear, police said.

The slug apparently was lodged somewhere in the brain. X-rays were being taken at the time to determine the location of the bullet.

Walked From Classroom

ough Officer Charles W. Culp, and a member of the local sub-unit of the state police, who investigated, reported that the youth had walked from his desk during the period being conducted by Miss H. J. Boyer and walked to the rear of the classroom door, young pulled the small, fully loaded revolver from his pocket, raised it to his head and pulled the trigger. An explosion of the cartridge was plainly in Miss Boyer's and the classrooms, the police reported.

C. Harold Johnson was called to the ordered the youth removed to hospital by ambulance. Hertz, consciousness at the time the entered his head and remained that condition after reaching hospital. Physicians said it was impossible to operate while he remained in that condition.

Had Made Threats

their investigation, police were able to find any motive for the attempt. The youth was red, however, as having been dislodged because a number of his friends were in the service and he was unable to join. Pupils at school reported that Hertz had made several threats to commit suicide during the past few days, that the matter was taken by the manner of a joke.

older brother, William H. Hertz, seaman first class in the Navy, reported as missing in action in the Navy Department in a letter received March 1.

DONALD DAME IS CONCERT ARTIST FOR MARCH 21

Donald Dame, young American tenor of the Metropolitan Opera association and noted star of radio, will present the third and last of the winter's series of programs of the Gettysburg Concert association Wednesday, March 21, in Brua Chapel on the Gettysburg college campus.

Dame made his first Metropolitan appearance singing the role of Laerte in the revival of Ambrose Thomas' "Mignon," and achieved, according to the New York Sun's reviewer, "a debut which can be accorded the critical accolade." A concert a few months later in New York's Town Hall was rated by the New York Times as "one of the most entertaining recitals of the season—a masterpiece of canny programming and intelligent singing."

He appeared as Nathaniel in "Tales of Hoffman" last season at the Metropolitan. Dame is at present reading several tenor roles for performance at the Metropolitan. He also is filling a cross-country concert tour which includes solo recitals and appearances with five symphony orchestras and more than 300 concerts as a member of the Columbia All-Star Opera Quartet.

Trained in America

Dame is regularly heard on the "Music for an Hour" radio program and also has appeared as a guest on such shows as Columbia's "To Your Good Health," "Invitation to Music," "Columbia Presents," NBC's "Telephone Hour," the "Schaefer Review," "Salute to Youth" and a number of other programs.

The singer is a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and received all of his training and experience in the United States at the hands of American teachers. He began his vocal studies when he was 14 years old under a Cleveland teacher, William Wheeler. Later, Dame won a vocal scholarship to Western Reserve university. He went to New York after his graduation and won another scholarship to the Institute of Musical Art at the Juillard school.

He is 27 and betrays his appearance with the Metropolitan sang with a number of symphony orchestras, the New York Oratoria society and a number of other prominent musical organizations.

S. Sgt. Earl Swope Jr., 22, husband of Mrs. Pauline (Dubs) Swope, Gettysburg R. 2, was killed in action December 17 in Belgium, according to a War Department telegram received Wednesday by his wife.

Mrs. Swope had received a telegram January 17 informing her that her husband had been reported missing in action in Belgium since December 17.

The slain soldier entered the service December 7, 1942, and trained at Camp Van Dorn, Miss. He took part in maneuvers in Louisiana and then went to Camp Maxey, Texas, before going overseas last October. He held the expert infantryman's badge and served with the First Army.

Prior to his induction Sgt. Swope was employed by the York State and Lock company and at the Mechanicsburg Naval Depot.

Wounded At Manila

Mrs. O. P. House, Bendersville, has received word from the War department that her grandson, Sgt. Richard M. House, 20, formerly of Bendersville, was wounded in action February 8 during the invasion of Manila. He served in a paratroop regiment.

Sergeant House is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. House, formerly of Bendersville, now residing in Mechanicsburg.

He entered service in March, 1943, and received his boots and wings at Camp McCall, North Carolina, in June, 1943. He has served in the South Pacific since March, 1944. He fought with the 511th Parachute Regiment which participated in the capture of Nichols Field on Luzon the day House was wounded.

He is a graduate of Biglerville high school and before induction was a member of the freshman class at the Dickinson law school at Carlisle.

TRINITY BOARD JOINS LIBRARY

Twenty-two members of the church school board of Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church met at the church following Lenten services Wednesday evening. The group voted to take a charter membership in the Adams County Free Library association and made a contribution of $10 to the Red Cross.

John D. Eckert, adult superintendent, reported meetings are being held looking toward the organization of a Men's brotherhood. T. J. Winebrenner, membership chairman, reported an average attendance of 70 per cent in February. Miss Alice Snyder, stewardship chairman, said 40 members of the school had enrolled in the Fellowship of Compassion, pledging a contribution of at least 25 cents per month toward work for war victims.

The board agreed to continue its practice of paying the registration fee for any member who wishes to attend summer camp. The matter of scholarships for this purpose was postponed for further study. The Rev. Mr. H. S. Fox stated that eight members are enrolled in the Catechetical class and would become church members at Easter. A guest at the session was Cpl. Clarence Nuss, a former member of the teaching staff, who wears two stars for participation in two battles and due to wounds received in action is now home on leave.

The next meeting will be held April 4 at the home of Mrs. Donald Fissel. Miss Carrie Ecker and Miss Marian Menchey served refreshments at the social hour which followed Wednesday's meeting.

EUGENE HERTZ EXPIRES AFTER SHOOTING SELF AT SCHOOL HERE

Eugene Hertz, 16-year-old pupil in the eighth grade at the Lincoln school building, died Thursday afternoon at 1:05 in the Warner hospital from a bullet wound in the head which police said was self-inflicted.

Investigation showed the boy shot himself at 11:15 Thursday morning in the second floor hallway at Lincoln school.

The boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hertz, Baltimore street, did not regain consciousness after the shooting. He was in a dying condition when he reached the hospital where physicians said there was no hope he could survive the wound.

The youth used a small .22 caliber revolver to inflict a wound directly above his right ear, police said. The slug apparently was lodged somewhere in the brain. X-ray pictures were being taken at noon to determine the location of the bullet.

Walked From Classroom

Borough Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., and a member of the local substation of the state police, who investigated, reported that the youth arose from his desk during study hall period being conducted by Miss Dorothy Boyer and walked to the hallway. As soon as he reached the outside of the classroom door, young Hertz pulled the small, fully-loaded revolver from his pocket, raised it to his head and pulled the trigger. The explosion of the cartridge was heard plainly in Miss Boyer's and other classrooms, the police reported.

Dr. C. Harold Johnson was called and he ordered the youth removed to the hospital by ambulance. Hertz lost consciousness at the time the shot entered his head and remained in that condition after reaching the hospital. Physicians said it would be impossible to operate while Hertz remained in that condition.

Had Made Threats

In their investigation, police were unable to find any motive for the suicide attempt. The youth was reported, however, as having been dissatisfied because a number of his friends were in the service and he had been unable to join. Pupils at the school reported that Hertz had made several threats to commit suicide during the past few days, but that the matter was taken by them in the manner of a joke.

An older brother, William L. Hertz, 28, a seaman first class in the Navy was reported as missing in action by the Navy Department in a telegram received March 1.

Ownership of the revolver which the lad used had not been traced Thursday afternoon. The parents said they had no idea where their son had secured the weapon.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, called into the case after the boy's death, began an immediate investigation.

RED CROSS FUND TOTALS SEVENTH OF $28,000 GOAL

A total of $4,413.82 was reported collected by Thursday as the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross began its eighth day of the 1945 War Fund drive to raise $28,000.

Thus, the county workers had reported only about one-seventh of the quota as the drive entered its second week. Campaign officials said, however, that only a few reports have been made by district canvassers in Gettysburg and there have been only one or two complete reports turned in from small outlying districts.

The officials asked that reports be turned in as soon as possible so that the drive may be ended by March 15 in compliance with requests from national headquarters. The slogan for the campaign this year is "Give now—give more" and a local slogan adopted many places is "Get It Over."

List New Donors

Leading the contributions Thursday was on of $52 from the employees of the Victor Products Corporation. Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Wickerham donated $50, while two $25 contributions also were received. They included gifts from Abe Harris and the United Telephone company of Pennsylvania.

Donations of $15 were given by Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bullett, Fred Faber and an anonymous contributor. Homer N. Young and Mrs. Augusta Morrow and daughters gave $10 each.

Five dollar contributions were listed from the following persons: Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Dorsey Dougherty, Miss Betty Diehl, Miss Martha C. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mehring, George M. Zerling, Miss Sara E. Mehring, Miss Thelma Warman, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Meals, Jack Cessna's Sunday school class at the Methodist church, Mrs. E. Blanche Minter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fidler, the Gettysburg News Agency, the Utz and Hoffman barber shop, the Schwartz Implement shop, Miss Gertrude Little, Miss N. Louise Ramer, Mrs. Anna B. Heintzelman, Miss Ruth A. Spangler, Samuel D. and Harry J. Rhine, and an anonymous giver.

RED CROSS WILL RECRUIT NURSES

Mrs. E. S. Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross, announced Thursday the appointment of Mrs. R. W. Gifford as recruitment nurse for the county chapter.

Any nurses interested in joining the Army or Navy Nurse Corps or who wish information on their eligibility for the armed forces are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Gifford. The American Red Cross has certified 9,841 registered nurses to the military for appointment during the period between January 8 and February 24, National Chairman Basil O'Connor has announced.

With the 9,841 referrals now at hand in the military, still fewer nurses will actually be given military appointments, O'Connor pointed out, because they may fail to pass the Army or Navy physical examination, or may not be available to the military immediately.

Voluntary response in the seven weeks since the President's appeal for nurses for the armed forces brought 13,700 applications to Red Cross recruitment committees, O'Connor said.

The total number of applications has diminished weekly, until a figure of 885 was reached the week ending February 24. Of the original group of applications, one-third still are being studied and evaluated because the nurses are not yet registered or are "problem cases."

Local WAC Donates Blood In France

Hq. U. S. Air Service Command in France—Pfc. Ruth N. Kitzmiller, of Gettysburg, is one of the hundreds of Air Service Command WAC's in France donating her blood to help G.I.'s battling on the front lines a short distance away.

Pfc. Kitzmiller has followed U. S. combat planes through two countries, with the job of helping to keep thousands of them in the air.

When the urgent need for blood was announced, the steps and hallways of the hospital were soon crowded with officers and enlisted men, signalmen, mechanics, drivers, clerks, WAC's, MP's—Americans, 6,000 miles from home, who still felt that they weren't doing enough.

Before nightfall, the hard-pressed Medics had planes loaded with 1,000 pints of whole blood for immediate transfusions.

Pfc. Kitzmiller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kitzmiller, of 300 West Middle street.

WIN CLASS B GAMES

Camp Hill high school defeated Greencastle 28-24 Wednesday evening in a Class B District 3 game at Carlisle. In another Class B tilt Susquehanna defeated Cornwall 44-29 at Hershey. Camp Hill and Susquehanna will clash for the district title at Steelton Saturday night.

Wounded

Pfc. Kenneth H. Darone, son of Mrs. Sadie Darone, East Berlin, who has been for the past month at the Oliver General hospital, in Georgia, under treatment for severe wounds received during the fighting on Leyte island, November 11, arrived during the week to spend some time at his mother's home.

Pfc. Darone was hospitalized overseas for two months due to a badly wounded foot and severe abdominal injuries. This is the first time he has visited his home since his induction in January, 1943. During his two years of service he fought in many critical battles in the south Pacific area.

He is a grandson of Mrs. Sadie Raffensperger, Arendtsville.

MEDICAL GROUP HEARS STEINER

Ten members and two guests attended the March meeting of the Adams County Medical society held Tuesday evening at the Nurses' home at the Warner hospital. Dr. Raymond Hale, vice president, presided in the absence of Dr. William Flickinger, president.

Harold Steiner, a member of the staff at the state experimental branch station of Penn State college at Arendtsville, spoke on "Commercial Spraying Research in Adams County as Related to the Medical Profession." He told of the effects of ingredients used in spraying in respect to skin burns, respiratory and stomach ailments.

The society was informed by the Pima County Medical association of Arizona that Dr. Raymond Oyler, formerly of Biglerville and a member of the Adams county society, has been accepted as a transfer member of that society.

Dr. C. Harold Johnson reported that the local society already strictly adheres to points advocated in a bill proposed by State Senator John J. Haluska which would require careful pre-operative physical checkups on all surgery patients, except in emergencies. Under the bill surgeons would be subject to a heavy fine in case of negligence in careful pre-operative checkups.

RODGERS FREED WITHOUT FINE

Aaron Albert Rodgers, alias Pete Rodgers, of near Hampton, was released from the county jail Thursday after serving a three-month term for selling malt beverages without a license.

He was sentenced to the prison term and also fined $200 and costs of the case last November 25 in the county court, but was released from the jail today without payment of the fine. Rodgers presented a petition to the court asking that he be freed without having to pay the fine because he was without funds.

The court certified the petition to the county commissioners who were given the authority to order the release of Rodgers if they were satisfied that he was without funds or property to pay the fine. The court also ordered that if such was the case, Rodgers was to be released without requiring compliance under the involuntary law.

The commissioners acted on the petition at their regular weekly meeting Wednesday and ordered Rodgers' release. John P. Butt, Esq., presented Rodgers' petition to the court.

Mrs. Griest Named As Vice President

Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, has been appointed vice chairman of the women's division of the Adams County War Finance committee, it was announced Thursday by Mrs. R. W. Gifford, who on Wednesday was named the new women's division chairman by Edmund W. Thomas, county war finance committee chairman.

Mrs. Griest, who succeeds Mrs. G. W. Lefevre, will assist Mrs. Gifford in directing the activities of the women's division of the county war bond committee during the forthcoming Seventh War loan campaign which will open in May.

NOW IN BELGIUM

Mrs. Carl Taylor, Bendersville, has received word her husband, Pvt. C. O. Taylor, is now in Belgium.

ALLISON TRACES PARK, CEMETERY ESTABLISHMENT

A history of the Gettysburg National Park and the Gettysburg National Military cemetery was presented in a talk by William H. Allison, National cemetery superintendent, to the monthly meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday night at the court house.

Dr. Henry Stewart, association president, presided at the session. Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh acted as secretary in the absence of Dr. Frank Clutz. Three presentations were made to the association. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street, presented the group with 13 photographs taken during the 1880's by his father, Levi Mumper. The pictures show construction of the Western Maryland railroad through Jack's mountain west of Fairfield.

The second gift was a book, "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," written by Edna Albert, an Adams county resident. The author resides near Gardners and laid her story in the northern part of the county. The book was presented by Joseph Arnold, of Dormont. P. K. Swartz, Carlisle street, presented the society with a copy of the original published edition of the digre used at the dedication of the National cemetery.

In his talk, Mr. Allison described the origin and growth first of the cemetery association, and then of the old Battlefield association. The move to construct the cemetery began a few days after the battle when the governor visited the field and found an estimated 10,000 dead and 21,000 wounded men of both armies.

In his talks with David Willis prominent local attorney, it was decided that Mr. Willis would act as agent for the state in the care of the wounded and the burying of the dead. The first move in the organization of a cemetery was the purchase of eight acres of land along the Baltimore pike, and eventually five tracts containing 17 acres in all, were acquired.

Thirty-four bids ranging from $1.59 to $8 were received from contractors for the disinterment of bodies from the many crude graves on the field. Work began on the transfer of the dead on October 26, 1863, and a total of 3,512 bodies were removed from the trenches and other temporary burial places until the work was completed in the spring of 1864.

Mr. Allison said that there now is a total of 3,841 persons buried in the National cemetery. That includes the dead of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars I and II as well as 26 wives of veterans. All of the Civil War dead in the semi-circle arrangements have been buried with their heads toward the center of the circle.

Traces Park History

Describing the battlefield park, Mr. Allison told how it was begun in 1864 when the Battlefield Memorial association was incorporated by the state. Several state appropriations for the purchase of battlefield land aided the organization in its purpose and then in 1895 Congress passed an act transferring the holdings of the Memorial association to the government.

It was after 1895 that the hard-surfaced roads were constructed on the field, he stated. The government erected the steel observation towers at five spots on the battleground in 1896. In 1898 West Confederate avenue was constructed and in 1900 East Confederate avenue was built. Other high spots in the field's history included the 50th Anniversary Reunion of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1913 when 55,000 veterans of both armies camped here and the establishment of Camp Cook, a tank training center, in 1917 on the ground over which Pickett's charge was made.

Dr. Stewart announced that the name of Homer Young had been omitted as a member of the county history committee when committee appointments were made at the February meeting.

He told the orchard men that one of the greatest needs in the orchards today, particularly for the older trees, is stepped-up fertilizer application. He also urged them to get rid of their old, low-producing trees and replace them with young good-producing stock.

Observes 25 Years As Church Pastor

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Rev. Ernest L. Pee as pastor of the First Lutheran church, Phillipsburg, will be celebrated at special services next Sunday morning and evening.

The Rev. Mr. Pee is a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran Theological seminary. His wife is the former Miss Ida Feiser, of New Oxford. Their daughter, Madolyn, is now a freshman at Gettysburg college.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Samuel Thomas, Gettysburg R. 1, was fined $5 and costs by Robert P. Snyder, justice of the peace, at a hearing Thursday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct. Borough Officers Clark Slayley and Charles Culp made the arrest Wednesday night.

CADET NURSE CAPPED

Miss Elizabeth Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Small, Baltimore street, was capped as a cadet nurse at Temple university hospital, Philadelphia, last Sunday following her nurse's probation period of six months. She was one of a class of 80 to receive caps. Her parents attended the exercises.

WLB Discovers And Defines 'Hula Girl'

Honolulu, (AP) — The barefooted girls who swirl through the romantic hula dance, overlooked up to now in the government's wage fixing program, have at last caught the eye of the War Labor Board.

The WLB has undertaken the solemn task of deciding who is a good dancer, who is only fair and setting the price per hour the girls should get for their graceful convolutions.

Right now wages range from a minimum of $1 an hour up to $10 for half an hour.

The Bureau of Labor statistics took the first step by submitting a job and wage analysis, just like it does for truck drivers or any other workers. It divided hula dancers into two classes: "Hula dancer, class A, female," and "hula dancer, class B, female."

The bureau described a hula dancer, class A, female, as:

"Usually a young but experienced worker who, through the medium of hula, attempts to portray portions of early history of the Hawaiian people. The worker performs barefooted and usually scantily attired."

"The most common apparel being the ti leaf dress or sarong encircling her shapely trunk with bare skin between the top of the gird and a band of six or more inches wide which sometimes restricts the short migrations of the voluptuous pulchritudinous projections appended to the upper forward side of the worker."

The duties, performed to soft music, call for the dancer to do rhythmic knee bends and other movements which "noticeably assist in the revolving" and swinging of the hips and adjacent parts.

The description added that originally there was much stress on hand movements, but not so much any more.

The hula dancer, class B female, was described as "fully trained, experienced and possessed with intense desire but due to accumulated torso bulges, stiffened joints and many Hawaiian moons, speed has greatly moderated and the worker uses less of footwork and rotary movement of the hips" but instead "puts much emphasis on the straightforward and backward pull and push motion."

CANNING FIRMS HOST TO CHERRY GROWERS FRIDAY

More than 200 persons, the largest crowd in its 11 years' history, attended the joint cherry-growers dinner given by the C. H. Musselman company and the Ottomanna Canning company last Friday evening at the Musselman company cafeteria at Biglerville.

Included in the group were orchardmen, their wives, children, company officials and guests. Cyrus G. Bucher, of Biglerville, was toastmaster. The dinner opened with a prayer by the Rev. A. W. Geigley, Fairfield.

Two growers received $50 war bonds as prizes for producing the highest percentage of U.S. number one grade cherries for the two canneries. John Hauser, president of the Musselman company, presented a bond to the Wilson brothers orchards operated by John and William Wilson, of Biglerville R. D. for the production of more than five tons of 98.5 per cent of number one cherries. The other award of a $50 bond was made by Howard Musselman, head of the Ottomanna canning company, to Clyde Andrews, of near Ottomanna, for delivering more than five tons of cherries with a grade of 93.4 per cent number ones.

Specialists Speak

The program opened with welcoming remarks by Mr. Hauser. A feature of the evening was the presentation of several numbers by a quartet of Arendtsville men with an average age of 70 years. They were George Boyer, Edward Rice, Reynolds Criswell and A. D. Sheely. They sang three groups of selections, both accompanied and unaccompanied.

Talks were given by John Ruef, of State College, secretary of the State Horticulture association, and R. S. Kirby and John O. Pepper, extension specialists from Pennsylvania State college.

In his talk on "Orchard Management Practices," Mr. Ruef told the growers that they must continue to maintain their high production levels. That is necessary not only for the present because of the war needs for the fruit, he said, but will be necessary also after the war in case of a price drop.

Urges Efficient Handling Should the price of cherries fall, he said, good orchard management will aid for the highest possible production per tree in order that growers may realize their greatest return under the circumstances.

He told the orchard men that one of the greatest needs in the orchards today, particularly for the older trees, is stepped-up fertilizer application. He also urged them to get rid of their old, low-producing trees and replace them with young good-producing stock.

Corsages for the Ladies

"Cherry Disease and Insect Control," was the topic discussed by Mr. Kirby and Mr. Pepper. They described the various sprays which should be applied to the orchards to check such things as petal fall, black aphid, shuck fall, leaf spot, the cherry marlot, the cherry saw fly, and also told how to apply the pre-harvest and after-harvest sprays.

Mr. Hauser announced that the government quota of the cherry crop for this year was 100 per cent of the average for 1943 and 1944. He called for continued production of quality cherries for the pack and also announced that there would be an unlimited supply of tin cans for the packing of the crop for the government.

Corsages were given to all the women attending the dinner. Favors were made by the office girls at the Musselman plant.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Mrs. Russell Grove, Gardners R. 2, and Mrs. Charles Slusser, Littlestown R. 2, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Edgar Riegle, Arendtsville; Catherine Sease, Thurmont R. 2; Ralph Stoner, Biglerville; Henry T. Harman, Littlestown, and Mrs. Blanche Sidelinger, Railroad street.

Countian Serves On China Coast

Chinese Combat Command, U. S. Army (By Mail)—T-3 Donald E. Myers, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Myers, of East Berlin, is serving with a signal detachment of the Chinese Combat Command in southwestern China.

The unit with which Myers is serving played an important role in assisting the Chinese Expeditionary Force in its Salween river campaign, which succeeded in driving the Japanese invaders from southwestern Yunnan Province, thereby permitting linking of the old Burma and new Lado roads, now the Suifu road.

Fought over some of the most rugged terrain in the world, including reaches of the 12,000-foot Kaohsiung mountains, modern communications were an essential factor in enabling the Chinese to emerge victorious in this phase of their drive to liberate their country.

Myers, who was graduated from the East Berlin high school in 1941, entered the army in January, 1943.

He was ordered overseas from Ft. McClellan, Ala., and arrived in India in August, 1943. Three months later he was flown across the Himalayan "Hump" to China.

Myers has two brothers in the service, Luther and Robert, both in the U. S. Navy, and a cousin, William Forsythe.

Bill Ridinger's Dribblers Unbeaten

The Columbia junior high school basketball team, coached by William Ridinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ridinger, Fourth street, has laid claim to the mythical Lancaster county junior high title this year.

Twenty-one straight victories were turned in by the undefeated Columbia jayvees who tallied a total of 799 points to their opponents' 389.

The junior high reserves also turned in a fine record with nine wins against but one defeat. The scrubs lost their final game of the season to Little 22-16.

Ridinger, who is director of physical education at Columbia high, several years compiled an enviable record as football coach for the local Red Raiders Boy Scout eleven. On Wednesday evening the Columbia boys will put on their second annual gym show under the direction of Coach Ridinger.

Flyer Convalescing; Meets Ex-Schoolmate

Mr. and Mrs. George Naugle, 113 East Middle street, received word Wednesday their son, Cpl. Richard B. Naugle, of the Air Force, has been transferred to a convalescent replacement center in England.

Cpl. Naugle was hospitalized in France after a plane crash on August 28, 1944, and later was transferred to a hospital in England. He submitted to an operation January 10 for a kidney injury.

While exercising by walking at his new station recently, Cpl. Naugle met Lt. Donald Drake, a former schoolmate. Lt. Drake is the first person Cpl. Naugle has met from Adams county since he arrived in England over a year ago.

Two Ex - Sailors Record Discharges

Two honorable discharges from the United States Navy were filed Wednesday at office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner by county service veterans.

Both service men were discharged from the same U. S. Navy Receiving barracks at the Lido Beach, Long Island, Naval Training Center. The first was Glenn William Arentz, of Gettysburg, who was discharged February 27. He enlisted in the navy April 3, 1944, at Harrisburg, and trained at the Bainbridge Naval Training center. He also served at Philadelphia before going to the post at Lido Beach. He had earned the rating of seaman second class.

A second discharge was for Jackson Sampson Scott, Littlestown, who served as an apprentice seaman. He enlisted January 5, this year, at Harrisburg. He was discharged February 28.

2 BIGLERVILLE SERVICE MEN MEET IN HAWAII

S. 2-c Kenneth E. Guise, whose wife and three children reside at Biglerville, and Sgt. Dale E. Wagner, son of Mrs. George W. Wagner, Biglerville, recently met in Hawaii according to a letter written by Seaman Guise to his wife. Both are members of Bender's Lutheran church of which the Rev. H. W. Sternat is pastor.

The letter follows:

"I sure did have some day yesterday, Sunday, February 11. We had liberty that day but Charlie and I were tired so we were just sitting around in the barracks in the morning. We went to noon chow, had chicken and it was pretty good. Came back to the barracks and I was writing a letter. Now here it is. Guess who walked in—yes, Dale Wagner and does he look good. He is the same old Dale.

"Dale was driving a small truck. He said he had to be back at his camp by two o'clock. So he wanted me to go along in order that we might talk over old times and I could see the country. In two minutes Charlie and I were in our whites and ready to go. Dale and I sat in the front and we put Charlie in the back of us on a board seat.

Pretty Scenery

"I tell you I never have seen such pretty country and mountains in my life. The Sky Line drive is no comparison to what we saw. We got up on top of the mountains and Dale said it was several thousand feet up. Then we started down and there is where we saw the sights down in the valley and right up against the bay. I never saw such a road. It went straight up and the curves were a lot worse than Greenstone.

"We finally reached Dale's camp where he has charge of the guns. He had to go for a load of guns and so he took us along. I never knew there were so many different kinds of guns. We loaded everything from a pistol up to a gun that it took all I could do to lift.

"After getting the guns back to the camp Dale took us up to look over the Jungle Training school where they teach the boys how to conduct jungle warfare. I am not allowed to tell you what I saw. But I tell you we sure got an eye-ful.

"After riding miles and miles back in the jungles and mountains we drove down to the ocean. There they were fishing, swimming and lying in the sun. It made a very beautiful sight. Then Dale took us up and showed us his private cabin. It was very nice.

See Fruit Groves

"Then we departed for our camp and Navy life. Dale came back by another route in order to show us the banana groves, pineapple fields and the sugar cane farms. Boy was that something to see! First we stopped and went into a banana grove. I looked all over the trees, but I couldn't find any ripe ones, although there were plenty of green ones. Then we went into the sugar cane area. Boy I saw thousands and thousands of acres of it. It grows around ten to fourteen feet high and is dark green. I saw three caterpillar tractors with big prongs on the front of them dig it out and put it on big piles. Then they take it to the factory where they press the juice out of it and boil it down for sugar.

"Next we came out on top of the hills and there we found thousands of acres of pineapples growing. That was a beautiful sight to look at. You could see them as far as your eye would carry. After this we drove through the cattle district. You should see the nice cattle they have down here. What do you think they use for a water trough? You can't buy them back there. It was a nice bath tub. Finally he brought us right to our front door. I never expected to have such a great trip and see such wonderful things.

"I want you to know Dale is a real athlete. They had a five and one-half mile race in the morning of this same day. There were thirty-two men in the race and Dale came in seventh. He ran the distance in thirty-two minutes and twenty seconds. You can tell those young farmers back there that if they can beat that, our hats will be off to them when we get back."

Sgt. Wagner is an instructor in the Jungle Training school. He has been overseas almost three years, and Seaman Guise is the first person he has seen overseas that he knew.

In the race mentioned in the letter, Sgt. Wagner received a medal which was presented by a coed from the University of Hawaii. Approximately 5,000 persons witnessed the race.

BROTHER, SISTER MEET

Lt. Gladys F. Rose and Cpl. Albert Rose, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rose, Gardners R. D., met recently in England according to a letter received by their parents, Cpl. Rose, who had been stationed in France, received a furlough during which he visited his sister who is an Army nurse at a hospital in England.

HUSBAND IN FRANCE

Mrs. Raymond Flickinger, Gettysburg R. 2, has received word her husband has arrived safely in France.

Army Chaplain Is Now Nazi Prisoner

Mrs. Catherine Stonesifer, Hagerstown, has received a telegram from the War department to the effect that her husband, First Lieutenant Donald Stonesifer, an Army chaplain, who was reported missing on December 16, the day the Germans launched their counteroffensive, is now a prisoner of war of the German government.

Lt. Stonesifer, former pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, Smithsburg, has been in the army a year and overseas since last fall. His wife, the former Catherine Auxt, resides in Hagerstown with their two small children.

Lt. Stonesifer graduated from Gettysburg college in 1936 and from the Lutheran Theological seminary in 1939.

MRS. BUEHLER IS DAR SPEAKER

Mrs. Guyon Buehler presented a talk on "One Woman's Experience of the Battle of Gettysburg," at the regular monthly meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street.

Mrs. Buehler's talk was taken from the writings of the late Mrs. Fannie J. Buehler, whose husband was postmaster in Gettysburg at the time of the battle. During and following the battle, Mrs. Buehler took part in the caring for and feeding of the hungry and wounded soldiers at her home on Baltimore street. The Buehler home was the site of the present Deatrick brothers' funeral parlors.

During the business session, the chapter voted to take out a $5 group membership in the Adams County Free Library association. Reporting for the ways and means committee, Mrs. Wayne Keet announced that $10 had been added to the Washington birthday fund, bringing it to a total of $85 at present.

The regent, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby, presided at the meeting. Hostesses included Mrs. Keet, Mrs. Harold Reuning, Mrs. Richard Bragdon, and Mrs. P. J. McGlynn and Mrs. John Hauser, of Biglerville. The next meeting will be held April 6 at the home of Mrs. J. D. Lippy, Chambersburg street.

Miss Horner Coaches Unbeaten Court Team

Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner and Mrs. Horner, Gettysburg R. 1, have received word that their daughter, Miss Lucille Horner, has coached the girls' basketball team at Warwick high school, to an undefeated season.

Miss Horner teaches physical education, Latin and English at the school and this was her second undefeated girls' basketball season in the three years she has been coaching there. The record this year of nine straight wins earned for the Warwick girls the championship cup for the Chester and Berks bi-county league.

Miss Horner is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and Gettysburg college.

Albert T. Koontz Back From Overseas

His ship is one of five which took part in the action at Tunisia and the blazing invasions of Sicily, Salerno and Southern France. The landing craft are now being overhauled at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, before assignment to other theaters of operation.

Sgt. Samuel Weaver Awarded Air Medal

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England, (By Mail)—Staff Sergeant Samuel B. Weaver, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galt Weaver, Route 1, Gettysburg, Pa., has been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievements" during Eighth Air Force bombing attacks on German military and industrial installations.

The B-17 Flying Fortress aerial gunner is a member of the 493rd Bomb. Group, commanded by Colonel Robert B. Landry, of New Orleans, La. The group is a unit of the Third Air Division, the division cited by the President for its historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt plants at Regensburg, Germany.

Sgt. Weaver, a 1944 graduate of the Gettysburg high school, entered the AAF in October, 1943. He was trained in aerial gunnery at Harlingen, Texas, where he received his wings in July, 1944.

MEET IN HOLLAND

T-Sgt. Ivan Kitzmiller and Sgt. Clarence Kitzmiller, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. Blaine Kitzmiller, West Middle street, recently met somewhere in Holland according to a letter received by their parents. This was their first meeting in two and one-half years.

URGE AWARDING OF MEDALS TO SCHOOL PUPILS

Gettysburg will continue to be the site of the next four county council meetings of this district of the American Legion Auxiliary. It was announced after the closing session of council meeting last Thursday at St. James Lutheran church.

During the afternoon meeting, Mrs. Ellis Hausknecht, of Hughesville, department Americanism chairman, spoke on the subject of "Americanism." She urged all of the auxiliaries to have a special program on "I Am An American" Day May 21. She also urged that all of the auxiliaries award the Americanism medal in the public schools. While it was given formerly, such an award has not been made in the local schools for several years.

A review

RED CROSS FUND TOTALS SEVENTH OF $28,000 GOAL

A total of $4,413.62 was reported collected by Thursday as the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross began its eighth day of the 1945 War Fund drive to raise $28,000.

Thus, the county workers had reported only about one-seventh of the quota as the drive entered its second week. Campaign officials said, however, that only a few reports have been made by district solicitors. There have been no full reports by any of the campaign canvassers in Gettysburg and there have been only one or two complete reports turned in from small outlying districts.

The officials asked that reports be turned in as soon as possible so that the drive may be ended by March 15 in compliance with requests from national headquarters. The slogan for the campaign this year is "Give now—give more" and a local slogan adopted many places is "Get It Over."

List New Donors

Leading the contributions Thursday was on of $52 from the employees of the Victor Products Corporation. Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Wickerham donated $50, while two $25 contributions also were received. They included gifts from Abe Harris and the United Telephone company of Pennsylvania.

Donations of $15 were given by Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Bullett, Fred Faber and an anonymous contributor. Homer N. Young and Mrs. Augusta Merrow and daughters gave $10 each.

Five dollar contributions were listed from the following persons: Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Dorsey Dougherty, Miss Betty Diehl, Miss Martha C. Dickson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mehring, George M. Zerling, Miss Sara E. Mehring, Miss Thelma Warman, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Meals, Jack Cessna's Sunday school class at the Methodist church, Mrs. E. Blanche Minter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Fidler, the Gettysburg News Agency, the Utz and Hoffman barber shop, the Schwartz Implement shop, Miss Gertrude Little, Miss N. Louise Ramer, Mrs. Anna B. Heintzelman, Miss Ruth A. Spangler, Samuel D. and Harry J. Rhine, and an anonymous giver.

RED CROSS WILL RECRUIT NURSES

Mrs. E. S. Lewars, chairman of the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross, announced Thursday the appointment of Mrs. R. W. Gifford as recruitment nurse for the county chapter.

Any nurses interested in joining the Army or Navy Nurse Corps or who wish information on their eligibility for the armed forces are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Gifford.

The American Red Cross has certified 9,641 registered nurses to the military for appointment during the period between January 8 and February 24, National Chairman Basil O'Connor has announced.

With the 9,641 referrals now at hand in the military, still fewer nurses will actually be given military appointments, O'Connor pointed out, because they may fail to pass the Army or Navy physical examination, or may not be available to the military immediately.

Voluntary response in the seven weeks since the President's appeal for nurses for the armed forces brought 13,700 applications to Red Cross recruitment committees, O'Connor said.

The total number of applications has diminished weekly, until a figure of 885 was reached the week ending February 24. Of the original group of applications, one-third still are being studied and evaluated because the nurses are not yet registered or are "problem cases."

Local WAC Donates Blood In France

Hq. U. S. Air Service Command in France—Pfc. Ruth N. Kitzmiller, of Gettysburg, is one of the hundreds of Air Service Command WACs in France donating her blood to help GI's battling on the front lines a short distance away.

Pfc. Kitzmiller has followed U. S. combat planes through two countries, with the job of helping to keep thousands of them in the air.

When the urgent need for blood was announced, the steps and hallways of the hospital were soon crowded with officers and enlisted men, signalmen, mechanics, drivers, clerks, WACs, MP's—Americans, 6,000 miles from home, who still felt that they weren't doing enough.

Before nightfall, the hard-pressed Medics had planes loaded with 1,000 pints of whole blood for immediate transfusions.

Pfc. Kitzmiller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kitzmiller, of 300 West Middle street.

WIN CLASS B GAMES

Wounded

Pfc. Kenneth H. Darone, son of Mrs. Sadie Darone, East Berlin, who has been for the past month at the Oliver General hospital, in Georgia, under treatment for severe wounds received during the fighting on Leyte island, November 11, arrived during the week to spend some time at his mother's home.

Pfc. Darone was hospitalized overseas for two months due to a badly wounded foot and severe abdominal injuries. This is the first time he has visited his home since his induction in January, 1942. During his two years of service he fought in many critical battles in the south Pacific area.

He is a grandson of Mrs. Sadie Raffensperger, Arendtsville.

MEDICAL GROUP HEARS STEINER

Ten members and two guests attended the March meeting of the Adams County Medical society held Tuesday evening at the Nurses' home at the Warner hospital. Dr. Raymond Hale, vice president, presided in the absence of Dr. William Flickinger, president.

Harold Steiner, a member of the staff at the state experimental branch station of Penn State college at Arendtsville, spoke on "Commercial Spraying Research in Adams County as Related to the Medical Profession." He told of the effects of ingredients used in spraying in respect to skin burns, respiratory and stomach ailments.

The society was informed by the Pima County Medical association of Arizona that Dr. Raymond Oyler, formerly of Biglerville and a member of the Adams county society, has been accepted as a transfer member of that society.

Dr. C. Harold Johnson reported that the local society already strictly adheres to points advocated in a bill proposed by State Senator John J. Haluska which would require careful pre-operative physical checkups on all surgery patients, except in emergencies. Under the bill surgeons would be subject to a heavy fine in case of negligence in careful pre-operative checkups.

The society was informed by the Pima County Medical association of Arizona that Dr. Raymond Oyler, formerly of Biglerville and a member of the Adams county society, has been accepted as a transfer member of that society.

RODGERS FREED WITHOUT FINE

Aaron Albert Rodgers, alias Pete Rodgers, of near Hampton, was released from the county jail Thursday after serving a three-month term for selling malt beverages without a license.

He was sentenced to the prison term and also fined $200 and costs of the case last November 25 in the county court, but was released from the jail today without payment of the fine. Rodgers presented a petition to the court asking that he be freed without having to pay the fine because he was without funds.

The court certified the petition to the county commissioners who were given the authority to order the release of Rodgers if they were satisfied that he was without funds or property to pay the fine. The court also ordered that if such was the case, Rodgers was to be released without requiring compliance under the insolvency laws.

The commissioners acted on the petition at their regular weekly meeting Wednesday and ordered Rodgers' release. John P. Butt, Esq., presented Rodgers' petition to the court.

Mrs. Griest Named As Vice President

Mrs. Frederic E. Griest, Flora Dale, has been appointed vice chairman of the women's division of the Adams County War Finance committee. It was announced Thursday by Mrs. R. W. Gifford, who on Wednesday was named the new women's division chairman by Edmund W. Thomas, county war finance committee chairman.

Mrs. Griest, who succeeds Mrs. G. W. Lefever, will assist Mrs. Gifford in directing the activities of the women's division of the county war bond committee during the forthcoming Seventh War loan campaign which will open in May.

NOW IN BELGIUM

Mrs. Carl Taylor, Bendersville, has received word her husband, Pvt. C. O. Taylor, is now in Belgium.

ALLISON TRACES PARK, CEMETERY ESTABLISHMENT

A history of the Gettysburg National Park and the Gettysburg National Military cemetery was presented in a talk by William H. Allison, National cemetery superintendent, to the monthly meeting of the Adams County Historical society Tuesday night at the court house.

Dr. Henry Stewart, association president, presided at the session. Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh acted as secretary in the absence of Dr. Frank Clutz. Three presentations were made to the association. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street, presented the group with 13 photographs taken during the 1880's by his father, Levi Mumper. The pictures show construction of the Western Maryland railroad through Jack's mountain west of Fairfield.

The second gift was a book, "Little Pilgrim to Penn's Woods," written by Edna Albert, an Adams county resident. The author resides near Gettysburg and laid her story in the northern part of the county. The book was presented by Joseph Arnold, of Dormont. F. K. Swartz, Carlisle street, presented the society with a copy of the original published edition of the digre used at the dedication of the National cemetery.

In his talk, Mr. Allison described the origin and growth first of the cemetery association, and then of the old Battlefield association. The move to construct the cemetery began a few days after the battle when the governor visited the field and found an estimated 10,000 dead and 21,000 wounded men of both armies.

Vets of Four Wars

In his talks with David Wills prominent local attorney, it was decided that Mr. Wills would act as agent for the state in the care of the wounded and the burying of the dead. The first move in the organization of a cemetery was the purchase of eight acres of land along the Baltimore pike, and eventually five tracts containing 17 acres in all, were acquired.

Thirty-four bids ranging from $1.59 to $8 were received from contractors for the disinterment of bodies from the many crude graves on the field. Work began on the transfer of the dead on October 26, 1863, and a total of 3,512 bodies were removed from the trenches and other temporary burial places until the work was completed in the spring of 1864.

Mr. Allison said that there now is a total of 3,841 persons buried in the National cemetery. That includes the dead of the Civil, Spanish-American and World Wars I and II as well as 26 wives of veterans. All of the Civil War dead in the semi-circle arrangements have been buried with their heads toward the center of the circle.

Traces Park History

Describing the battlefield park, Mr. Allison told how it was begun in 1864 when the Battlefield Memorial association was incorporated by the state. Several state appropriations for the purchase of battlefield land aided the organization in its purpose and then in 1895 Congress passed an act transferring the holdings of the Memorial association to the government.

It was after 1895 that the hard-surfaced roads were constructed on the field, he stated. The government erected the steel observation towers at five spots on the battleground in 1896. In 1898 West Confederate avenue was constructed and in 1900 East Confederate avenue was built.

Other high spots in the field's history included the 50th Anniversary Reunion of the Battle of Gettysburg in 1913 when 55,000 veterans of both armies camped here and the establishment of Camp Colt, a tank training center, in 1917 on the ground over which Pickett's charge was made.

Dr. Stewart announced that the name of Homer Young had been omitted as a member of the county history committee when committee appointments were made at the February meeting.

Observes 25 Years As Church Pastor

The twenty-fifth anniversary of the Rev. Ernest L. Pee as pastor of the First Lutheran church, Phillipsburg, will be celebrated at special services next Sunday morning and evening.

The Rev. Mr. Pee is a graduate of Gettysburg college and the Lutheran theological seminary. His wife is the former Miss Ida Feiser, of New Oxford. Their daughter, Madolyn, is now a freshman at Gettysburg college.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Samuel Thomas, Gettysburg R. 1, was fined $5 and costs by Robert P. Snyder, justice of the peace, at a hearing Thursday afternoon on a charge of disorderly conduct. Borough Officers Clark Staley and Charles Culp made the arrest Wednesday night.

CADET NURSE CAPPED

Miss Elizabeth Small, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Small, Baltimore street, was capped as a cadet nurse at Temple university hospital, Philadelphia, last Sunday following her nurse's probation period of six months. She was one of a class of 20 to receive caps. Her parents attended the exercises.

WLB Discovers And Defines 'Hula Girl'

Honolulu, (AP) — The barefooted girls who swish through the romantic hula dance, overlooked up to now in the government's wage fixing program, have at last caught the eye of the War Labor Board.

The WLB has undertaken the solemn task of deciding who is a good dancer, who is only fair and setting the price per hour the girls should get for their graceful convolutions.

Right now wages range from a minimum of $1 a hour up to $10 for half an hour.

The Bureau of Labor statistics took the first step by submitting a job and wage analysis, just like it does for truck drivers or any other workers. It divided hula dancers into two classes: "Hula dancer, class A, female," and "hula dancer, class B, female."

The bureau described a hula dancer, class A, female, as:

CANNING FIRMS HOST TO CHERRY GROWERS FRIDAY

More than 200 persons, the largest crowd in its 11 years' history, attended the joint cherry-growers dinner given by the C. H. Musselman company and the Ortanna Canning company last Friday evening at the Musselman company cafeteria at Biglerville.

Included in the group were orchardmen, their wives, children, company officials and guests. Cyrus G. Bucher, of Biglerville, was toastmaster. The dinner opened with a prayer by the Rev. A. W. Geigley, Fairfield.

Two growers received $50 war bonds as prizes for producing the highest percentage of U. S. number one grade cherries for the two canneries. John Hauser, president of the Musselman company, presented a bond to the Wilson brothers orchards operated by John and William Wilson, of Biglerville R. D. for the production of more than five tons of 98.5 per cent of number one cherries. The other award of a $50 bond was made by Howard Musselman, head of the Ortanna canning company, to Clyde Andrews, of near Ortanna, for delivering more than five tons of cherries with a grade of 93.4 per cent number ones.

Specialists Speak

The program opened with welcoming remarks by Mr. Hauser. A feature of the evening was the presentation of several numbers by a quartet of Arendtsville men with an average age of 70 years. They were George Boyer, Edward Rice, Reynolds Criswell and A. D. Sheely. They sang three groups of selections, both accompanied and unaccompanied.

Talks were given by John Ruef, of State College, secretary of the State Horticulture association, and R. S. Kirby and John O. Pepper, extension specialists from Pennsylvania State college.

In his talk on "Orchard Management Practices," Mr. Ruef told the growers that they must continue to maintain their high production levels. That is necessary not only for the present because of the war needs for the fruit, he said, but will be necessary also after the war in case of a price drop.

Urges Efficient Handling

Should the price of cherries fall, he said, good orchard management will call for the highest possible production per tree in order that growers may realize their greatest return under the circumstances.

He told the orchard men that one of the greatest needs in the orchards today, particularly for the older trees, is stepped-up fertilizer application. He also urged them to get rid of their old, low-producing trees and replace them with young good-producing stock.

Corsages for the Ladies

"Cherry Disease and Insect Control," was the topic discussed by Mr. Kirby and Mr. Pepper. They described the various sprays which should be applied to the orchards to check such things as petal fall, black aphid, shuck fall, leaf spot, the cherry maggot, the cherry saw fly, and also told how to apply the pre-harvest and after-harvest sprays.

Mr. Hauser announced that the government quota of the cherry crop for this year was 100 per cent of the average for 1943 and 1944. He called for continued production of quality cherries for the pack and also announced that there would be an unlimited supply of tin cans for the packing of the crop for the government.

Corsages were given to all the women attending the dinner. Favors were made by the office girls at the Musselman plant.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Mrs. Russell Grove, Gardners R. 2, and Mrs. Charles Shusser, Littlestown R. 2, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Edgar Reize, Arendtsville; Catherine Seale, Thurmont R. 2; Ralph Stoner, Biglerville; Henry T. Harman, Littlestown, and Mrs. Blanche Sidelinger, Railroad street.

"The most common apparel being the ti leaf dress or sarong encircling her shapely trunk with bare skin between the top of the garb and a band of six or more inches wide which sometimes restricts the short migrations of the voluptuous phylitridinous projections appended to the upper forward side of the worker."

The duties, performed to soft music, call for the dancer to do rhythmic knee bends and other movements which "noticeably assist in the revolving" and swinging of the hips and adjacent parts.

The description added that originally there was much stress on hand movements, but not so much any more.

The hula dancer, class B female, was described as "fully trained, experienced and possessed with intense desire but due to accumulated torso bulges, stiffened joints and many Hawaiian moans, speed has greatly moderated and the worker uses less of footwork and rotary movement of the hips" but instead "puts much emphasis on the straightforward and backward pull and push motion."

Countian Serves On China Coast

Chinese Combat Command, U. S. Army (By Mail)—T-5 Donald E. Myers, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira H. Myers, of East Berlin, is serving with a signal detachment of the Chinese Combat Command in southwestern China.

The unit with which Myers is serving played an important role in assisting the Chinese Expeditionary Force in its Salween river campaign, which succeeded in driving the Japanese invaders from southwestern Yunnan Province, thereby permitting linking of the old Burma and new Leda roads, now the Stilwell road.

Fought over some of the most rugged terrain in the world, including reaches of the 12,000-foot Kaoliung mountains, modern communications were an essential factor in enabling the Chinese to emerge victorious in this phase of their drive to liberate their country.

Myers, who was graduated from the East Berlin high school in 1941, entered the army in January, 1943. He was ordered overseas from Ft. McClellan, Ala., and arrived in India in August, 1943. Three months later he was down across the Himalayan "hump" to China.

Myers has two brothers in the service, Luther and Robert, both in the U. S. Navy, and a cousin, William Forsythe.

Bill Ridinger's Dribblers Unbeaten

The Columbia junior high school basketball team, coached by William Ridinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ridinger, Fourth street, has laid claim to the mythical Lancaster county junior high title this year.

Twenty-one straight victories were turned in by the undefeated Columbia jayvees who tallied a total of 799 points to their opponents' 389.

The junior high reserves also turned in a fine record with nine wins against but one defeat. The scrubs lost their final game of the season to Littitz 22-16.

Ridinger, who is director of physical education at Columbia high, several years compiled an enviable record as football coach for the local Red Raiders Boy Scout eleven. On Wednesday evening the Columbia boys will put on their second annual gym show under the direction of Coach Ridinger.

Flyer Convalescing; Meets Ex-Schoolmate

Mr. and Mrs. George Naugle, 113 East Middle street, received word Wednesday their son, Cpl. Richard B. Naugle, of the Air Forces, has been transferred to a convalescent replacement center in England.

Cpl. Naugle was hospitalized in France after a plane crash on August 28, 1944, and later was transferred to a hospital in England. He submitted to an operation January 10 for a kidney injury.

While exercising by walking at his new station recently, Cpl. Naugle met Lt. Donald Drake, a former schoolmate. Lt. Drake is the first person Cpl. Naugle has met from Adams county since he arrived in England over a year ago.

Two Ex - Sailors Record Discharges

Two honorable discharges from the United States Navy were filed Wednesday at office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner by county service veterans.

Both service men were discharged from the same U. S. Navy Receiving barracks at the Lido Beach, Long Island, Naval Training Center. The first was Glenn William Arentz, of Gettysburg, who was discharged February 27. He enlisted in the navy April 3, 1944, at Harrisburg, and trained at the Bainbridge Naval Training center. He also served at Philadelphia before going to the post at Lido Beach. He had earned the rating of seaman second class.

A second discharge was for Jackson Sampson Scott, Littlestown, who served as an apprentice seaman. He enlisted January 5, this year, at Harrisburg. He was discharged February 28.

2 BIGLERVILLE SERVICE MEN MEET IN HAWAII

S. 2-c Kenneth E. Guise, whose wife and three children reside at Biglerville, and Sgt. Dale E. Wagner, son of Mrs. George W. Wagner, Biglerville, recently met in Hawaii according to a letter written by Seaman Guise to his wife. Both are members of Bender's Lutheran church of which the Rev. H. W. Sternat is pastor.

The letter follows:

"I sure did have some day yesterday, Sunday, February 11. We had liberty that day but Charlie and I were tired so we were just sitting around in the barracks in the morning. We went to noon chow, had chicken and it was pretty good. Came back to the barracks and I was writing a letter. Now here it is. Guess you walked in—yes, Dale Wagner and does he look good. He is the same old Dale.

"Dale was driving a small truck. He said he had to be back at his camp by two o'clock. So he wanted me to go along in order that we might talk over old times and I could see the country. In two minutes Charlie and I were in our whites and ready to go. Dale and I sat in the front and we put Charlie in the back of us on a board seat.

"Pretty Scenery

"I tell you I never have seen such pretty country and mountains in my life. The Sky Line drive is no comparison to what we saw. We got up on top of the mountains and Dale said it was several thousand feet up. Then we started down and there is where we saw the sights down in the valley and right up against the bay. I never saw such a road. It went straight up and the curves were a lot worse than Greenstone.

"We finally reached Dale's camp where he has charge of the guns. He had to go for a load of guns and so he took us along. I never knew there were so many different kinds of guns. We loaded everything from a pistol up to a gun that it took all I could do to lift.

"After getting the guns back to the camp Dale took us up to look over the Jungle Training school where they teach the boys how to conduct jungle warfare. I am not allowed to tell you what I saw. But I tell you we sure got an eye-full.

"After riding miles and miles back in the jungles and mountains we drove down to the ocean. There they were fishing, swimming and lying in the sun. It made a very beautiful sight. Then Dale took us up and showed us his private cabin. It was very nice.

See Fruit Groves

"Then we departed for our camp and Navy life. Dale came back by another route in order to show us the banana groves, pineapple fields and the sugar cane farms. Boy was that something to see! First we stopped and went into a banana grove. I looked all over the trees, but I couldn't find any ripe ones, although there were plenty of green ones. Then we went into the sugar cane area. Boy I saw thousands and thousands of acres of it. It grows around ten to fourteen feet high and is dark green. I saw three caterpillar tractors with big prongs on the front of them dig it out and put it on big piles. They take it to the factory where they press the juice out of it and boil it down for sugar.

"Next we came out on top of the hills and there we found thousands of acres of pineapples growing. That was a beautiful sight to look at. You could see them as far as your eye could carry. After this we drove through the cattle district. You should see the nice cattle they have down here. What do you think they use for a water trough? You can't buy them back there. It was a nice bath tub. Finally he brought us right to our front door. I never expected to have such a great trip and see such wonderful things.

"I want you to know Dale is a real athlete. They had a five and one-half mile race in the morning of this same day. There were thirty-two men in the race and Dale came in seventh. He ran the distance in thirty-two minutes and twenty seconds. You can tell those young farmers back there that if they can beat that, our hats will be off to them when we get back."

Sgt. Wagner is an instructor in the Jungle Training school. He has been overseas almost three years and Seaman Guise is the first person he has seen overseas that he knew.

In the race mentioned in the letter, Sgt. Wagner received a medal which was presented by a coed from the University of Hawaii. Approximately 5,000 persons witnessed the race.

BROTHER, SISTER MEET

Lt. Gladys F. Rose and Cpl. Albert Rose, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rose, Gardners R. D., met recently in England according to a letter received by their parents. Cpl. Rose, who had been stationed in France, received a furlough during which he visited his sister who is an Army nurse at a hospital in England.

HUSBAND IN FRANCE

Mrs. Raymond Flickinger, Gettysburg R. 2, has received word her husband has arrived safely in France.

Army Chaplain Is Now Nazi Prisoner

Mrs. Catherine Stonesifer, Hagerstown, has received a telegram from the War department to the effect that her husband, First Lieutenant Donald Stonesifer, an Army chaplain, who was reported missing on December 16, the day the Germans launched their counteroffensive, is now a prisoner of war of the German government.

Lt. Stonesifer, former pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, Smithsburg, has been in the army a year and overseas since last fall. His wife, the former Catherine Aust, resides in Hagerstown with their two small children.

Lt. Stonesifer graduated from Gettysburg college in 1936 and from the Lutheran theological seminary in 1939.

MRS. BUEHLER IS DAR SPEAKER

Mrs. Guyon Buehler presented a talk on "One Woman's Experience of the Battle of Gettysburg," at the regular monthly meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John A. Mumper, Baltimore street.

Mrs. Buehler's talk was taken from the writings of the late Mrs. Fannie J. Buehler, whose husband was postmaster in Gettysburg at the time of the battle. During and following the battle, Mrs. Buehler took part in the caring for and feeding of the hungry and wounded soldiers at her home on Baltimore street. The Buehler home was the site of the present Deatrick brothers' funeral parlors.

During the business session, the chapter voted to take out a $5 group membership in the Adams County Free Library association. Reporting for the ways and means committee, Mrs. Wayne Keet announced that $10 had been added to the Washington birthday fund, bringing it to a total of $85 at present.

The regent, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby, presided at the meeting. Hostesses included Mrs. Keet, Mrs. Harold Reuning, Mrs. Richard Bragdon, and Mrs. P. J. McGlynn and Mrs. John Hauser, of Biglerville. The next meeting will be held April 6 at the home of Mrs. J. D. Lipsey, Chambersburg street.

Miss Horner Coaches Unbeaten Court Team

Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner and Mrs. Horner, Gettysburg R. 1, have received word that their daughter, Miss Lucille Horner, has coached the girls' basketball team at Warwick high school, to an undefeated season.

Miss Horner teaches physical education, Latin and English at the school and this was her second undefeated girls' basketball season in the three years she has been coaching there. The record this year of nine straight wins earned for the Warwick girls the championship cup for the Chester and Berks bi-county league.

Miss Horner is a graduate of Gettysburg high school and Gettysburg college.

Albert T. Koontz Back From Overseas

Albert T. Koontz, electrician's mate, second class, 80 Steinwehr avenue, who is a crewman of one of the Navy's sturdy little LCI vessels which carry invasion troops over miles of ocean and right up to a beachhead, has returned to this county.

His ship is one of five which took part in the action at Tunisia and the blazing invasions of Sicily, Salerno and Southern France. The landing craft are now being overhauled at the Navy Yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire, before assignment to other theaters of operation.

Sgt. Samuel Weaver Awarded Air Medal

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England, (By Mail)—Staff Sergeant Samuel B. Weaver, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Galt Weaver, Route 1, Gettysburg, Pa., has been awarded the Air Medal for "
